LINDBERGH HITS AIR TRAIL AGAIN AFTER TROUBLE

MISHAP HOLDS THEM ON BAY FOR AN HOUR

Favorable Weather Report Makes Eight-Hour Hop Appear Probable.

Tokyo (Wednesday), Aug. 19 (A.P.). Forced down by motor trouble at Avatchu Bay soon after their take-off from Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, for Nemuro, Japan, Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh took the air again at 10:45 a. m. today, Tokyo time (8:45 p. m., Tuesday, E. S. T.), a message to the communications department here said.

A message from Mrs. Lindbergh to the Ochiishi Radio Station said the Lindberghs' monoplane at 2 p. m. today, Tokyo time (midnight Tuesday, E. S. T.), was passing over Shankotan Island, about midway between Petropavlovsk and Nemuro.

The Lindberghs left Petropavlovsk, Kamchatka, at 8:45 a. m. (6:45 p. m., Tuesday, E. S. T.), but had flown only a few miles toward their destination, when they were forced to descend upon Avatchu Bay. The trouble, the nature of which could not be immediately learned, apparently was not of a serious nature, for they were on their way again within an hour.

The 897-mile flight down the southeastern coast of the Kamchatka Peninsula and along the Kurile Island chain to Nemuro, on the northeastern tip of Hokkaido Island, was expected here to require about eight hours.

Landing at 4:45 A. M., E. S. T.

On this basis the flying couple should bring their big black monoplane down for the first time upon Japanese waters at about 6:45 p. m. (4:45 a. m., E. S. T.).

However, it was learned today that Col. Lindbergh last night wirelessed the American Embassy here stating he might not be able to reach Nemuro today and requesting the embassy to ask the Japan Aviation Bureau for an emergency landing permit somewhere in the Kuriles. The application was granted.

In the event headwinds or otherwise unfavorable weather would make it impracticable for the Lindberghs to continue to Nemuro today, they have several harbors to choose from along the Kuriles. These include Shimushiru, Paramushir, Muroton Bay and several others.

Was Army Flight Base.

Weather reports along the route, as gathered by the Ochiissi station indicated conditions were favorable for the flight, particularly the northern stretch.

Paramushir Island, in the northern part of Kuriles, reported a slight northeast wind. A two-meter (about 5 miles an hour) wind blew along the eastern coast of Kamchatka, between Petropavlovsk and the Kuriles. The sky was cloudy, but there apparently was no fog.

From elsewhere along the Lindbergh route last night came reports of starry skies, moderate breezes and promise of good visibility for the aviators.

Nemuro Rehearses Greeting.

The army of newspapermen and photographers here whiled away the time, while natives put the finishing touches on decorations of their new town hall and rehearsed their roles for the formal welcome.

The Lindberghs are coming to Japan for a vacation and may fly on around the world, if they find conditions satisfactory. Col. Lindbergh has said as much, but declined to fix his itinerary beyond Tokyo, to which city he and Mrs. Lindbergh will fly after stopping here, probably overnight.

Labor Will Ask Quiz On Hoover Dam Wages

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 18 (U.P.). A request for an investigation of working conditions at the Hoover dam project near Las Vegas, Nev., will be sent to the Department of Labor, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said tonight.

A telegram from the Central Trades Union at Las Vegas was received today by the executive council of the federation, charging that Six Companies, Inc., was forcing laborers to accept wages of $1 a day less than the standard rate.

Ship's Officer Suicide With Passenger's Gun

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Joseph Apud, 28, assistant purser of the liner Southern Cross, was found dead in his cabin early Monday with a bullet wound in his temple and a pistol in his right hand, officers of the ship reported today when the liner docked in Brooklyn.

Authorities said a note left by Apud indicated he had been despondent over a love affair and that he had committed suicide to wound the girl Ship's officers said Apud had slipped into the room of a passenger and obtained a pistol belonging to William H. Murray, son of the Governor of Oklahoma, with whom he had become friendly on the voyage here from Rio de Janeiro.

Farm Board's Wheat Urged to Feed Needy

SAMUEL R. M'KELVIE.

Lincoln, Nebr., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The huge surplus of Government-owned wheat would be made available for food relief under a plan suggested today by Samuel R. McKelvie, former wheat representative on the Federal Farm Board.

The plan, Mr. McKelvie said, would effect economy in relief expenditures and at the same time help dispose of the 200,000,000-bushel surplus.

"I have insisted all along," he said, "that for the good of all parties, most of all the farmer, the sooner stabilization supplies of wheat are disposed of, the better. The opportunity is at hand."

Congress must authorize disposal of the wheat in this manner and Mr. McKelvie believes the Farm Board should be reimbursed for the amount involved.

This, he said, can be done after Congress convenes in December, as the corporation can deliver wheat on short notice to any community in the country.

Mr. McKelvie tonight awaited the country's reaction to his suggestion and said if it is favorable he will immediately present his plan to President Hoover.

Meanwhile Gov. Warren Green of South Dakota announced he was informed by George S. Milnor, president of the stabilization corporation, that grain which it held in county elevators in Montana and western North and South Dakota would be

ACCORD ON ECONOMY REACHED BY BRITISH

Plans to Overcome Crisis Will Be Given Cabinet at Session Today.

London, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The economy subcommittee of the cabinet this evening arrived at general agreement on plans to overcome Great Britain's financial crisis.

What these plans were remained undivulged, but they are to be presented at a general cabinet meeting tomorrow; and, if approved—which seems a foregone conclusion—it is considered probable that a special session of Parliament will be summoned in September to pass the legislation made necessary by them.

The subcommittee's program aims at cutting £100,000,000 (about $500,000,000) from the budget.

The final session of the subcommittee, composed of the cabinet "big five" and headed by Prime Minister MacDonald, lasted all day, with only a brief interval for lunch. No announcement was issued tonight, but it was understood definite proposals had been drawn up and awaited the sanction of the full cabinet.

It had been expected Mr. MacDonald and his colleagues would have to work far into the night to finish their task, but progress was so rapid that they got out in time for dinner.

At the full cabinet meeting Mr. MacDonald and Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, will explain the economy proposals and the reasons for them and will outline additional taxation which is to be spread equally over all sections of the nation.

The government's plans will be communicated to leaders of the opposition parties Thursday, when the Conservative and Liberal chiefs are expected to be invited to the prime minister's residence for a conference.

On Thursday morning the government will meet with the consultative committee of the Parliamentary Labor party and in the afternoon Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, the minister who is strongest with labor, will explain the economy proposal to the Trades Union Council. In political circles Thursday is regarded as the vital day of this week of budget struggles.

While the utmost secrecy has been maintained regarding the government's plans, Mr. MacDonald hopes, it is understood, to make them pub-

ANOTHER HIGH REBEL IS SEIZED BY CUBANS

Dr. Aurelio Hevia and Three Companions Held; Ship Lands Guns in East.

Havana, Cuba, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—The capture of Dr. Aurelio Hevia, prominent Nationalist (opposition) party leader and reported successor to Gen. Mario G. Menocal as revolutionary leader, was announced today by the government.

Dr. Hevia and three other rebels were seized at Colon, near Cienfuegos, where they had been hiding in a drug store. They will be held in Cabana Fortress with other rebel leaders awaiting decision by President Machado. The other prisoners were Dr. Hevia's son, a man named Iturralde, brother of former Secretary of State Rafael Iturralde, and a Dr. Figueroa.

Havana, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Havana this evening believed—with apparent reason—that a decisive battle looms in Cuba's eastern province.

A revolutionary expedition landed at Gibara, in upper Oriente Province, last night, it was reported here. The ship was said to be the Frederick II, of German registry, with 500 men and scores of machine guns aboard.

The government, admitting unofficially that the boat landed, believed it had the expeditionaries bottled up.

Two hundred soldiers sent from Havana were joined in Santa Clara by 400 men stationed there, and kept on eastward. Another report said more expeditionaries landed on the upper Santa Clara coast. Rebels were said to have ditched the Formento-Trinidad train south of Santa Clara.

In Havana airtight censorship, both on Intra and Extra Island, communication remained. Army officers were stationed over all press wires and in all newspaper offices. Cables were sent to army headquarters for revisions. Newspapers had to have their proof approved by army headquarters, and afterward the first copies of the newspaper itself blue penciled by the interior secretary.

No telephonic communication with the outside world, other than on business and personal matters, was allowed. Conversation within the island was cut off when revolution was mentioned. Letters were opened. Al radio stations have been suspended. No news unfavorable to the government is permitted.

The censorship came as a distinct surprise to foreign correspondents

Hundreds Drown at Hankow As Dikes Crumble in Flood

American Relief Supervisor Is Told 30,000,000 Are Homeless Over Yangtze Area; Foreigners Flee as Fresh Disaster Strikes.

Hankow, China, Wednesday, Aug. 19 (A.P.).—At least several hundred Chinese residents of Hankow drowned today when the big Chiakow Dike protecting the city's western suburbs from the Yangtze flood collapsed, inundating the principal native industrial district, including big flour, cotton and silk mills. An accurate estimate of the number who perished was not possible in view of the chaos that prevailed following the disaster.

Although all foreigners in Hankow were reported safe, a great majority of foreign women have departed from the city and more were leaving on every steamer.

A Chinese exodus from the stricken city also was under way on a huge scale. All available means of transportation were packed with humanity and what personal belongings could be loaded aboard. Big river junks were traversing what once were city streets, removing valuables from homes and warehouses.

The highest ground in Hankow was under five feet of water today while most of the city was inundated from ten to twenty feet.

Epidemics were becoming more serious among the tens of thousands of refugees, who had nothing to drink but flood waters. Typhoid, cholera and dysentery were ravaging the helpless Chinese.

One of the most important dikes of Wuchang, which, with Hankow and Hanyong, form the so-called tri-cities, collapsed today, while at Hanyang the waters reached the tops of the gates of the city's ancient wall.

Today's disaster at Hankow came just a day after the arrival here of John Earl Baker, American adviser to the Ministry of Railways, who has been loaned to the Flood Commission and headed a party of commissioners who came from Shanghai by airplane.

He was told carefully prepared estimates indicated 30,000,000 people were homeless in the provinces of Hupeh, Anhwei, Hunan and Honan and 10,000,000 of these were utterly destitute.

Baker said he considered the present flood "probably China's most terrible disaster in the present century." The American has had considerable experience in flood relief work.

The Yangtze Monday night reached a level of 53 feet 5 inches, a new record. The previous record was 50 feet

PARIS - MOSCOW PACT PROVIDES FOR NEUTRALITY

NEGOTIATIONS BEGUN IN MAY SUCCESSFUL

Agreement Is Likely to Have Wide Influence; Trade Accord Delayed.

London, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—A treaty of nonaggression has been concluded by France and Soviet Russia, two of Europe's most intense political rivals since the World War. The pact binds each nation to maintain strict neutrality in event the other is attacked without provocation by a third power or group of powers. It is understood the agreement otherwise closely resembles the German-Soviet neutrality treaty.

It was learned tonight that the treaty was initialed by representatives of France and Russia in Paris at the conclusion of negotiations started in May.

The conclusion of the treaty was considered an important milestone in relations of France and Russia since the war, and may have a strong influence on other European nations. Russian authorities have repeatedly charged France with participation in anti-Soviet plots, and the Moscow press, under government control, has often pointed to France as the future leader of a "capitalist war" against Russia. French diplomatic relations with the Communist state often have been severely strained.

Situation Held Irksome.

The almost unbroken strain on relations since the war, due in part to the fact that Poland (considered a foe by Russia) and France are allies, has been intensified by such incidents as the Ramsen trial at Moscow, when Raymond Poincare, the French general staff, and others were charged with plotting an "interventionist war" against Russia, and also by the French edict of October, 1930, providing a licensing system which virtually put an embargo on Soviet imports to France.

This situation proved irksome to both countries, and negotiations were begun for a commercial treaty, which also has been developed to a satisfactory point.

The negotiations were initiated by Soviet representatives who visited Paris early in May, but Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff of Russia and Foreign Minister Aristide Briand conducted the most important conversations at Geneva, later in the same month. After the Briand-Litvinoff talks the Soviet confidentially advised Germany of the plan, because Russia has a similar agreement with the German government.

Polish Repercussions Feared.

It was believed likely that the most severe repercussions would be in Poland, because of her position as a "buffer state" between Russia and the rest of Europe and her relations with France.

(Copyright, 1931.)

Paris, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Negotiations for a commercial treaty between France and Soviet Russia have been handicapped in the last few days by the French demand for a guarantee that Russia will never again "dump" her products in this country.

France, however, has appeared more eager for conclusion of the treaty than Russia, chiefly due to the recent efforts of Italy to impress her with the Soviet government. France produces little that Russia needs and in 1930 Russia held a balance of favorable trade totaling around $28,000,000

Desire to conclude the treaty led to formation of a French business mission to Moscow to improve trade relations.

German Aviatrix Makes Moscow on Tokyo Flight

Boston, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Vance Breese, chief test pilot for a Detroit airplane factory, was arrested at Boston Airport late today on a charge of operating an airplane in Massachusetts after suspension of his license. Pending arraignment in East Boston District Court tomorrow, the flier was released in bonds of $300.

According to O'Brien, Breese's license to fly over Massachusetts territory was suspended for violating a rule that provided the "grounding" of all civilian ships during the recent Army air demonstration over Boston. It was alleged that Breese took aloft three passengers while the Army maneuvers were in progress.

After being released in bail, the flier declared he had never received notice that his license had been suspended. He added that he flew to Boston today under orders of Assistant Secretary of War F. Trubee Davison.

UTILITY ISSUE PUT TO HOOVER BY ROOSEVELT

New York Governor Tells Views in Making Letter Public.

REPORT ON SEAWAY DISCUSSIONS ASKED

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, a possible Democratic presidential candidate, today brought his water power theories into bold relief as he made public his recent letter to President Hoover, considered the probable Republican nominee.

Simultaneously the governor's advisers said he would turn thumbs down on Tammany Hall's demand that the Democratic State comptroller be given the same power in making an investigation of alleged corruption in upstate Republican cities as is granted to the Republican-controlled Hofstadter committee, in its inquiry into the Democratic government of New York City.

Without comment, the governor at Albany gave out the text of the letter he sent to the President on August 10, asking whether the Federal Government had entered into secret negotiations with the Canadian Government over New York's St. Lawrence River power project on the international border.

Demands Utility Control.

The power issue is one of the governor's pets. It figured prominently in both his gubernatorial campaigns, when he charged that Republicans sought private rather than public development of the St. Lawrence, and stated his theory that the "vast water power of the country should be developed as State resources, for the primary benefit of the citizens of those States."

While in office Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly demanded more "teeth" in laws governing utility corporations and has sought lower utility rates for small consumers.

The text of the letter sent by the governor to President Hoover, which it was said in Albany was made public by Mr. Roosevelt only after the failure of the White House to reveal its contents, was as follows:

"Referring to my letter to you of June 11, 1931, which was acknowledged by the secretary to the President under date of June 20, 1931, I beg to advise you that I have received the following letter from the power authority of the State of New York.

Conferred With Canada.

"'In your letter to the President under date of June 11, 1931, you requested him to appoint as a member of the proposed treaty commission with Canada Mr. Delos M. Cosgrove, vice chairman of the power authority of the State of New York.

"'This letter, we understand, was acknowledged by the secretary to the President under date of June 20, 1931.

"'Since that date members of the power authority have held informal conversations in Canada looking to

Graf, in England, Lands Passengers

Craft Is First Zeppelin So to Do Since World War Days.

Hanworth, England, Aug. 18 (A.P.). The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin darted among angry-looking rainclouds over London late this evening and landed in the dusk with its 22 passengers at Hanworth Airdrome. The Graf is the first Zeppelin to land in England since the World War, when some of its elder, but smaller, sister ships were shot down.

Unlike the Zeppelins of the war days, the Graf came in broad daylight and was cheered by thousands of citizens who watched its progress over the city. Another large crowd awaited the ship at the airdrome and cheered the commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener.

The ship left Friedrichshafen, Germany, at dawn in weather somewhat stormy, but it had an easy passage across the channel, although storm clouds threatened the whole way. The Graf will return to Germany tomorrow after a cruise around Great Britain, upon which it took off late tonight.

Catapulted Plane Lands Mail Far Ahead of Ship

Boston, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—A seaplane, catapulted from the deck of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen 620 miles east of this port, landed with several pouches of mail here late today and took off less than two hours later for New York.

Shot into the air at 9:30 a. m. (E. S. T.), the plane, piloted by a German aviator, lighted in the water near Boston Airport at 4:47 p. m. It was refueled and took off about 80 minutes later. The Bremen is due to arrive in New York not earlier than Wednesday night.

Widow of La Follette, Family Counsel, Dies

Underwood & Underwood.

MRS. BELLE CASE LA FOLLETTE.

Mrs. Belle Case La Follette, the "counselor" of the famous La Follette family of Wisconsin, died at 6:05 o'clock last night in Georgetown University Hospital, following an operation.

The widow of "Fightin' Bob" La Follette, died with her sons, Senator Robert M. La Follette and Gov. Philip F. La Follette, of Wisconsin, at her bedside. A daughter, Mrs. Ralph G. Sucher, was also present and another daughter, Mrs. George Middleton, was on her way here from California when her mother died.

The 72-year-old widow of the famous Progressive leader cast aside an opportunity for a senatorial seat after his death in 1925, and preferred that "Young Bob" should seek the post. Under her guidance another son, Philip, followed his father's footsteps and became governor of Wisconsin.

News of the emergency operation upon the grand dowager of Wisconsin politics, brought her sons to her bedside. Senator La Follette made part of the trip by airplane. The two sons engaged a room at the hospital to keep an all night vigil.

Dr. Wallace M. Yater, the attending physician, knew the operation was a dangerous one, and after it was performed Monday he said the crisis

DETROIT FLIERS OFF ON CRAMER'S ROUTE

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Two European-bound aviators lifted their plane from the Detroit River late today and headed into the North on the first leg of a 4,000-mile flight to Copenhagen. An hour after Edward L. Preston and Robert H. Collignon had taken off, Collignon flashed back the radio message: "On our way to Sudbury, Ont. Radio and instruments working o k."

The airmen are friends of Parker D. Cramer, and his radio operator, Oliver Pacquette, who dropped from sight last week as they neared the Norwegian coast on a similar flight.

The flight like Cramer's, is for the purpose of surveying an air mail, express and passenger route to Europe by the far northern route. The surveys are for the Transamerican Airlines Corporation.

A day of painstaking preparations preceded the takeoff. One hundred gallons of fuel oil for the Diesel motor was placed aboard, a ten-hour supply. Last-minute adjustments were made and, finally, there was a short hop for the purpose of testing the instruments Not until 4 p. m. were the final adjustments completed.

The first attempt to take off from the Detroit River failed and the plane was taxied back to shore, where the load was lightened and the plane again pointed for open water. This time the ship left the water, carried over the crowd of spectators and headed northward.

Because of the late start, Sudbury was made the first night's objective instead of Cochrane, Ontario.

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Hopes for an aerial rout between America and Europe over the Greenland ice cap were believed dashed today by the report of Capt. Wolfgang von Gronau, who narrowly escaped death in crossing the desolate northern ice.

Von Gronau reported that the ice cap provides "the most dangerous" obstacle on the proposed northern commercial route and that he did not believe any plane of present-day design should attempt it again. The other route lies along the Greenland coast.

In a message relayed by wireless to Copenhagen, the German flier said he barely escaped death on his 1,000-mile flight across the inland ice two days ago. Despite every effort he had the greatest difficulty in attaining a safe altitude, he said, and in some instances cleared the great ice masses by only a few feet. Frequently the aerial of his radio apparatus touched the highest ice peaks.

SINCLAIR PLANNING BILLION OIL MERGER

His Interests Are Expected to Unite With Tidewater and Prairie Firms.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 18 (U. P.).—Merger of four huge oil companies into a billion-dollar corporation, headed by Harry F. Sinclair, is expected to be completed within two days, the United Press was informed tonight by an unofficial but reliable source.

The new concern, to be known as the Commonwealth Petroleum Corporation, would include the Sinclair Consolidated companies, the Prairie Oil & Gas, Prairie Pipeline and Tidewater Associated, according to the report.

The reported merger will be based on a stock exchange. The Tidewater Associated will trade ten shares of stock for eight of Sinclair, it was said, while Prairie will trade ten shares for fourteen of Sinclair. The merger was understood to have been nearly complete for weeks, but the Tidewater company was said to have been holding out for a share-and-share basis.

The new corporation would have refineries, pipe lines and marketing facilities in every field in the United States, Mexico, Central and South America, Canada and Africa. Headquarters of the company would be at Tulsa, where the Sinclair company has its headquarters.

Wilkins' Nautilus Leaves Spitzbergen for Pole

Advent Bay, Spitzbergen, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—The submarine Nautilus sailed northward today carrying Sir Hubert Wilkins' expedition on the first of its underwater Arctic explorations.

Delayed a full day awaiting completion of final tests and favorable weather conditions, the submarine left Advent Bay at 4 p. m. to begin one of the strangest journeys ever attempted in the Polar region. Sir Hubert will journey under the ice fields in the Nautilus and if his expedition meets preliminary tests successfully he intends to make a trip to the North Pole.

Young Hoover to Teach At Technology Institute

Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Herbert Hoover, jr., has accepted a position on the faculty of California Institute of Technology, it was announced at the school today.

Young Hoover will begin work in September, serving on the staff of the engineering and research school and as an assistant professor of business economics and radio engineering.

Driver Fleeing Triple Crash Dies in Second; Guests Run

James Hancock Thrown to Street as His Car Rams Fourth; Pursuers, Unable to Stop, Run Into Wreck, Killing Him; Friends Get Away.

Police are searching for three women and a man who left James E. Hancock, 24, fifth member of their roadster party, dead underneath another car after an unusual accident at Michigan avenue and Quincy street northeast last night. The crash was not attributed to the rainstorm, which had just broken.

Scarcely a minute earlier, Hancock's car had figured in a triple collision at the point where the B. & O. railroad tracks cross Michigan avenue. According to witnesses, he was fleeing from there without making his identity known when the roadster crashed head-on into another car.

Hancock was thrown out and crushed beneath the machine which had pursued his party from the scene of the first mishap and overturned in the second triple collison. None of the others in the multiple crash was seriously hurt.

As police reconstructed the tragedy, the victim's car was approaching the railroad tracks when it sideswiped a car driven by William Henry Forrest, colored, 1110½ U street northwest. The roadster then caromed into the machine operated by Baline Lowry, 21, of Mount Rainier, Md. With Young Lowry was his 25-year-old brother Lancaster.

Hancock's car then pulled to a stop and he got out, apparently to exchange credentials with the Lowrys, leaving his four companions in the roadster. He was about to hand his permit to the younger brother when suddenly he changed his mind and, darting back into his machine, sped

BANKERS INSIST POWERS REVISE WAR PAYMENTS

Wiggin Report Declares Germany's Situation Blocks Progress.

URGES SETTLEMENT OF EUROPEAN ROWS

Points of Political Dispute Must Be Removed, Group Asserts in Survey.

Basel, Switzerland, Wednesday, Aug. 19 (A.P.).—The trumpet call for revision of the whole scheme of war debts and reparations payments as an essential preliminary to the restoration of German and world economic prosperity was sounded early today by a committee representing the ten most powerful banking nations in the world.

The international bankers' committee, headed by Albert H. Wiggin, of New York, in submitting a long report of its inquiry into Germany's credit situation, assailed reparations payments as an immense obstacle to the peaceful, economic progress of nations and summoned the governments to "lose no time" in revising the schedules of international payments.

This pronouncement, gaining great force from the eminence of its authors, impressed observers all the more when they realized it was subscribed to by the financial chiefs of the United States and France, two nations which have been outstanding opponents of any plan to revise international payments.

Urge Disputes Settled.

Political differences between Germany and her European neighbors also were attacked by the bankers. They urged the clearing up of vexing disputes in order that "good times" might again prevail throughout the world.

The committee pointed out, however, that the terms of reference laid down by the London Conference do not permit it to deal with either problems of European politics or the revision of reparations schedules.

The banking chiefs expressed the opinion, however, that points of political disputes between Germany and her neighbors must be removed and then schedules of Germany's reparations payments must be revised if European prosperity is to be recovered.

The representatives of the powers at London specified only two tasks for the committee—to discover the immediate further short-term credit needs of Germany and to study the possibility of converting a portion of the present short-term credits to long-term credits.

Foreign Debt Too Large.

On the first point, the German delegation told the committee that further short-term credits would merely add to the embarrassment of Germany and they therefore would not ask for them.

The committee dealt in detail with the growth of Germany's foreign debt and pointed out emphatically that although reparations payments have been made, Germany's foreign debt has grown more rapidly than the funds she had paid.

"The payments made to foreigners in these years, therefore," the report says, "have not been effectively made out of Germany's own resources and will not be made so until such time as a corresponding part of these commercial debts are repaid by the export of gold, goods or services."

The committee dismissed as undesirable repayment either by forcing back all or nearly all of Germany's capital abroad. Much of which is in constant use in carrying on trade, or by depressing imports to the detriment of all nations which already are suffering from diminished trade.

Part of Burden Put on U. S.

Germany's financial structure will be unstable, the committee report said, and her obligations will be regarded by investors as a poor risk as long as German foreign payments cause a continuous increase in her foreign debts.

The burden of taking steps for reducting reparations—and presumably revising war debt schedules—was placed upon the shoulders of the governments of the United States and the great European powers. The declaration, on the part of represen-

COAL MEN PROTEST FREIGHT RATE RAISE

Companies Are Unanimous, I. C. C. Told; Cement and Oil Follow Suit.

(Associated Press)

Coal, oil and cement interests yesterday filed protests with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the 15 per cent freight rate increase proposed by the railroads.

Representatives of the National Retail Coal Merchants Association and the New England Coal Dealers Association, told the commission their organizations were opposed to any increase.

The Lehigh Portland Cement Co. made the same representation, while the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky opposed the percentage increase and suggested a surcharge of $5 a car on petroleum and petroleum products.

Coal Men Nearly Unanimous.

Milton E. Robinson, Chicago, president of the retail coal organization, testified he had sent a questionnaire to 5,300 coal dealers in 40 States and the District of Columbia, and that 88 per cent of the replies were definitely against an increase. Some of the other 12 per cent, he said, might have been classed as against the advance, but did not definitely say so.

Robinson said the dealers felt that increased transportation charges reflected in increased coal prices would drive many consumers to oil, gas and wood for fuel, thus reducing the tonnage on the railroads to a point where the 15 per cent increase would be nullified.

In the Northwest, he said, sawdust is available for fuel and many farmers throughout the country already have stopped using coal and are cutting their own wood. Coal would be moved by motor truck from the mine, he said, to communities nearby which now are getting their coal by railroad.

Oil Companies Unworried.

W. A. Clark, of Boston, chairman of the association's transportation committee and president of the New England Coal Dealers Association, said New England coal dealers were virtually unanimous in their opposition.

A. M. Stephens, of Louisville, traffic manager for the Standard Oil Co. of Kentucky, said the percentage increase would "destroy and distort commercial and community rate relationships."

He added that many oil companies viewed the railroad plan complacently because they knew they had the remedy for any rate increase. Most of them, he said, could easily use trucks, water transportation and pipe lines to terminals established at convenient points and from there could distribute their products by truck.

F. E. Paulson, Allentown, Pa., vice president of the Lehigh Portland Cement Co., predicted loss of traffic for the railroads if the cement rate is increased.

Clark said the 15 per cent increase would add $24,000,000 a year to the fuel bill of anthracite consumers.

"This," he added, "they can not and will not stand."

Cites Car Statistics.

Clark presented statistics to show an increasing surplus of open-top freight cars designed for carrying coal and indicating that many freight locomotives have been stored away.

These figures, he said, indicate that the railroads need increased tonnage rather than increased rates.

Wellington M. Bertolet, of Reading, Pa., testified in behalf of the Pennsylvania Retail Coal Merchants Association that any increase in short-haul anthracite rates would drive more of the business from railroads to trucks and would be "suicidal" to the revenues of the railroads from that source.

V. R. Tupper, of Cleveland, Ohio, representing the Steel Office Furniture Institute, testified that members of the institute felt that the carriers' objective would not be reached by placing a 15 per cent increase on present rates and by superimposing this increase on the Eastern class rates when revision of those becomes effective next December 3. Added revenue, he said, would fail to materialize because tonnage railroads now obtain would be diverted to other means of transportation.

Margaret Livingston of Films Becomes Bride of Bandmaster.

Denver, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The famous bandmaster, Paul Whiteman, and Miss Margaret Livingston, screen actress, were married late today at the country home of Whiteman's father near Denver. The ceremony was restricted to members of the two families and close friends.

The newlyweds planned to return to Chicago, where Whiteman will resume a musical engagement, after a brief honeymoon in Colorado. Whiteman and his bride met while he was starring in his first motion picture.

Whiteman was born in Denver 38 years ago. Sixteen years ago he was dismissed from an orchestra in San Francisco because he couldn't play "ragtime" music. It was then he began his effort to glorify popular melody.

Immediately after the ceremony, while the bride and bridegroom were posing for photographs, W. B. Estes, formerly manager of the Oklahoma State Chamber of Commerce, arrived and presented Whiteman with a five-week-old Duroc Jersey pig and a tiny wooden fiddle.

Bancitaly Group Asks Tax Review

(Associated Press.)

In a petition filed with the Board of Tax Appeals seeking redetermination of $3,669,809 in income tax deficiencies, trustees in dissolution of the Bancitaly Corporation of San Francisco, yesterday held the institution lost $608,355 on short sales in 1928 instead of making an additional profit of $8,642,970 on security sales.

The trustees were notified July 7 that the Government had levied the additional assessment.

In addition to the tax levied on security sales, the Bureau of Internal Revenue added $19,741,102 profit from sale of Bank of America National Association stock and disallowed a deduction of $88,956 for payment of income taxes to a foreign country.

The trustees in their petition maintained the bureau had erred in setting the amount of gain from short sales when in fact there was a loss: in disallowing credit for foreign income taxes, and in setting the profit derived from the sale of the bank stock at $41,475,996 instead of at $21,734,894. No time for hearing of the case has been set.

2 Armed Men Rob Bank in Germany

Reichsbank Teller Shot; Passer-By and Girl Hit in Chase.

Berlin, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Two masked robbers held up the Reichsbank branch in the suburb of Schoeneberg today, shot the teller and escaped on bicycles with 22,000 marks, approximately $5,500.

Employes of the bank gave chase on their own bicycles and in taxicabs, firing after the fugitives. Stray bullets wounded a passer-by and a 12-year-old girl. Police found fourteen bullet holes in the bank walls and Karl Kreyer, the teller, was taken to a hospital in a serious condition.

Bank officials said the robbers had missed half a million marks ($125,000) in bank notes which was on the teller's desk. A reward of $750 has been offered by the bank for their capture.

Paramaribo Is Reached By DO-X in Long Hop

Paramaribo, Dutch Guiana, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—The flying boat DO-X arrived today after a flight of 600 miles from Para, Brazil, in 5 hours and 35 minutes.

After installation of a new engine at Para, the DO-X departed at 10 a. m. and arrived here at 3:35 p. m. en route to New York.

ROOSEVELT AIRS POWER VIEW IN LETTER SENT TO HOOVER

"'In these conversations, it has been made apparent that the Governments of the United States and the Dominion of Canada are considering the abandonment of the appointment of treaty commissioners and the substitution therefor of direct negotiations, through diplomatic channels alone, between the Federal governments of the two countries, looking to the drafting of a treaty.

State's Interests Held Vital.

"'These advices seem borne out by statements in the Canadian and American press.

"'May we again call your attention to the vital importance that the State of New York be represented in the negotiations with Canada and that this right is recognized in the fourth conclusion of the report of the United States-St. Lawrence Commission upon the development of shipway from the Great Lakes to the sea, submitted by President Hoover, at that time Secretary of Commerce and chairman of the commission, of date December 27, 1926, which reads as follows:

"That negotiations should be entered into with Canada in an endeavor to arrive at agreements on all these subjects. In such negotiations the United States should recognize the proper relations of New York to the power development in the international section."

"'This principle was reiterated on other occasions by Chairman Hoover.

Ask Direct Information.

"'Therefore, may we request that, as this whole question involves relationship betwen the State of New York and the United States Government, you obtain for us, if possible, direct and early information regarding the negotiations between Washington and Ottawa.

"'We must repeat with definite emphasis that we adhere to the belief that a representative of New York should take part in the negotiations, in view of the fact that State-owned power development is equally involved with the navigation plans of the Federal Government.

"'(Signed) FRANK P. WALSH,
Chairman.'

"In view of this whole matter, in which I concur, I would greatly appreciate it if you would be good enough to advise me of the status of the negotiations between the United States and Canada relating to drafting of a treaty covering the development of the St. Lawrence River in the international section for navigation and power purposes."

To that letter Acting Secretary of State Castle replied two days later:

"All that it is possible to say now is that no negotiations of any kind are going on. It is obvious that when the time comes the interest of New York will not be neglected."

Friends of the governor represented him as feeling this was not an official and adequate reply.

A pronouncement by President Hoover on the power question, made in a recommendation to Congress in 1929, said in part:

"The nature of the electric utilities industry is such that about 90 per cent of all power generation and distributing is intrastate in character, and most of the States have developed their own regulatory systems.

Developments Watched.

"There are cases, however, of interstate character beyond the jurisdiction of the States. To meet these cases it would be most desirable if a method could be worked out by which initial action may be taken between the commissions of the States whose joint action should be made effective by the Federal Power Commission, with a reserve to act on its own motion in case of disagreement or nonaction by the States."

Political observers here, in Washington and in Albany are watching with interest and developments between the White House and the Executive Mansion on the power question, for that is one of the issues Mr. Roosevelt's friends believe he would stress were he to face Mr. Hoover in 1932.

(Associated Press.)

State Department officials said yesterday that the entire text of Acting Secretary Castle's letter to Gov. Roosevelt had not been made public.

The part which was made public by the State Department was in reply, they said, to a letter from the governor to President Hoover regarding the status of negotiations with Canada on the proposed St. Lawrence waterway.

The parts of the letter which were withheld were of a personal nature between the Acting Secretary, to whom the President assigned the duty of replying, and the governor, officials said.

Akron Will Take Air First Time Next Week

Akron, Ohio, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Goodyear-Zeppelin officials here announced today the Navy Zeppelin, Akron, will take to the air for its maiden flight the latter part of next week. The craft is finished except for minor details.

First rehearsal of 250 men recruited from the Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation plants and offices, who will act as the ground crew for the Akron when it takes its maiden flights was held Monday night, and similar sessions will continue for several days.

TAMMANY OFFERS NEW PROBE PLANS

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Throwing its first proposal for investigation of up-State Republican cities and counties into the discard, Tammany Hall tonight submitted to alternative proposals which have been made to Gov. Roosevelt.

This shift from the reprisal program outlined in the letter of Senator John J. Dunnigan, Democratic leader of the senate, postponed at least until next Monday possibility of a Roosevelt-Tammany break.

At the conclusion of an hour and a half conference at the executive mansion tonight, the governor informed Senator Dunnigan and Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, minority leader of the assembly, he would require until Monday to study their proposals. The legislature meets in special session Tuesday to arm the Hofstadter committee, now investigating New York City, with the power of granting immunity to witnesses.

Tammany Hall wants to get before the Legislature proposals for investigating Republican controlled cities and counties, and can do so only with the governor's consent.

"We went over with the governor the proof of corruption in upstate communities," Dunnigan said, alluding to the memorandum based on the State comptroller's reports. "The facts leave no question as to graft and corruption."

The governor made no comment tonight on the new proposals. Those in his confidence were of the opinion that he is opposed to broadening the jurisdiction of the Hofstadter committee to include upstate communities, principally on the ground that the committee was created solely to investigate New York City. Also, it was said, its present task is an enormous one.

From the same source, came the opinion that the governor is not likely to look favorably upon the proposal to create a new investigating commission at the special session, with a regular session only a little more than four months away.

German Aviators Sent To Prison by Soviet

Berlin, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Two German aviators who made a forced landing in eastern Mongolia were sentenced today to 5 years' imprisonment on charges of espionage against the Soviet government.

The fliers, Johannes Ratje and Otto Koelber, were on a mail and passenger plane flight from Shanghai to Manchuli, on the Siberia-Manchuria frontier, when they were forced to land July 4 on the southern shore of Baile Lulu. The territory forms part of the Soviet Union, although the Chinese Government has never recognized it as such.

Legion Head Raps Carnegie President

O'Neil Says Foundation Chief Wrongs Million Veterans in Report.

A charge that the twenty-fifth annual report of the president of the Carnegie Foundation contains a misleading and inaccurate section devoted to his personal antiveteran opinions was made yesterday by National Commander Ralph T. O'Neil.

The veterans' leader declared that for historical inaccuracy the section of the report devoted to the veterans' organization "will occupy a niche which is unique in annals of pseudo-scientific utterances," and that "it is replete with misinformation, and the conclusions are based on false conclusions and utterances."

"Some one has given the president a wrong cue," Commander O'Neil said, "and he has not taken the trouble or the time to read the record and investigate the facts. He has attempted to indict over a million members of the American Legion without the study and knowledge that should accompany documents bearing the respected name of the Carnegie Foundation."

Contracts for Building Of 2 Sewers Awarded

Contracts for construction of two sewer projects were awarded yesterday by the District Commissioners. Bright-Shepherd Co., Inc., was awarded the job for constructing the Thirteenth street diversion sewer, section one, at an estimated cost of $12,799.30.

Roy D. Schlegel was given the contract to build the Loughboro road sewer, between Indian lane and Forty-sixth street northwest, on an estimate of $1,846.98.

Less Than 400 Daily Apply for Auto Titling

Fewer than 400 motorists daily are applying for titles for automobiles, whereas the number to complete the registration of all District cars by January 1, when the new law goes into effect, should be more than 1,000 daily, according to a statement yesterday by Traffic Director William A. Van Duzer.

He predicted a last minute rush in December that can not be met, thereby putting several thousand automobiles temporarily out of commission.

Plan for Training Jobless Advanced

Unemployment Relief Is Aim of Schemes Offered in Contest.

Establishment of night schools for the unemployed so that they will be able to handle such jobs as appear, is one of the numerous suggestions submitted in the contest being conducted by George J. Adams, jr., executive secretary of the District committee on employment.

Another contestant proposes to enlist all the able-bodied idle men in the District National Guard, while a third advocates the employment of idle men and women on nearby Maryland and Virginia farms.

A gold medal is being offered for the best plan for alleviating unemployment in Washington this winter. The contest closes September 30.

State to End Case In Luke Lea Trial

Prosecutor Reaches Close of Testimony in Bank Fraud Hearing.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The State reached the end of its case today in the trial of Col. Luke Lea and three others charged with conspiring to defraud the Central Bank & Trust Co. here of $1,300,000.

Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles announced that all evidence was in, but asked the court not to demand his formal notice until tomorrow morning, in order that a check might be made to assure no technicality of introduction had been overlooked regarding the great mass of documentary evidence on which the prosecution has based its case.

On trial with Lea are: Wallace B. Davis, president of the now defunct bank, who already faces a five-year prison term for violation of the State bank laws, and who is scheduled to go on trial August 31 for using the mails to defraud; Luke Lea, jr., and E. P. Charlet, officers of the Tennessee Publishing Co., and business associates of the elder Lea, newspaper publisher, financier and former United States senator.

COLOMBIA RENEWS ECUADOR RELATIONS

Argentine Envoy Assists in Healing Rift Over Boundary Dispute.

Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Colombia today renewed diplomatic relations with Ecuador, broken since 1925. Dr. Roberto Urdaneta, minister of foreign relations, announced the successful completion of six years of diplomatic negotiations. His announcement followed a three-hour conference in the foreign office with Rudolfo Freyre, Argentine Minister, whose government mediated the boundary dispute between Colombia and Ecuador.

The foreign minister declined to comment on settlement of the boundary dispute, saying only that diplomatic relations had been resumed. It long has been understood, however, that renewal of diplomatic relations awaited a territorial agreement. The relations were broken off when Ecuador claimed Colombia had ceded several thousand square miles of Ecuadorean territory to Peru by a 1925 treaty.

When President Olaya was inaugurated he promises renewal of relations with Ecuador as a cure to the sole sore spot in Colombia's international affairs. Ministers are to be exchanged between the countries immediately.

Antofagasta Is Quiet After Red Disturbances

Santiago, Chile, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Reports from Antofagasta tonight said quiet had been restored there after several hours of disturbances growing out of a Communist demonstration.

Fierce street fighting resulted when troops were forced to intervene, a dispatch to the newspaper Ultimas Noticias said. The Antofagasta demonstration was said to have started when false reports reached there of a similar demonstration in Santiago.

Former Envoy to U. S. From Mexico Is Dead

He served under President Porfirio Diaz as minister of foreign relations, represented Mexico at Washington in the Taft administration and was once governor of Chihuahua.

Brazil's Budget Balanced.

Rio de Janeiro, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—The 1931 budget has a favorable balance of $2,469,120 for the first seven months, according to an official announcement today. The surplus was obtained by rigid economies in federal expenditures in the face of decreasing revenues.

Three More Murdered By New York Gangs

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Gang guns flared in New York's East Side tonight taking two more lives, which with the finding of a body wrapped in newspapers earlier today brought the day's homicides to three.

Two men, one unidentified, were sprayed with bullets on Mott street at midnight. Police said one of the slain men was Joseph Cignia. In another shooting, Charles Focarile, 19, was shot in the back.

OIL SHUTDOWN CUTS YIELD TWO-FIFTHS

Million Barrels Daily Taken Off Market by Oklahoma and Texas Governors.

Kilgore, Tex., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Approximately two-fifths of the entire crude oil production of the United States had been cut off tonight by the spectacular action of two men—Govs. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma and Ross S. Sterling of Texas.

The shutdown of the great east Texas field—largest in the country—was completed today under martial law, stemming the rush of petroleum that overwhelmed the industry and drove prices to the lowest level in midcontinent history.

Flush wells in Oklahoma, closed two weeks ago by Gov. Murray, remained under martial law, and the Oklahoma executive reiterated the shutdown would continue until purchasing companies raised the price to $1 a barrel.

Million Barrels Less.

Action of the two governors lopped nearly 1,000,000 barrels from the Nation's daily output of crude. Predictions of Gov. Sterling and oil leaders that prices were headed upward and that possible stabilization of the industry, long suffering from overproduction, was in sight, found some degree of fulfillment today.

The Morgan Petroleum Co. boosted its offer for Oklahoma City crude to 7 cents a barrel, 25 cents above the existing top price, contingent on reopening of the wells in that field. But Gov. Murray was unshaken in his stand for $1 oil.

"If they come to that price, I think we can work out a plan within a few days," he said.

Fred Morgan, president of the company, said he considered 77 cents was reasonable and in line with prices of other commodities. He expressed the opinion other companies would meet his offer. The Champlin Refining Co., of Enid, recently stated it would like to post a price of $1, but that the market value of gasoline and other products prevented such action.

Kansas Plans Hearing.

With the flood of production stopped in Oklahoma and Texas, the Kansas public service commission was preparing for a hearing early next month to determine the extent of a possible shutdown in that State. Marvin Lee, Wichita, chairman of the commission's oil advisory commission, said under the new State proration law the Kansas output of around 102,000 barrels daily could be curtailed by half.

Refineries were beginning to feel the pinch of slackened production. While there are huge quantities of oil in storage, refiners are not inclined to draw on stocks which were purchased months ago at much higher than present prices.

Producers in the Texas Panhandle, unaffected by the shutdown, were awaiting higher prices. Spokesmen said no rush for Panhandle crude was anticipated, as plants in other sections were not equipped to refine this crude, which requires more chemical treatment than that from certain other oil fields.

Baker told of negotiations started with the United States Government in the hope of buying, on long credit terms, a part of the surplus wheat carried by the American Farm Board.

Plans tentatively made, he said, provided for immediate distribution of a part of the wheat among the starving refugees, the rest to be retained to be doled out as wages to laborers who would rebuild the dykes and other structures swept away by the merciless waters of the last fortnight.

Representatives of Wool Industry Gather Here

A meeting of representatives of the wool industry from all parts of the country was held yesterday in the United States Chamber of Commerce Building, when plans for a National Wool week to be observed in the near future were discussed.

No definite conclusion was reached as to when the observance will be held, but it is expected that another meeting will be called in the near future to appoint committees and make further plans for a national campaign. Frank E. Fitzpatrick, Washington representative of the National Wool Marketing Corporation, presided at the meeting.

here, who had believed the revolution was near and end with the capture of former President Mario G. Menocal and Col. Carlos Mendieta, its two most important leaders, and their confinement in Cabana Fortress.

In Santa Clara, the President remained busy with his work of pacification, and government sources said many rebels had surrendered, among them William Fischer, American naturalized citizen of Cuba, who led insurgent forces that destroyed property in Santa Clara worth $15,000. The property was owned by Senator Carlos Machado, brother of the President. Fischer was presented at the provincial palace in Santa Clara, and sent on to Havana for confinement in Cabana, reports received here said.

Indications pointed to government fears of an uprising in Havana City soon. Ten armored trucks are kept in front of police headquarters at all hours ready for emergency. House-to-house search for arms has been stopped, it was learned on good authority, because of authentic reports that oppositionists have weapons and ammunition stored in many well-barricaded houses.

A report from Camp Columbia, government camp on the outskirts of Havana, said 180 bodies of soldiers are stored there in pine boxes, although only six deaths have been announced by headquarters in contrast to 67 revolutionists reported dead. Newspapermen are not permitted access to the camp from which many troops move out into the island.

Tampa, Fla., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Lieut. Rufael Reyna, former officer of the Cuban navy, now in exile, said today that he has received reports indicating a decisive victory for the Cuban revolutionary forces.

"President Machado and the federal troops in Santa Clara Province have let themselves be cut off from Havana by the revolutionary forces," he said. "Unless the president can escape to the capital by airplane he will be captured within 48 hours. The federals at Santa Clara have got themselves 'on the spot.' The rebels are encamped to the west and north of Machado's position, the only outlets in the province.

"The government denies all such reports and is enforcing a strict censorship of information, but we have been informed that federal troops are joining in the rebel movement and within 72 hours have taken several cities."

(Associated Press.)

Destruction by Cuban insurrectionists of a small American quarry powder magazine at Arieta, in Santa Clara Province, was reported to the State Department yesterday by Ambassador Guggenheim at Havana.

The magazine was owned by N. A. Allen, an American. The damage was estimated at $5,000. The ambassador said it was the only destruction of American property so far reported in the revolt.

Norman Visits New York To Flee 'Bee' as in Budget

By JOHN J. DALY

ENGLAND'S key man of finance, Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is coming to New York to strengthen his bank's credit. In his absence, the full British cabinet meets at No. 10 Downing street to balance the budget. While the banker's away the budgeteers will play.

In some mysterious manner, Great Britain faces a deficit of half a billion dollars. It must have been the depression.

Anyway, Ramsay MacDonald, deserting his home in Lossiemouth, Scotland, rushes to London and calls all the boys in for a conference to save the pound sterling.

What about the moneyed man, Montagu Norman, running away at such a time, seeking help from America? That's what the people of England would like to know.

The prime minister, in order to alleviate all fears, discounts the absence of the big banker, saying: "The country is as firm as the Bank of England."

"Oh, yeah?" ask the English people, about to be taxed, "But how firm is the Bank of England?"

"So firm," is the answer, "that the cashier has closed the window, and has gone to New York. While he's away nobody can make a loan, so the budgeteers of Downing street can not budge the bank."

* * * *

THAT'S the way to run a bank. Before leaving, Mr. Norman had locked the vaults. He had heard about this meeting called for Downing street.

So everybody knows now how firm is the Bank of England. The head man goes away while the money spenders gather in the temple, trying to devise some way of raising revenues, or lower the cost of government. One thing is certain: They are not going to tap the tills of the bank.

The Old Lady of Threadneedle Street knows her business. She has been watching over England's finances these many centuries, or since the thoroughfare that harbors the Mansion House was known as Thryddenal, the third street from Cheapside, off the busy lane from London Bridge to Bishopsgate.

'Twas William Cobbett, the grammarian, who called the directors of the Bank of England "The Old Lady in Threadneedle Street," because, like Mrs. Partington, she tried with her broom to sweep back the Atlantic waves of American progress.

THE Old Lady got over that tendency, and, by attending to her knitting, made England what she is today—not broke, but ready to entertain any proposals that would better her financial position.

If the governor of the Bank of England has gone to New York while the cabinet meets to consider ways and means of raising more money, there is a method in his madness. A good banker, Mr. Norman knows that London town is not a safe place for him at this time. He knows all these cabinet members by their first names, and he knows what would happen if he remained in the vicinity of Threadneedle street—that the meeting at Downing street would develop into a serenade outside his counting room windows.

Tactics such as these are what make the Bank of England great, and England is as firm as the bank.

It was Dr. Marigold, Dickens' character, who gloated over the silver curl—meaning a bank note—that he took off the shining locks of the ever beautiful Old Lady of Threadneedle street.

The people of England, rallying to the defense of the pound, hope that the hirsute adornment of the grand dame will attain luxurious growth as a result of the governor's visit to Wall street.

Exchequer returns issued today show the total ordinary revenue last week was £9,284,238 (about $46,421,000), against £12,607,775 (about $63,038,875) the corresponding week in 1930. Ordinary expenditures last week abounted to $45,315,045, an increase of about $1,500,000 over the corresponding week in 1930. Since March 31 the floating debt has increased by $501,450,000, the present total being approximately $3,473,000,000.

Prince Flies to France.

Biarritz, France, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Prince of Wales, who took off from Sunningdale, England, this morning, arrived at the local airport tonight after a pleasant flight. He will spend a holiday here.

The prince stopped at Tours and Bordeaux en route. At Bordeaux he was allowed 12 minutes to get a drink. At 7:15 p. m. his plane landed, he darted over to the airdrome buffet and at 7:27 he was on his way again.

It was such enjoyable flying when his plane neared Biarritz that the prince had his pilot make a circuit of the country about before landing.

HOOVER GIVEN DATA ON UTILITY BUSINESS

Paul Clapp, Power Secretary, Discusses Net Earnings With President.

President Hoover heard more definitely yesterday of the general condition of public utility business. His informant was Paul F. Clapp, secretary of the National Electric Light Association, which is developing a plan whereby utilities workers would be assured employment for a specified length of time. Mr. Clapp, however, did not discuss that with the President, since the proposal is yet being considered by a special N. E. L. A. committee.

Although power furnished to industries has fallen off 15 per cent, Mr. Clapp said, the decrease had been partially made up in an 8½ per cent increase in domestic consumption. Gross earnings were only 1 per cent less the first six months of this year than the same period last year.

Mr. Clapp said that the N. E. L. A. committee is willing to do the preliminary work necessary to instituting throughout the utilities industry the job-guarantee plan already put into effect in one branch of the General Electric Co.

Investigation thus far, however, has indicated the national association can do nothing but gather data to support the idea and present them to individual utilities companies with the recommendation that such a policy, or a similar one, be instituted.

The special committee will meet shortly for further consideration of the plan, which Clapp said probably could be presented to the separate companies within the next month.

The proposal contemplates that employes, figuring the 100 per cent work-year as 52 weeks, would guarantee to each employe at least 60 per cent work.

Meanwhile, the United States Chamber of Commerce committee on the continuity of business and employment continues to ponder the question. Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of the chamber, is among those who have urged assurances of steady employment. He contends that employment guarantees would establish a formidable barrier against depressions.

The chamber business committee is attempting to have ready for presentation to President Hoover by September 1 an unemployment relief program. The President is being kept posted on developments in the cooperation by key industries to guarantee long-time employment. Senator Dickinson, of Iowa, has asserted that "an administration plan" is in the offing.

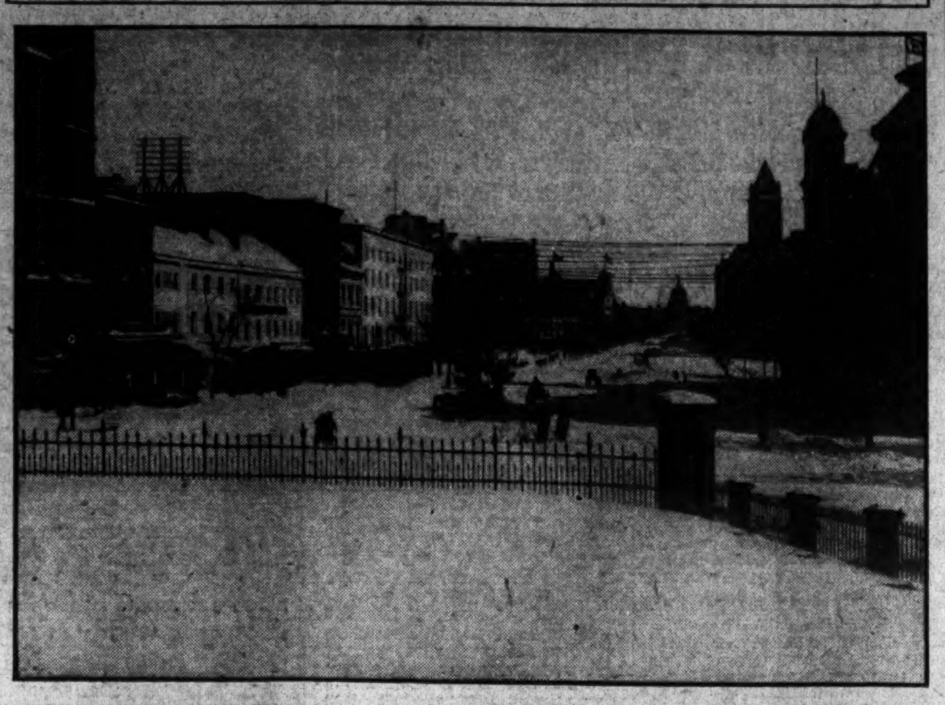
When Washington Was Younger—No. 18



THE year of the Big Blizzard was 1898. This view shows Pennsylvania avenue, looking from the Treasury toward the Capitol. Workers are busy trying to clear the street. Note the horse-drawn vehicles.

The buildings on the south side of the Avenue (to the reader's right in the picture) have all disappeared, some of them just recently as the Government has cleared this ground.

The buildings on the north side of the Avenue immediately in the foreground have all been replaced. The New Willard and the Washington Hotels have both been constructed since the photographer made this view.

Many wires were strung across Pennsylvania avenue in that day. This condition has disappeared.

EARTH SHOCKS DRIVE TEXANS INTO STREET

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—An earthquake jarred the Big Bend country of west Texas this afternoon and was felt westward in New Mexico on the heels of an earth disturbance that shook the section last Sunday. No one was reported injured.

The tremors appeared to have been of greatest intensity at Alpine, Tex., a village of 500 population, 160 miles east of El Paso.

Residents fled panic-stricken into the streets as new cracks appeared in walls already damaged by Sunday's quake. Most of the houses are adobe construction. In the Mexican quarters many persons gathered around churches and prayed for protection. The quake was reported at Alpine at 1:37 p. m. and was preceded by another shock early in the day at 2:42 a. m. Many people in Alpine have slept in the open since Sunday's quake.

Railroad offices in El Paso said the tremor apparently was localized around Valentine. They reported it was felt at Pecos and Alpine, Tex., on the east and at Lobo, 20 miles west of Valentine, but not at Sierra Blanca, 60 miles west. Some clocks were stopped at Valentine, Pecos and Lobo.

At Carlsbad, N. Mex., a shock was sufficient to rattle windows. Carlsbad received two shocks Sunday when two tremors were recorded in west Texas and southern New Mexico. The seismograph at Regis College, Denver, Colo., recorded an earthquake of two minutes' duration. Just before 1:28 p. m. (M. S. T.). Father A. W. Forstall, seismomologist, said the quake was in Texas.

A very severe quake, lasting one-quarter of an hour, was registered at 8:10 a. m. Father Forstall said this quake was not on the American continent.

DIED.

The GIRL About Town

FORMER Senator and Mrs. Guy Despard Goff were in town en route to their West Virginia home after a European trip. Mrs. Goff and the former senator looked very fit, and had some snappy new anecdotes they had picked up abroad. Mrs. Goff had some new jewels, too. She is a connoisseur of fine stones, and I should like the pick of her collection. The senator says he has no political ambitions, but he is such good ambassadorial material that he will not be long in private life. I have heard that he is slated to succeed Charles G. Dawes when the Chicagoan leaves London to put over the Chicago World's Fair.

Have you heard of the new Turkish bath? Cynthia's cousin, who spent the week-end at the Annapolis Roads Club, told me about it. The turkish ambassador was there, and he aroused intense interest when he sat down gravely in about a foot and a half of water and then proceeded to pour water on his head, his body, and down his face with a scoop made of his two hands. His Excellency has been watching his weight lately and his reluctance to going into deep water reminded the observer of the girl whose mother instructed her to "hang her clothes on a hickory limb, but don't go near the water."

JANE Kendall Mason attended the Red and White ball in Newport. Jane had run over from Tuxedo Park, where she has been visiting her mother-in-law, Mrs. George Grant Mason, sr. There's an enterprising girl for you. Not content with having a rich mother, husband, et al, she opened a shop in Havana last year to earn her own account. Washington society has lost these charming women.

Mrs. John D. Sherman is home from a round of speeches in the west in behalf of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission. Mrs. Sherman has lined up the women of the country in great shape for the celebration. Now, if the death of Mrs. Fred T. Dubois, widow of the Senator from Idaho, puts the juvenile department of the commission under Mrs. Sherman's direction, as it should, the women and children will be first, as usual, in honoring Washington in a fitting manner.

Asylum Children Abused, Is Charge

Oklahoma Feeble-Minded Youths Mistreated, Governor Told.

Oklahoma City, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Accusations that feeble-minded children in the Enid State Hospital have been locked in refrigerators, tied in sacks for days with only their necks protruding and held under water were made in affidavits submitted today to Gov. W. H. Murray.

Mrs. Mabel Bassett, commissioner of charities and corrections, presented more than 140 pages of testimony, allegedly taken from inmates and officials of the institution.

"I ask that Ed H. Andruss, the superintendent, be dismissed immediately; that three women and two men employes be discharged because of cruelty to inmates and that the State investigation bureau be instructed to aid me in finding a boy who disappeared after a beating and still is missing," Mrs. Bassett said.

Andruss has denied all charges in connection with administration of the hospital.

Gulf Disturbance Is Near Vera Cruz

Weather Bureau Officials Say Another Gale Moves Toward Bahamas.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Miami weather bureau officials today placed the center of a tropical disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico approximately 80 miles north of Vera Cruz, Mexico.

The position given for another disturbance in the Atlantic was about 200 miles east of Turks Island in the Bahamas and about the same distance due north of Mona Passage, the channel between Porto Rico and the Dominican Republic.

Observers said the northwest course indicated in the advisory today would carry the storm into the Bahamas. They added, however, it probably would be tomorrow before the southeastern islands of the Bahamas group feel the effect of the disturbance if it continues in that direction.

HYDE PLEDGES AID IN DROUGHT AREAS

Federal Loans Will Be Made to Farmers for Buying Live Stock Feed.

(Associated Press.)

Assurance that the Government will make loans available in the more serious drought areas of Montana and North and South Dakota was given yesterday by Secretary Hyde.

The loans will be made to farmers for the purchase of live stock feed to carry them through the winter months. About $15,000,000 remains from the emergency funds appropriated by the last Congress.

The Secretary of Agriculture, who returned to Washington yesterday after a personal survey in those States and Iowa, said, "Unquestionably something must be done, and we will meet the situation."

He outlined conditions as he found them to President Hoover at yesterday's Cabinet meeting. Before announcing the extent and character of the loans, Secretary Hyde will study the reports of county agents who made surveys soon after President Hoover promised Federal assistance. The first announcement probably will concern drought along with grasshopper damage in Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota, to be dealt with later.

Secretary Hyde said that little could be done this year in controlling the grasshoppers. The problem, he added, will come next spring. The insects already have laid their eggs, and entomologists look for another outbreak next year. The grasshopper-infested States have asked for Government funds with which to buy poison bait.

The bad drought spots, the Secretary said, were in central and northeastern Montana, northwestern North Dakota and eastern and southern South Dakota.

"The Red Cross," Secretary Hyde said, "is now feeding and caring for farmers in these sections. It has assured me that with local resources it will be able to care for all problems except that of live stock feed."

Drop in Grain Exports Shown for Past Week

(Associated Press.)

Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 1,399,000 bushels, against 2,003,000 bushels the previous week, and 3,136,000 in the corresponding week of last year. The Commerce Department yesterday gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before:

Wheat, 1,100,000 bushels against 1,926,000; barley, 210,000 against 38,000; corn, 32,000 against 29,000; oats, 57,000 against 10,000. Canadian grains exported last week from United States Atlantic ports amounted to 55,000 bushels against 659,000. Exports of North American wheat flour were 179,000 barrels against 161,000 the previous week.

Two Men Are Held In Woman's Death

Following his arraignment in police court at Upper Marlboro, Md., yesterday, after he had given himself up to Deputy Sheriff T. H. Garrison, William P. Dermott, 23 years old, of Bowling Green, Va., was charged with murder and lodged in the Marlboro Jail, in connection with the death of Mrs. Ann Noble Sparks, 40 years old, who was fatally injured several weeks ago when she fell or was thrown into the path of an automobile on the Defense highway, near Lanham, Md.

Howell R. Boulden, also 23, who is serving a term of 60 days in the District Jail for possession of liquor, was named in another murder warrant which was issued in the same case. He was served with the warrant yesterday, and extradition proceedings will take place at the expiration of his term on September 3.

Warrants charging robbery and attempted criminal assault are also out against both youths, who, it is alleged, were in an automobile from which Mrs. Sparks was pushed. Harold Brody, attorney for Dermott, said yesterday that his client admitted being with the woman the night she was killed, but declared she had left him early in the evening, several hours before she was injured.

AID OF BOARD ASKED TO BAN COTTON CROP

Senator George Urges U. S. Buying Conditioned on No 1932 Planting.

Vienna, Ga., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—United States Senator Walter F. George today telegraphed President Hoover, urging a special session of Congress to consider the "acute and widespread" cotton emergency, unless the Federal Farm Board takes immediate steps to purchase cotton of this year's crop and curtail production next year.

Senator George suggested in another telegram directed to the Farm Board that cotton of the 1931 crop be purchased for 12 cents a pound, 6 cents payable immediately and an additional 6 cents in October, 1932, to planters "who will agree not to plant, finance or permit to be planted to cotton any lands controlled by them in 1932."

Telegraphs Farm Board.

From his home here Senator George sent the following message to the Federal Farm Board:

"In perfect acute emergency let me urge the board to immediately announce that it pay 6 cents cash and issue certificates in like amount due October 1 next year for middling cotton grown and owned by actual planters who will agree not to plant, finance or permit to be planted to cotton any lands controled by them in 1932. I suggest 12 cents but urge consideration of principle on any fair basis."

Same Plan for Wheat.

In addition to explaining his suggestion in his telegram to the President, Senator George also told Mr. Hoover "the same principle can be applied to wheat. The emergency is acute and widespread and unless the board acts vigorously, earnestly urge a special session of Congress."

Senator George also telegraphed an explanation of his plan to Gov. Huey Long, of Louisiana, who several days ago advocated individual legislative action in the various cotton growing States to prevent "the growing of a single bale of cotton in 1932."

The Georgia senator pointed out that the Louisiana governor's plan would necessitate independent action by the several State Legislatures, while his plan could be made national in scope.

FARM BOARD WHEAT IS URGED FOR NEEDY

withheld from sale so it will be available immediately for relief purposes Mr. Milnor's message mentioned only live stock feed relief and the governor said he would suggest that sufficient grain also be held to supply seed for planting next spring.

Mr. McKelvie believes his proposal would require less than one-fifth of the 200,000,000 bushels, explaining the annual per capita consumption of wheat in this country is a little more than four bushels.

Last winter, at the suggestion of Mr. McKelve, the Farm Board passed a resolution authorizing the stabilization corporation to sell wheat for food to States and local agents of government on easy terms.

"This is as far as the board could legally go," he said.

The wheat would be available only to persons who are unable to pay for it or buy it on credit.

"The important thing," Mr. McKelvie said, "is that no one should want for bread in this country. This is the easiest way for the Government to cooperate."

He pointed out that wheat could be processed easily and cheaply in any part of the country, and that it even could be eaten for a food itself if necessary.

"The Federal Government will be obliged to join with cities, counties, States and agencies of voluntary relief in feeding millions of people this winter," he said.

"No one with access to plenty of wheat flour, milled wheat, whole wheat or bread is going to starve."

New Regime Plan Denied by Gandhi

Mahatma Has No Intention of Setting Up Parallel Rule, Letter Says.

Ahmedabad, India, Aug. 18 (A.P.). Mahatma Gandhi tonight issued a denial that he had any intention of setting himself up as the head of a government parallel to the government of India.

The denial was part of his final letter in his correspondence with Lord Willingdon, Viceroy of India, concerning the controversy which resulted in his remaining aloof from the impending round-table conference on Indian affairs in London. The letter was made public by Gandhi.

The letter set forth that the mahatma had asked, as a matter of right, for the establishment of a board of arbitration to pass on his allegations that the Delhi pact, between himself and the British authorities, had been violated by Britain. "But," the letter continued, "if you recall our conversation I never actually insisted on it."

CONGRESS MAY HEAR PLEA TO GIVE WHEAT

(Associated Press.)

The suggestion of Samuel R. McKelvie, former member of the Farm Board, that the board's wheat surplus be devoted to the relief of the needy, may be repeated in Congress next winter in the course of debate on unemployment.

The board controls more than 200,000,000 bushels which it acquired during a year and a half of attempted price stabilization at a cost of many millions of dollars. Its existence has been condemned as a depressing influence on market prices.

In the last Congress the proposal that a part of the board's huge store be given to drought sufferers and city needy was advanced several times in speeches in the Senate and House. A number of similar suggestions have come from other sources.

The board, however, is not empowered to give away or destroy any wheat or cotton. The agricultural marketing act charges it with making every effort to realize a profit from its stabilization operations. Efforts to amend the law may be made.

Foreign Lands Interested.

Sales to foreign governments have been under consideration for many months. The most recent negotiations were started by the Chinese government, seeking to relieve flood sufferers.

Mr. McKelvie made his suggestion today at Lincoln, Nebr. It was the first time that any member or former member of the board has proposed this means of removing the surplus.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Government's informal inquiry about wheat available for purchase on long term credit was referred both to the White House and the board by the State Department. The inquiry did not specify the amount desired or any terms.

President Hoover has been giving close attention to the agricultural situation this summer, particularly to some steps taken by the Farm Board. He called upon the board to announce a new sales policy in answer to demands from Southwestern growers that surplus wheat be held off the market. As a result, the board agreed to limit sales this year to 60,000,000 bushels, exclusive of sales to foreign governments.

Not Consulted on Cotton.

He also approved the proposal made by Ambassador Sackett, at Berlin, to the German government, that it purchase wheat and cotton from the board under liberal credit arrangements. The board rejected Germany's cotton offer. The White House said, however, the President was not consulted on the board's plan to destroy every third row of cotton in the South as a means of reducing supply and increasing prices.

George S. Milnor, of Chicago, president and general manager of the Grain Stabilization Corporation, visited the board's offices yesterday and held a long conference with Chairman Stone. An inquiry about disposing of wheat in China made by the China Famine Relief of New York City recently was referred to Milnor.

The Farm Board will be asked today by Senator Nye (Republican), North Dakota, to purchase some of the low-priced wheat, to be held for the drought-stricken farmers to use as seed next spring.

It is the belief of Senator Nye that wheat prices will be higher next spring, and he wants the farmers to be in a position to buy their seed from the low-priced crops now available.

Red Cross Aid Assured.

Assurance was given the North Dakota senator yesterday by John Barton Payne, chairman of the Red Cross, that this organization was prepared to go the limit in meeting needs in the drought-stricken area. Senator Nye pictured to him the "dire distress" prevailing in the Northwest.

The senator also will confer today with Secretary Hyde, who has just returned from a survey of the drought region.

In actively considering the Chinese government's inquiry regarding wheat, the Farm Board called in Stanley K. Hornbeck, chief of the Far Eastern division of the State Department. Mr. Hornbeck gave the board details of the flood and famine situation in China as reported by American consular agencies and information based on his personal knowledge of the country regarding the problem of distribution of wheat in the areas affected by the floods.

Hotel Robbers Obtain Loot Topping $20,000

St. Louis, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Three robbers looted the safe and 25 guests' lock boxes at the Kingsway Hotel here early today, taking $5,000 of the hotel's cash and $15,000 in jewelry from one box, besides an undetermined amount of valuables from others.

Hotel officials said the loss might run more than $50,000, many of the guests whose boxes were robbed being away on vacations. The night clerk and two bellboys were held up and tied while the trio rifled the safe and lock boxes.

LOCAL LABOR USED BY SEARS, ROEBUCK

Home Construction Policy Bars Imported Workers, Manager Declares.

E. R. Dibbs, general manager of the home construction division of Sears, Roebuck & Co. in the East, commenting on the building trades situation in Washington, said yesterday that it is a set policy of Sears, Roebuck & Co. to use only local labor in home construction, and that the supervisors of these jobs as well as the office personnel are local people, living and paying taxes in Washington and vicinity

"The home construction division of Sears, Roebuck & Co. makes no exception to the rules regarding the use of local labor and none is imported," Mr. Dibbs said.

"The term 'knock-down houses' is one which does not describe our houses. Our houses are standard in every respect, composed of stone, concrete, brick or frame, as desired by the customer. Conformity with the local building codes is the rule.

Says Plan Assists Bankers.

"Local bankers have not been asked to assist in the financing. Rather, a service has been offered to them, as in these days it so often happens that they are requested to make loans to customers who have for some time maintained good bank balances and have always been good credit risks for short-time loans. This matter of mortgage financing becomes embarrassing as banks must necessarily maintain a liquid cash position.

"This is one case where the 75 per cent fifteen-year loan financing plan can be of service to the banking organizations of Washington in that the bankers may refer their clients with a great degree of satisfaction and security to the plan of operation as established by Sears, Roebuck & Co. home construction division.

"Assuming that a million dollars in mortgage money is deposited in Washington by Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the construction of our homes, at least one-half million is spent in the purchase of local labor and local material supplies, thus producing more employment than might otherwise be in existence in the building field.

Money Kept in City.

"This service is equally available to contractors who have clients wishing to build but who under the present state of financing, find it impossible to secure mortgage money in Washington. Many local contractors are taking advantage of this service of Sears, Roebuck & Co.

"Money so placed in Washington naturally comes back into the stores of Washington and into other Washington enterprises. It is almost impossible to think of a Washington business which is not either directly or indirectly benefited by this influx of cash."

Mr. Dibbs said that union labor exclusively had been used in the construction of Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s store building on Bladensburg road and that a recent addition to the store was accomplished by the use of union labor. He also declared that the methods of Sears, Roebuck & Co. in employing labor are identical with those of other reputable contractors in the city of Washington.

Answers Union Charge.

Mr. Dibbs' statement came as an answer to charges made Monday night by Charles Young, secretary of the Washington Building Trades Council, at the Central Labor Union, in which it was said that Sears, Roebuck & Co. were to bring "knocked down" houses into Washington and assemble them by nonunion factory crews.

Any such attempt was condemned in a resolution yesterday by the Buy-in-Washington Council.

Associate of Suspects In Murder Case Held

Judge Robert E. Mattingly yesterday ordered Ralph Brown, Negro, charged with attempted robbery, held for action of the grand jury on a $2,000 bond.

Brown was a member of the quartet of youthful Negroes who attempted to rob Isadore Koblen, a storekeeper of 1356 South Capitol street, police testified, and when Koblen's wife came on the scene and screamed, the four left without obtaining anything. Brown's three companions later attempted to hold up and rob Mannie Solomon, taxicab driver, who was shot and killed. Brown, police testified, was not connected with the Solomon case.

DOLLAR AND DAWSON BACK U. S. LINES BID

New Joint Offer Submitted to Shipping Board by Chapman.

(Associated Press.)

A joint offer to operate the United States Lines under their present ownership was laid before the Shipping Board yesterday by Paul W. Chapman, president of the lines, and R. Stanley Dollar and Kenneth B. Dawson, Pacific Coast operators.

Sailings of the Leviathan would be reduced under the proposal, and the America and George Washington probably would be tied-up.

After a long conference with the operators, Chairman O'Connor announced that Mr. Chapman, "with adequate new backing" offered substantially to meet specifications laid down recently by the board.

"We received a proposition," Mr. O'Connor said. "The board will advise the International Mercantile Marine-Roosevelt lines of the proposal, and will consider the matter at another meeting."

Preference Indicated.

The board has already indicated, however, that preference would be given to Mr. Chapman and his associates, if a satisfactory arrangement could be worked out by these operators, who have millions invested and operate only American-flag vessels. The board will have a regular meeting today.

The Chapman interests sought assistance from the board several weeks ago. A committee then formulated specifications for bids, and United States Lines and I. M. M.-Roosevelt responded. Under the first proposal, Mr. Chapman sought to have the board repossess the Leviathan and allow the company to operate it.

The Shipping Board's specification required continued operation of the Leviathan, with seven round trips a year instead of its present seventeen, and a guaranty to complete construction of two vessels now being built for the North Atlantic trade.

Guarantee Adequate Capital.

It is understood the United States Lines offered to guarantee adequate operating capital to meet the board's requirements of continued operation of the President Harding and the President Roosevelt on present schedules. The board's specifications would require continuation of the American Merchant Lines with its five vessels.

Transfer of the Republic to the War Department for Army transport service between the mainland and the Philippine Islands already has been arranged. It is assumed that the America and George Washington under the proposed arrangement would be laid up.

The I. M. M. Roosevelt Lines previously offered to meet the specifications and provide about $3,000,000 for mortgages on the Leviathan, President Harding, President Roosevelt and American Merchant Lines vessels.

Death of 'Yama Yama Girl' Recalls Old Broadway Era

Bessie McCoy, Who Wed Richard Harding Davis, Passes Away in France; Rose to Fame From Chorus of "Three Twins."

New York, Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Mrs. Richard Harding Davis, whose life was as authentic a romance as any book ever written by her famous husband, is dead in France according to word received here today.

Tonight Broadway recalled her as the bright star of its night life in the early years of the twentieth century, perhaps even more noted than Davis, who was at the height of his brilliance in the period of their courtship and marriage.

Veteran actors remembered how a clown suit, a slow, shuffling dance and a catchy song she sang in the musical comedy "Three Twins" changed Bessie McCoy, chorus girl, into the "Yama Yama Girl."

It brought her into the circle of Broadway celebrities, made her a friend of a rising young actress named Ethel Barrymore, and caused Richard Harding Davis to fall in love with her. Night after night Davis, then 47 years old and famous as the author of "Soldiers of Fortune," "Captain Macklin," and some of the best dispatches that came out of the Spanish-American War, sat in the same front row seat in the theater where Miss McCoy sang "Yama Yama" in her husky voice and went into her lazy, graceful dance.

Met In a Restaurant.

He never met her until one evening when he strolled into Jim Churchill's restaurant and saw Frank Ward O'Malley sitting at a table with Miss McCoy. O'Malley, a fellow journalist, introduced them, and all tthree adjourned to a Tammany ball, where Davis and Miss McCoy were judges in a beauty contest.

By this time the "Yama Yama" song had attained something of the international popularity that later came the way of such things as "Dardanella" and "Yes, We Have No Bananas." Bessie McCoy was busy for the next year and a half saying no every time Davis proposed to her. He no longer sat in the front-row seat, but went backstage, leaned against a trunk and wooed the 24-year-old actress.

The marriage was at Greenwich, Conn., in July of 1912. Ethel Barrymore was matron of honor; Gouverneur Morris was best man. Instead of having a wedding reception, the Davises used the money to send 500 mothers from the slums and their children on a boat ride to Coney Island.

A child was born a year later and named Hope Harding Davis after the heroine of "Soldiers of Fortune."

Davis in War Zone.

Davis, ill, was at Liege in 1914 when the German army swept into Belgium. His war dispatches were among the most notable cabled to America. He was forced to return to this country in 1916, suffering from angina pectoris which was aggravated by his hardships in the war zone. Mrs. Davis found him dead one evening in the library of their home near a telephone from which he had just taken the receiver.

In 1921 Mrs. Davis returned to the stage briefly, appearing in a vaudeville act called "Castles of the Air." She then went back to retirement, living chiefly in France where her daughter was educated.

Only two weeks ago a trustee's accounting of the Davis estate, made in White Plains, N. Y., showed it had increased to $136,161 from $50,000 because motion picture companies had purchased many of the author's stories.

78th Annual Rockville Fair Draws Large Attendance

Children's Day Opens Event With Pony and Dog Shows and Wild West Rodeo Among Features; Event Continues Today and Tomorrow.

Pony races, a dog show and a pony show, as well as a wild west rodeo, and other features brought out large crowds of children and adults yesterday for the opening day of the 78th Annual Rockville Fair at the Rockville fairgrounds. The program was especially arranged with an eye to the children, for, in accordance with custom, yesterday was set aside as children's day and all under 14 years of age were admitted free.

Wrestling matches last night brought large crowds to the arena, constructed in front of the grand stand. Results of the pony races and wrestling matches will be found in the sports section.

Among the most interesting features of the fair were the 4-H Boys' and Girl's Clubs exhibits of cattle and swine. Attracted by a number of additional premiums offered by various organizations and individuals, the boys and girls brought exhibits which vied with the stock of their fathers.

Rodeo Is Attraction.

The dog show attracted many of the visitors to the fair yesterday, and the pony show was of special interest to the younger visitors.

The midway is larger than usual this year and is attracting crowds. The Wild West rodeo, which was staged between races yesterday, brought whoops of glee from the youngsters. This feature will be repeated this afternoon and tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night as part of the free entertainment provided by the fair association to enliven the program.

The second championship cat show of the Columbian Cat Fanciers of Washington will open today at the fair. Judging will start at noon, and this event is expected to be one of the big features of the fair. A flower show also will be held today. Much interest is being shown in the woman's handiwork exhibit.

Running races will start at 1 o'clock, with free acts and music between races. The night show will include the free acts, fireworks, music and other attractions, including the Wild West rodeo.

Premium awards announced yesterday are as follows:

FLEEING DRIVER DIES IN SECOND SMASHUP

away. Forrest and the Lowrys took out in pursuit.

As Hancock neared Quincy street, a few blocks away, his roadster ran into a fourth car and swung about sharply, throwing the driver to the street. Lowry, following close behind, was unable to stop his car in time and collided with the smaller machine, overturning it and pinning Hancock underneath.

At this point, according to the motorists, whose names were obtained by police, the three young women and the man who had been riding with Hancock, abandoned the roadster for a taxicab which drew up and were whisked away.

Police also were unable to locate the occupant or occupants of the machine into which Hancock drove head-on. When policemen from the Twelfth Precinct and the Rescue Squad arrived they found only the wrecked car.

A bottle of liquor was found in the wreckage of the machine in which the party of five had been riding, according to police.

Hancock was dead on arrival at Sibley Hospital, where he was taken in a passing car. He was said to have been unemployed and unmarried. He lived at 625 Seventh street northeast.

BUILDING PROGRAM DEFENDED BY HEATH

Private Architects Are Not Faster Than Federal Men, He Tells Critics.

Ferry K. Heath, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury in charge of the Government building program, yesterday charged that enemies of the administration are seeking to make political capital out of criticism of the execution of the building program.

Mr. Heath's charge was contained in a letter written to Louis La Beaume, of the American Institute of Architects, in the course of which the Assistant Secretary denied that he had criticized private architects as not as satisfactory as Government architects, but added that experience had shown that private architects were not faster or better workers than regular Government workers.

125 Private Architects Engaged.

"There have been 125 private architects engaged to design new Government buildings and 30 more will be employed soon, Mr. Heath said, adding that while private architects have been giving satisfactory service they "have not produced and are not producing faster than Government architects engaged on similar projects."

Mr. Heath referred to the fact that private architects generally were not familiar with the laws surrounding Government construction but said that the Administration, in carrying out the building program, had demonstrated the most sympathetic and liberal attitude toward private architects.

"In the face of this fact," Mr. Heath said, "articles have appeared in architectural magazines, statements have been made by members of the institute, members of Congress have been circulated by chapters of your organization and recently a statement appeared, made by a regional director, and all articles and statements I have read have been based on assumptions greatly at variance with the actual facts.

Fodder for Enemies.

"These articles and statements have been seized upon by political enemies of the administration as ammunition in their attempt to discredit any possible achievement and are not conducive to the encouragement of great efforts being put forth by the department to carry out the will of Congress."

Criticism of the manner in which the program is being carried out has been voiced on several occasions by members of the House and Senate who have protested that the work has been permitted to lag far behind the rate at which it had been expected it would be pushed. To this criticism Treasury officials replied that the work was going forward as rapidly as could be expected in view of the many legal steps involved in Government building.

Three Suits Filed Against Bus Line

Three residents of New York City yesterday filed suits here against the Black and White Sightseeing Co., Inc, of 1242 Twenty-fourth street northwest, for damages totaling $250,000, as the result of an accident that occurred on Fourteenth street near the Monument Grounds, August 19, 1930.

The largest amount is sought by Teresa Henne, of 511 West 184th street, New York City, who asks $200,000 for the alleged total loss of her left eye and partial loss of the right eye. Marie Henne, same address, sues for $25,000 because she sustained bruises about her body and also suffered an eye injury. She has been forced to wear glasses since the accident, she asserts, and in addition, two teeth were broken off.

John J. Henne, her husband, asked $25,000 for the loss of his wife's services and for expenses incident to the accident. The plaintiffs claim a bus of the sightseeing company struck an automobile in which they were passengers.

Auto Hurts Woman; Driver Held.

Miss Oneita McCarty, 35, 736 Twenty-second street northwest, suffered minor cuts and bruises yesterday when struck by an automobile at Eighteenth and E streets northwest. Operating without a District permit was charged to Raymond Nelson, 33, colored, who was driving the machine. He gave 1719 H street northwest as his address.

BISHOP RAPS LAXITY OF MODERN MORALS

K. of C. May Mark Fiftieth Anniversary by Supreme Council Session Here.

French Lick, Ind., Aug. 18 (A.P.). The Rt. Rev. Joseph Chartrand, Bishop of Indianapolis, today sounded a warning against the laxity of modern morals and against greed in the sermon at field mass, which inaugurated the forty-ninth annual convention of the Supreme Council of Knights of Columbus. The Rt. Rev. John A. Floersh, Bishop of Louisville, was celebrant of the mass.

Actual business began this afternoon. Martin J. Carmody, of Grand Rapids, Mich., supreme knight, presented his report on the year's activities and other officers gave statistical information concerning membership, finances and the insurance features of the order.

The supreme knight proposed that the fiftieth anniversary of the order be celebrated by holding the next supreme council session in Washington. The convention is expected, however, to receive an invitation to meet next year in Los Angeles. Another business session will be held tomorrow at which officers will be elected. The convention is also to be addressed by Mgr. James H. Ryan, of Washington, president of the Catholic University of America.

REVISE REPARATIONS, WIGGIN GROUP SAYS

tatives of the world's ten most powerful creditor nations, was taken here as a momentous and significant call for an early downward revision of the whole fabric of reparations and war debt settlements.

The groups of international bankers, who are Germany's short-term creditors, and who have been meeting simultaneously with the Wiggin committee, reached an agreement providing for a six months' extension of existing short-term credits totaling about $1,200,000,000.

These foreign creditors also reported that they had reached an accord with Germany under which the immediate relief of their Reichsbank balances shall be only partial, and that the remainder shall be released gradually during the time of the agreement.

Plans Threatened by Dispute.

Riechsbank balances held by foreign creditors amount to approximately $175,000,000, and it was the attempt to reach an agreement on these which developed a sharp controversy that threatened for a while to nullify plans for extending existing short-term credits.

The Wiggin committee found that the total of Germany's foreign obligations amounted to about 7,500,000,000 reichsmarks (about $1,875,000,000).

(Associated Press.)

Administration officials declined to comment last night on the announcement of the Wiggin committee of bankers in Basel, Switzerland, that European political disputes must be settled and Germany's reparations payments revised Time will be required for a study of the text of the recommendations before anything can be done here, they said.

Several days ago, Secretary Stimson, who is abroad, sent to the State Department here categoric denials of persistent newspaper reports that he was discussing a war debt revision plan with Premier MacDonald of England.

Among the many plans President Hoover and his advisers considered before the announcement of a year's moratorium on war debts and reparations payments was one for a general reexamination of the capacity of governments to pay their obligations. Administration officials emphasized, however, that such a program had not been the subject of international discussions.

Some authorities last night expressed the opinion that President Hoover would take advantage of Stimson's study of the whole European situation on the Secretary's present trip and would discuss the economic and political necessities with the Cabinet member upon his return.

Jugoslavians Reject Hoover Debt Holiday

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Aug. 18 (A.P.). The government announced in an official communique tonight that it had carefully examined the Hoover moratorium plan, with the help of experts, and that it could not accept it.

Radio to Make Battleship Member of 'Ghost Fleet'

Navy Department Installation on Utah Will Permit Its Operation Without Any Crew on Board; Vessel Will Be Put in Service as Target.

(United Press.)

The mysterious flying Dutchman ghost ship of legend, which old-time sailors claim patrols the seven seas without benefit of crew, will soon have a modern rival in the battleship Utah, now being equipped with complete long distance radio control.

The Navy Department, in making public plans for the conversion of the Utah into a radio controlled target, announced yesterday that the old battleship will be operated by a number of receiving sets in various parts of the warship. The controlling signals will be sent from a specially equipped destroyer.

The signals from the destroyer will direct the Utah's course and speed, lay down smoke screens and otherwise maneuver the vessel.

Navy radio experts maintain that when the installation is complete, the Utah will be equipped to maneuver in ever way as though she were carrying a crew of several hundred men. No radio control for the guns will be installed, however.

The speed of the "ghost ship" will be controlled by radio signals which will open and close electric switches, open and close throttle valves, and regulate the supply of oil entering the boilers. Another set of switches will control the rudder, moving it from left to right as desired. An automatic steering device, known as the "iron mike," recently perfected for merchant ships, will hold the course once it is set by radio waves.

The Utah, when the work of conversion now under way at the Norfolk Navy Yard is complete, will be put into immediate use as a target vessel. The object of the attacking vessels, officers said, will be to hit the target without doing permanent injury to such an expensive piece of mechanism.

One radio-controlled target, the destroyer Stoddert, is already in use on the Pacific Coast, and has been repeatedly used in maneuvers.

Two additional destroyers will also be shortly equipped with radio control for use as target vessels, and will join the Stoddert and Utah as a part of the "ghost fleet."

PLANE FALL DROWNS SCHNEIDER CUP FLIER

Lieut. G. L. Brinton, Member of British Team, Loses Life in Test.

Calshot, England, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Lieut. G. L. Brinton, British Schneider Cup speed pilot, was drowned today when his crack S-6 plane, one of the ships which set records in the Schneider Cup races in 1929, plunged into the sea.

Lieut. Brinton was trapped in the cockpit and drowned before he could be released.

The accident happened as dusk fell over the race course in the Solent. The plane had remained moored to its pontoons during the afternoon, awaiting improvement in the weather.

Late in the day a fellow officer went aloft and gave a signal to Lieut. Brinton that conditions were all right. Lieut. Brinton, 24 years old, the youngest of the British speed group, jumped into a launch and was taken out to the plane, which he was to fly for the first time.

The plane skimmed over the water, attaining a speed of perhaps 100 miles an hour, and for a brief second it seemed to rise into the air. Then it fell back, sending up a glittering cascade of water, and bounded about 40 feet into the air before diving headlong into the sea.

Launches scurried to its aid and the shocked watchers on the shore 2½ miles away saw the plane's floats, which were torn from the wings, come to the surface.

Fellow officers dived under the plane and found Lieut. Brinton's body still strapped in the cockpit, but it was impossible to remove it until the plane was towed ashore.

Lieut. Brinton was the only unmarried man in the high-speed flight group and had gained his place on the team only last Monday. He was one of the four upon whom Great Britain was depending to set a new world's speed record on September 12, when this year's Schneider Cup races are run against France and Italy.

The wrecked machine was the one in which the late Flight Lieut. Waghorn won last year's Schneider Cup Trophy at a speed of more than 328 miles an hour. It was slightly altered since then, and Squadron Leader Orlebar succeeded in flying it at a rate of 357 miles an hour.

HARLAN PROSECUTOR FAVORS VENUE SHIFT

Mining County Too Feverish for Fair Trials, He Says; Defense Fights Move.

Harlan, Ky., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Harlan County coal field, sick with the general economic depression, as Circuit Judge D. C. Jones described it in charging the grand jury, was pictured by W. A. Brock, Commonwealth's attorney, today as too feverish to permit the trials here of men facing death in the electric chair for slayings in the long-drawn-out labor controversy.

In a motion seeking change of venue for 15 of the 30 men indicted for murder as the result of a clash at Evarts May 5, in which four died, Brock said there would be danger of mob violence if their trials are held here. There is too much feeling, he said, for an impartial jury to be drawn.

The motions were set for hearing next Monday and M. F. Hall, of defense counsel, said the defense would oppose the transfer of the cases but would demand that Judge Jones disqualify himself on the ground that he is connected with coal operators.

Jones Upheld Last Spring.

The State Court of Appeals upheld Judge Jones last spring when he declined to disqualify himself in the labor class.

William M. Burnett, charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff Jess Pace shortly before the Evarts clash, was due to go on trial tomorrow, but Hall said unless some previous agreement is made the defense would seek a continuance until the outcome of Monday's arguments on the other motions.

William M. Gibbs, a miner, arrested in today's raids, was bound over to the grand jury in $5,000 appearance bond and $5,000 peace bond on charges of criminal syndicalism.

Officers testified they found several rifles and about 3,000 rounds of ammunition at his place and evidence that he was a member of the Communist Party and I. W. W.

Sedition Probe Advised.

The coal fields have been seething with discontent since a 10 per cent wage cut last February. George S. Ward, secretary of the Harlan Coal Operators Association, estimated 7,500 miners are at work now but none of the 47 companies is operating full time. Estimates as to the number of men out of work vary. Miners' leaders claim 2,000 have been out of work since May and are on the verge of starvation.

Agents of the National Miners Union, which Commonwealth's Attorney Brock declared is communistic and is believed to be a branch of the I. W. W., have been actively seeking to organize the miners.

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 18.—Under the protection of State police, deputy sheriffs and mine guards, three more mining plants of this section resumed operations today on the open shop basis, despite efforts of several hundred pickets at each place to dissuade the men from going to work. No disorder was reported, although seven men were reported in jail at Philippi for trespassing at Browntown.

Senator Believed Dying, Blonde Associate Held

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Fetchingly attired in a red and brown ensemble, Ruth Jayne Cramner, 27-year-old blonde, charged with shooting State Senator Roy T. Yates, of New Jersey, was lodged in the Harlem women's prison today to await the outcome of the senator's wound.

She was ordered held 48 hours without bail when the detective who signed a short affidavit charging her with felonious assault told Magistrate Ford that Senator Yates was likely to die. Earlier, hospital physicians had reported the senator's condition satisfactory and said he would recover unless peritonitis developed.

Mrs. J. H. Tibbitts In Gold Star Party

Mother of Ensign Killed in Seaplane Flight to Visit France.

Mrs. James H. Tibbitts, of 3341 Eighteenth street northwest, a Gold Star Mother of this city, left yesterday for New York where she will join a group of other Gold Star Mothers, who will sail on the S. S. Roosevelt for a pilgrimage to the battlefields of France.

Mrs. Tibbitts' son, Ensign Russell D. Tibbitts, U. S. N., who was lost at sea off Cape May, N. J., in 1918, while piloting a seaplane on duty guarding against German submarines, was well known in Washington. He graduated from Central High School here and later attended Dartmouth College and George Washington University.

Mothers of service men lost at sea and whose bodies have never been found are allowed the visit to France under the act of Congress of several years ago.

Mrs. Lizzie K. Coffman Dies.

Announcement was received in Alexandria yesterday of the death of Mrs. Lizzie Koontz Coffman, at her home at Stanley, Va. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Howard Arnold and Mrs. Frank B. Howard, of Alexandria; and two sons, Nelson and Harry Koontz, of Detroit, Mich., formerly of Alexandria.

MRS. BELL CASE LA FOLLETTE, WIDOW OF SENATOR, DIES HERE

would probably come yesterday afternoon. It did, and one of the leaders of Progressivism was lost.

It ended a career that was one essentially of advice and counsel to her husband, "Fighting Bob," the accredited founder of Progressiveism. From the time of his first fight for a district attorney's office to his contest for the presidency, she was constantly with him, fighting for his principles and advising in his campaigns.

When her husband was first elected to Congress Mrs. La Follette brought her two babies to the Capital, and served him as clerk and secretary. She was the first woman graduate of the University of Wisconsin Law School.

In addition to campaigning for her husband, she wrote for magazines, campaigned for woman suffrage and developed theories of education which she applied to her own children. Friends compare the family to a clan, all fighting for a common cause, against any and all comers.

In one instance, when a young lawyer, her husband filed a brief with the State Supreme Court which drew praise from the chief justice. "That was written by an unknown but very able member of our bar, altogether the brainiest member of our family, Mrs. La Follette," her husband replied.

In later years Mrs. La Follette continued to campaign actively for woman suffrage. In 1917 she supported her husband's famous fight against the declaration of war, and held her head high when others heaped contumely upon her.

At the death of her husband in 1925 she came to Washington with young "Bob," to make a home for him and to write a biography of her husband.

Mrs. La Follete's death came somewhat unexpectedly. Earlier in the day her physician said she was "resting easily" and that hope was felt for her recovery. Her age weighed against her, and she failed to recover from the shock of the operation.

The body will be taken to the old family home at Madison, Wis., on the shores of Lake Mendota, leaving the Capital at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the Capital Limited. She will be buried beside her husband in Forest Hill Cemetery. Senator La Follette, Gov. La Follette and Mrs. Sucher, one of her daughters, and Mr. Sucher will accompany the body. Another daughter is now in Chicago, and will join the funeral party Thursday morning.

Funeral arrangements will be made in Madison.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

Mrs. Anna D. Knapp Dies While in Paris

Woman, 77, Was Visiting Son, Employed by Film Concern.

Funeral services will be held sometime next week for Mrs. Anna D. Knapp, of 504 Aspen street northwest, who died in Paris last Saturday at the age of 77. Mrs. Knapp, who had been a resident of Washington for the past ten years, left on May 22 to visit her son, Ralph, who is with the Paris office of a motion-picture concern.

According to her daughter, Mrs. Bessie K. Pierce, with whom she made her home. Mrs. Knapp had been in good health until about two weeks ago. Mrs. Pierce has not received word of what caused her mother's death. Mrs. Knapp was the widow of I. N. Knapp, who died here about a year ago. The dead woman was born in Glastonbury, Conn.

In addition to Mrs. Pierce and the son in Paris, Mrs. Knapp is survived by three other sons. They are Arthur, of Woodbury Heights, N. J.; Walter, of Lancaster, Pa., and Paul, of Waynesboro, Va.

Joseph A. Raymon Dies.

Joseph A. Raymon, aged 67 years, of Livermore Falls, Maine, died on Monday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. F. Vevina, 308 Queen street, Alexandria, where he was visiting, and the body will be sent today to his late home for burial.

ROOSEVELT AND TAMMANY.

Tammany Hall's ordeal by fire is attracting widespread attention. The exposure of graft and corruption in the government of the largest American city makes a strong appeal to the interest of citizens in all parts of the country. In the last few days, however, a dramatic element has been added to the investigation. Gov. Roosevelt has widened the breach between himself and Tammany by calling a special session of the State Legislature to clothe the investigating committee with additional power to bring out the full truth. Tammany is smarting with resentment. Gov. Roosevelt's chances for the Democratic presidential nomination are at stake.

Tammany has maneuvered itself into an indefensible position. Judge Seabury, head of the investigating committee, has uncovered enough evidence to convince him that "corruption in the government of New York City is widespread," and that the sinister forces who are profiting at the expense of taxpayers are being protected by higher officials. Yet Tammany maintains that the regime it sponsors is quite innocent and guileless. Every step taken by the investigating committee to get to the bottom of this bog of corruption meets with stubborn opposition from the Tiger.

John F. Curry, Tammany boss, admitted on the witness stand that he telephoned to judges of the appellate division of the New York Supreme Court in an effort to influence their decision in the case of a Tammanyite who was in contempt of court for refusing to answer questions in the investigation. With naivete characteristic of Tammany leaders, Mr. Curry sought to justify his action. Apparently it is a regular practice for him to use the power of Tammany in trying to debauch justice with political favoritism.

Instead of facing the issue, leaders of Tammany are trying to set up barriers against impending disaster. They hail the special session of the Legislature with menacing gestures. Gov. Roosevelt will ask the Legislature to authorize the Hofstadter committee to grant immunity to witnesses who will not tell the whole truth without that guarantee against self-incrimination.

Tammany has given every indication that it will fight the proposal. Failing in that, Tammany will demand an inquiry into reports of corruption in up-State cities.

When the committee moves to open up the dark recesses of New York's corruption Mr. Curry cries, "persecution." But he is foremost among those demanding honest government for other New York cities. By their obsequious and evasive conduct the leaders of the Wigwam have forfeited their right to any consideration from Gov. Roosevelt or the public.

The most interesting question arising out of this controversy both inside and outside of New York is what effect it will have on Gov. Roosevelt's strength as a presidential aspirant. Had the governor condoned the tactics of the New York Democratic machine he could hardly have been considered a strong contender. Thus far he has assumed the attitude of a referee, insisting on a fair investigation when the issue is placed squarely before him. But he has not broken relations with Tammany, and apparently has hopes that such a rupture can be avoided.

Foes of Tammany are calling upon Gov. Roosevelt to denounce it and rely upon the prestige that such a move would give him in other States. A middling course may be more disastrous to the governor's aspirations than would be the alienation of Tammany's support. The public will watch eagerly to see how Gov. Roosevelt handles this situation.

THE WHEAT FLOOD.

Overabundant cotton has been filling the public eye for a few days, drawing attention away from the problem of wheat and other agricultural products. But acute distress is indicated by reports that Western farmers will burn corn because it is a cheaper fuel than coal, and that Eastern farmers, rather than market peaches at 10 cents a bushel, will feed them to their hogs.

The Department of Agriculture, having completed its compilation of statistics up to the beginning of the fiscal year, announces that the wheat carry-over has increased nearly 10 per cent. The total of the estimated carry-over is 319,059,000 bushels as compared with 290,530,000 bushels a year ago, or an increase of 28,529,000 bushels. The comparison is not exact, owing to a variation in accounting, but there is no question that the surplus has been augmented and that the supply far exceeds the demand in both foreign and domestic markets. Stocks of old-crop wheat on farms and in interior mills and elevators are smaller than a year ago, but commercial stocks of domestic wheat are larger by nearly 100,000,000 bushels.

Canada, too, has on hand a sizable stock of wheat that could be purchased at a reasonable price. Figures issued by the government at the end of the crop year show that on July 31 the Dominion had a carry-over of 140,179,945 bushels, an increase of about 30,000,000 bushels over last year. An interesting indication in the Canadian report is the announcement that the January estimate of last year's wheat crop was too low by about 12,000,000 bushels as the amount of wheat used on farms for feeding had been greatly underestimated. It is to be hoped that a similar correction may be necessary in connection with the American crop later on.

Farmers all over the world must face the fact that they are producing more than consumers demand. Agricultural surpluses are by no means peculiar to the United States. Every great farming country is staggering under surplus crops. Schemes to dispose of superabundant products in other countries are of no avail. Some progress may be made by extending markets in the Orient and other undeveloped regions, but it must necessarily be slow. In the meantime there is only one remedy that can be effective. The supply must be reduced to conform more closely to the demand. Farmers can look for nothing but distress until they give heed to inexorable economic law.

CREDIT FOR GERMANY.

Another vital complementary step in the debt postponement plan to aid Germany has just been completed at Basel. The committee of the Bank of International Settlements investigating Germany's credit needs has approved the extension of credits amounting to approximately $1,250,000,000, for six months. The report, drawn up by Sir Walter Layton for the committee headed by Albert H. Wiggin, of New York, and approved by the central banks of France and England, the Federal Reserve Bank and the Bank of International Settlements, assures to Germany the half-year respite on this big loan so essential for the rehabilitation of her disordered finances.

Under certain conditions, yet to be worked out fully, the report favors granting further credits to Germany. The date of these new credits and their extent will depend somewhat upon the more formal decisions yet to be completed on the extension of credits in marks held abroad against Germany and measures that will be taken to stop withdrawal of capital from Germany. With regard to the foreign credits, it is believed that an understanding has been reached, permitting them to remain unchanged until the middle of November.

It becomes increasingly evident that France is perturbed over the reports of Germany's expanded plans for international parleys and understandings. Growing cordiality in France toward a Franco-German rapprochement, with closer economic and political as well as financial relations, and the rumors of a five-power combination occasioned much surprise. In some quarters it is taken as approval of the Briand scheme of European cooperation. But how a combination of German, French, British and Russian interests could be worked out at present is difficult to see.

Still further complications would arise in connection with Germany's idea of a five-power accord in which the United States would join. If the American moratorium proposal has given Germany the exaggerated impression that this country desires or is willing to become intimately associated with a European economic or trade pact she is due to receive a rude awakening.

SOME PLUS SIGNS.

Under ordinary conditions this season of the year is full of promise. Farmers have the assurance of good crops that give them an income of approximately $10,000,000,000, most of which is redistributed in trade. The fruit of the soil is tangible evidence of prosperity. Manufacturing is stimulated to meet winter needs and to supply farmers with the many necessities which they demand in return for their produce.

It is distressing to realize that in spite of the fact that grain crops are good this year, fruit trees are yielding abundantly, a plethora of oil and coal is being produced and copper is piling up, the utilization of large parts of this wealth is still an unsolved problem. Nevertheless, there are encouraging signs on the horizon.

Expert outlooks see indications of better fall business. Steel and automobile production is still low. Shoe manufacturers generally are busy, some factories reporting the best business in ten years. Clothing, woolens and cotton textiles show more activity, and conservative trade agencies say that indications of a seasonal upturn in trade are multiplying.

Exports and imports for the second quarter of this year, in comparison with last year, both record approximate declines of 36 per cent. This is the showing in values. Owing to lower prices for American goods exported, however, the physical volume was only 20 per cent less and the volume of imports only 16 per cent less. This would indicate that the value of foreign goods had declined 4 per cent more than the value of American products. The United States still has a favorable trade balance amounting to $67,000,000.

Government agencies and industrial and agricultural organizations are not supinely idle in this situation. If the strenuous efforts being made to curb present production in some lines, and to assure substantial reductions for next year in others, are successful, prompt improvement in current prices should result. It is not a hopeless situation by any means.

SAVIOR OF THE SOUTH.

Huey P. Long, who is Governor of Louisiana, United States senator-elect from that State and an aspirant to the White House, has stepped into the role of savior of the South. All that he asks is that governors and legislators below the Mason and Dixon line follow his directions, and prosperity will be restored to the South in two weeks. Three governors have already declined his benevolence, but Huey is still going ahead confident that his plan will have "overwhelming support."

Instead of plowing under every third row of cotton, says Gov. Long, let all cotton production be suspended in 1932. Let the States enact laws prohibiting farmers from harvesting a single bale of cotton. In this way, says he, prices will be raised so that farmers will receive as much for the present crop as they would for two years' crops if nature is allowed to take its course. Farmers could have a delightful year of idleness. When it was all over they could join in a gigantic jubilee celebration in honor of Gov. Long.

It is apparent that this stroke of genius has not been properly appraised. Gov. Long claims only that his plan would bring temporary salvation to the South. That is due to his modesty. His great project has in it the seeds of a new era for the South in which it would be troubled no more by a cotton surplus, even though the electorate should see fit at some future date to relieve Gov. Long of his responsibilities as director of Southern prosperity.

America is not the only country that produces cotton. Egypt, Soviet Russia and many other countries would rejoice if, in response to Gov. Long's edicts, the South suspended production for a year. Their own acreage could be doubled with promise of fair prices by reason of the prospective shortage. Export markets that have heretofore been supplied by the United States, which is the greatest cotton-producing country in the world, would fall into their laps. They are already encroaching upon the markets for American cotton. Huey Long's plan would mean capitulation of their most formidable competitor.

When the long rest for American planters came to an end in the spring of 1933 they would find that other countries had gobbled up their markets and there would be no need of going back to the cultivation of cotton. The problem of a cotton surplus would be solved forever. Farmers who once toiled in the sun could spend their time playing harps and composing verses to their benefactor, Huey P. Long, until relieved of all earthly burdens by starvation.

WORLD'S TELEPHONE SERVICE.

From the Bell Telephone Quarterly.

"I was 21 when I made the first telephone for Bell, and I am still going strong." Thus spoke Dr. Thomas H. Watson before a gathering of telephone men in Indianapolis in the early part of May of this year. Watson constructed the first telephone in 1875. The latest world survey of telephone growth and development indicates that there were, on January 1, 1930, 34,526,629 telephones throughout the world. The rapidity of the growth of this means of communication, which has developed into a world-wide network of interconnected instruments during the lifetime of one man, can hardly be appreciated even by telephone people themselves. In fact, the telephone had reached its quasi-majority of 21 years of useful service before 80 per cent of the present Bell System workers were born.

This recent survey, conducted by the chief statistician's division of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., indicates that 1,962,409 instruments were added to the telephone networks throughout the world during the year 1929. This increase appears more significant when it is recalled that there were fewer than this number of telephones in the world at the beginning of the present century. Of the total number of telephones in the world on January 1, 1930, 20,068,023, or more than 58 per cent, were located in the United States; more than 99 per cent of these telephones were either owned by or connected to the Bell System. On the same date Europe had 10,035,580 telephones, representing 29 per cent of the total in the world. The remaining 13 per cent of the world's telephones were distributed among the countries of Asia, Africa, Oceania, South America and North America other than the United States.

No change occurred during 1929 in the relative standing of the principal countries as regards telephone development. The United States still headed the roll of nations with 16.4 telephones per 100 population. Canada with 14.2, New Zealand with 10.3 and Denmark with 9.6 telephones per 100 population were, respectively, second, third and fourth. Although Denmark ranked fourth in relative telephone development among the countries of the world, it was first in rank among the European countries. The next highest European country was Sweden, with 8.3 telephones per hundred population, or about one-half the relative development in the United States. Norway and Switzerland, each with 6.7 telephones per hundred population, ranked next. The chief European countries, Germany, Great Britain and France, were, however, distinctly below the leaders in telephone development, having 5.4, 4.1 and 2.5 telephones per 100 population, respectively. Of the South American countries, Argentina, with 2.5 telephones per 100 population, had by far the greatest telephone density. About 72 per cent of all the telephones in Asia were in Japan, although this island empire had no more than 1.4 telephones for each 100 inhabitants.

Telephone service abroad is largely confined to large cities. London, for example, had 675,783 telephones on March 31, 1930, constituting about 36 per cent of all the telephones in Great Britain. Paris, with 370,308 telephones, had 35 per cent of all the instruments in France. The four principal cities of Berlin, Hamburg-Altona, Leipzig and Munich had about one-fourth of all the telephones in Germany. On the other hand, New York, with 1,811,410 telephones, had about 9 per cent, and Chicago, with 987,891 telephones, had less than 5 per cent of all the telephones in the United States. All cities in the United States with a population of 200,000 or more had an average development of 24 telephones for each 100 inhabitants.

In telephone development among large cities San Francisco heads the list with 40.8 telephones per 100 population, followed by Washington (32.7), Denver (31.3) and Seattle (31.3). Stockholm, by far the best developed of the larger European cities, had 30.5 telephones per 100 population and ranks fifth. Paris is nineteenth, Berlin twentieth and London twenty-seventh, with developments of 12.5, 11.9 and 8.7 telephones per 100 population, respectively.

PENALIZING PEP.

Because the Census Bureau at Washington must drop 5,800 temporary 1930 census employes within the next year, officials in charge recently took occasion to dismiss fourteen of the personnel, including several young women, who left their desks for a smoke outside the bureau building. A no-smoking ordinance in force in the bureau was one of the Government's war-time strictures, says the Buffalo Courier-Express.

Perhaps it would be unreasonable to find fault with this disciplinary expedient of the Government—overshadowed as it is with the necessity of economic retrenchment; but one can not help wondering if the type of employe who takes solace in a periodic cigarette is not exactly the type of bureau worker needed in busy Washington. What is needed is not so much employes who stick to their desks—especially in humid weather—but fast workers, the type that feels the need of constant stimulation. Where there's smoke, there is fire. Not much else exists in the Nation's Sleepy Hollow to inspire accelerated performance of duty, outside of cigarettes.

A Rule That Doesn't Work Both Ways Is Made to Protect a Rascal

By ROBERT QUILLEN

DID you feel a glow of pride when a young American flew alone across the Atlantic and received the plaudits of Europe?

Do you feel a personal shame when American officials visiting in Europe say and do things that are uncouth, ill-bred and ridiculous?

If you are thus conscious of your citizenship and jealous of your country's honor, you will be interested in the plight of certain English families that trusted American honesty.

Years ago certain States had need of money and issued bonds. These bonds, like others of their kind, were promises to pay. They were guaranteed by the honor of the States. In effect, they were mortgages on all real property within the States concerned.

Some of the bonds were bought by citizens of England.

They proved a worthless investment.

The States repudiated them.

Officially and without mincing of words, the States said to the bondholders: "We shall never pay back the money we borrowed."

Here was deliberate dishonesty that shamed and disgraced every American concerned.

As a result of it, many English families were forced into bankruptcy. Some of them died in want, still trying vainly to get back what was theirs.

"But," you say, "it isn't my disgrace, for it wasn't my State that borrowed the money."

You are mistaken.

Your Government at Washington holds that a nation is responsible for any wrong done by one of its states.

When a political division of Brazil wronged American citizens, the State Department said to the Brazilian government: "You are the power with which we make treaties; the only power we recognize. We hold you responsible for anything done by one of your provinces."

When a similar incident occurred in Nicaragua, the Government at Washington, speaking for you, said: "The national government of Nicaragua must make amends for any wrong done by one of its units."

And when the present rulers of Russia repudiated the debts of the czar's government, Washington refused to recognize or deal with a government so frankly dishonorable, saying in effect: "Political changes can't affect a mortgage. Those who assume the powers of government must assume debts as well. A change of management doesn't wipe out a firm's obligations."

Clearly and unmistakably your Government says: "A nation must right the wrongs of a state—if the wrong is done to Americans."

Thus your honor is pledged to pay those bonds.

Are you content with a national honor that demands payment of others while inventing legal tricks to defraud those who lend money to Americans?

No Embargo on Oil.

Detroit News.

An appeal by oil producers of Kansas and the Southwest for an embargo on oil imports has been denied by President Hoover, who, fortified by an opinion from Attorney General Mitchell, says he has no authority under the circumstances. Congress in its last session also refused to place an embargo on oil imports.

In the first five months of 1931 we imported 21,530,000 barrels of crude oil and exported 9,300,000 barrels. At the same time we imported 16,800,000 barrels of refined oil, and exported 39,600,000 barrels. Taking the figures together, we are exporting more oil than we are importing. Our domestic requirements for five months are about 400,000,000 barrels of crude. The net imports of crude oil are therefore about 3 per cent of our needs—scarcely enough, it would seem, to make an appreciable difference in the domestic price.

These figures justify the opinion of Attorney General Mitchell that the present low price of oil is due to overproduction in this country. If that overproduction is depressing prices below a profitable point, it is useless to argue that cutting off imports is going to do any good. Because of freight rates it is highly doubtful if any of the imported oil gets farther inland than the coast refineries, where it is refined for shipment abroad.

The remedy for overproduction is curtailment of production. The Texas Legislature is considering a plan for regulating production. Gov. Murray of Oklahoma is employing another scheme, and a number of Oklahoma producers have shut down voluntarily, to wait until prices are more favorable. Low prices usually cure overproduction eventually. A tariff on oil would have no effect whatsoever, except to hasten the exhaustion of our domestic oil deposits, and the gouging of the consumer.

Ignoring Proprieties.

Baltimore Sun.

Some years ago, when a representative from a Southern State was getting ready to advocate the construction of a Federal highway from Washington to Mount Vernon, his first act of preparation was to sell some land which he owned in the area to be served by the proposed road. The sale, which alienated a substantial property, sure to increase in value as a result of the road's construction, was the act of a legislator imbued with a sound sense of the proprieties, who did not want his course in Congress colored by the suspicion that he was trying to enhance the value of his own holdings.

It is a pity Representative Fred A. Britten, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, is not inspired by a similar regard for the proprieties. Mr. Britten has not only been instrumental in getting the Navy Department to send the Scouting Fleet to a remote harbor on Montauk Point, where Mr. Britten has financial interests, but in answer to criticism of his course he announces that he intends to work to bring the fleet back every year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Old Pop Bottle Analyzes Bunts and Concludes That Griffmen Have Been Bitten by a Fearsome Bug.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Now that any chance of the Griffs heading off the Athletics is merely mathematical, as they say, I hope I will be permitted to remark that, in my opinion, our club has done too much bunting this year.

The bunt is important in baseball strategy, and the sacrifice hit in its proper time and place is the delight of us grand-stand managers. No player who is a poor bunter should have a place in the batting line-up of a pennant contender. But for all that, there is such a thing as its being overworked.

Of course it is not always possible to get the right slant on a game's strategy from the grand stand, but why, in the first inning of any game, the well-tried sluggers of the line-up should forget their extra-base hits and try to bunt their way to first is more than I have ever been able to make out. Except where the sacrifice is plainly called for, what are sluggers paid for if not to slug the ball?

Heinie Manush, for instance, is one of the best in the business to lay down a bunt when needed. But it makes me sick to see such a husky, free-swinging lad prefer a dinky infield roller when the stands as one fan are praying for an extra-base hit to break up a ball game. And that goes for the Griffs as a whole.

There may be such a thing as hitless wonders once in a lifetime, but as a usual thing pennants are won by two-baggers and triples, not to mention home runs. If, as I suspect, our club has been bit by the bunt bug, thereby losing a game now and then which would have kept them in the running, let us hope that they will bid it good-by next year and take a chance on healthy cuts at the ball in the pinches, with fewer runners left on the bases than has been the case this season. Coeducation Is Said to Defeat the Purpose of Schools; Correspondent Denounces Smoking and Drinking Among Students.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The coeducational system is another of those "noble experiments" that has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. It is high time to return to the old, tried, true system of segregating young men and young women in high schools and colleges. It is high time to consign drinking and petting parties to the hades from which they came. It is high time to call a halt to a system of education that opens private smoking rooms for young women where the bloom of maiden innocence and modesty is besmirched in an atmosphere of vile cigarette smoke. If the American people had but a slight realization of the ruinous effects of drinking and smoking upon the morals of young women, they would rise up as one American giant and bury coeducation deep in the sulphurous pit from which it came.

The passionate period of youth is a perilous time even when the surest safeguards are thrown about our sons and daughters. We who have passed through that veritable valley of peril know its temptations and pitfalls. Coeducation adds flame to fire by throwing young men and young women together at the most impressionable sex period of life.

Under the system of coeducation, the chief purpose of education is defeated; for how can young people study books when allurements of sex are all about them? Well-educated men and women, strong men and women, are not produced by coeducation. CHARLES HOOPER.

Correspondent Thinks Phohibition Has Proved to Be Good Business.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The National Industrial Conference Board, which is one of the recognized economic authorities, shows that in 1914 the total wealth of the Nation was $188,600,000,000 and in 1929 this had increased to $361,800,000,000—a gain of 88 per cent.

JUST FOLKS

THOSE DUTY CALLS.

When bill collectors call on me
I know that duty sends them.
They do not come my books to see
Though I'm a man who lends them.
Nor do they come to chat a while
Or ask me how I'm feeling,
Their visit, howsoe'er they smile,
Is just a business dealing.

A plumber makes a duty call
When pipes of ours are leaking.
He may not like the house at all,
Our friendship he's not seeking.
He comes because he's sent to see
What's wrong and to correct it,
And leaves without good-by to me,
What's more, I don't expect it.

But friendship sometimes take a way
Which sadly mars its beauty,
How often man is heard to say:
"Because it is my duty
I'm going to call on Jim or Joe
And say a word to cheer him,
I really think I ought to go
Because I'm living near him."

These social duty calls I hate
With bitter detestation.
I want no one to swing my gate
To quit an obligation.
Alone I'd rather [illegible] thumbs
Than give a moment's thought to
The proudest visitor who comes
Because he feels he ought to.

AWARD BY COUNTY HELD TO BE LEGAL

Montgomery Group Advised Furniture Contract Is Properly Made.

9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md.
Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

The law firm of Whiteford & Cissell, counsel to the Montgomery County Commissioners, yesterday advised the commissioners that in its opinion the contract for furniture for the new courthouse at Rockville was properly awarded.

The county commissioners had received a letter from Marcus A. Tregor, Baltimore attorney, representing the Macey Co., of Grand Rapids, Mich., low bidders in the recent opening of bids, threatening suit in equity court if the county commissioners failed to rescind their action and award the contract to the firm he represents.

Counsel to the commissioners held that the Macey Company had failed to comply with the requirements advertised in the call for bids, in that they did not present a certificate of a surety company to bind the company to performance of the contract; did not submit an itemized statement showing elevator number, type number, manufacturers' pattern number and unit net price on each item and displayed no samples for inspection by the county commissioners, as required in the advertisement.

The contract was awarded to the Dulaney-Verney Co., of Baltimore, at a price which was about $2,000 more than the bid of the Grand Rapids company. The commissioners declared yesterday that they feel that they have acted for the best interests of the county in awarding the contract to the Baltimore firm.

The county commissioners yesterday authorized the county engineer, Harry B. Shaw, to advertise for bids on the construction of the streets surrounding the courthouse square in Rockville, in accordance with the plans adopted at the meeting of the prior week by the county commissioners.

The commissioners also authorized the allocation of $6,000 from the general construction bond fund for the improvement of the road from Germantown toward Whiteland, a distance of one mile, the work to be done under the supervision of the county engineer.

Berry E. Clark, clerk to the commissioners, was authorized to advertise for bids on 500 carloads of various types of crushed stone for general construction repair work on the county roads. W. Frank Ricketts, commissioner from the Rockville district, was appointed a member of the special purchasing committee for the courthouse and jail. This committee also includes State's Attorney Stedman Prescott, Berry E. Clark and Sheriff Richard H. Lansdale.

Advertisements for bids on an addition refunding bond issue of $100,000 for the suburban areas was authorized. The bond issue is for improvements in the suburban districts and is to be refunded by front foot benefit taxes on the property benefited.

Bids on the construction of a second unit to the Chevy Chase Elementary School were opened yesterday by the county board of education at Rockville. The bids were considered too high by the members of the board, who indicated that all would be rejected and new bids called for.

Capitol Heights Committees Named

Members of Town Council Appointed After Resignation of Barrett.

Eight new committees of the Capitol Heights town council have been appointed by Mayor Selig Posin following the resignation of Councilmen George Finger and George Smith from the road committee. Another reason given for the rearrangement was the election of a new councilman to take the place of James Barrett, who resigned.

The new assignments are: Road committee—Harry Evans, chairman; Wallace Rollins and John Nairn. Building committee—Frank Lawrence, chairman; George Smith and George Finger. Sanitary committee—Smith, chairman; Rollins and Evans. Electric light committee—Rollins, chairman; Evans and Nairn. Jail committee—Nairn, chairman; Finger and Smith. Ordinance committee—Finger, chairman; Smith and Lawrence. Finance committee—Smith, chairman; Rollins and Nairn. Election committee—Evans, chairman, Finger and Smith.

Alexandria Zoning Body Named.

Judge William P. Woolls, of the corporation court in Alexandria, yesterday announced the personnel of the local zoning board of appeals as follows: J. Owen Lynch, Charles W. King, Francis H. Fannon, Albert A. Smoot and George K. Bender. The members of the board will shortly hold a meeting to organize and will also hear complaints against the present zoning ordinance.

36th Candidate Announces Entry in Arlington Contest

W. E. Wolff to Seek One of Five Vacancies to Be Open.

William E. Wolff, a resident of Arlington County for 15 years, yesterday filed notice of his intention to become a candidate for one of the five seats on the new county board, which will replace the present county board of supervisors, with three members on January 1. Mr. Wolff is the thirty-sixth person to announce his candidacy for one of the posts.

Mr. Wolff states his friends induced him to become a candidate because of his experience in promotion of sanitation, sewer installation and water distribution. The nature of his business affords him practical knowledge in these fields, it is held. He was an active worker for the change in the form of county government. His reasons for favoring the change, he said, was to enable the board to expand county funds on public improvements, where they are most needed, to benefit residents of the outlaying areas as well as the thickly populated sections and so public improvements can be treated as county-wide matters.

Mr. Wolff is a former service man, and during the World War was responsible for expenditure of vast sums for war supplies. He is a graduate of a technical high school, has completed a five-year course in sanitary engineering and has attended numerous sanitary institutes in neighboring States. He is an active member of the American Society of Engineers.

HOOVER TO RECEIVE ALEXANDRIA GROUP

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Representative Howard Worth Smith will head the delegation from the George Washington Birthday Association, this city, to visit President Hoover at 11:45 o'clock this morning and extend an invitation from that organization for the President to come to Alexandria on the afternoon of February 22 next, when a mammoth celebration will be staged in commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Others in the party will include Mayor Edmund F. Ticer, William Albert Smoot, president of the George Washington Birthday Association; Harry D. Kirk, past president and chairman of the advisory committee; J. William May, treasurer; Orlando H. Kirk, Harry B. Caton, John H. Trimyer and Frederick J. Paff, past presidents, and Martin E. Greene, secretary.

The delegation will leave the George Mason Hotel at 11 a. m.

The committee in charge of the celebration is already formulating plans for the year's activities, centering on the birthday of Washington as the main event in the city and planning for the most elaborate celebration ever staged.

Russell A. Wilkinson, aged 65 years, died suddenly at an early hour yesterday morning at his home, 214 West Bellefonte avenue. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Blanche M. Wilkerson; a son, T. Aubrey Wilkinson, and a daughter, Miss Mary Louise Wilkinson. The deceased was employed in the disbursing office of the Southern Railway in Washington. He was a deacon in the First Baptist Church, Alexandria, and a member of Alexandria Council No. 627, Royal Arcanum.

The Alexandria Hospital authorities stated last night that the colored man, Sam Lipscomb, 1308 Madison street, who was brought to that institution Monday night after a two-day exposure on a bank by the railroad tracks in the rear of the 1400 block Duke street, suffering from paralysis, is improving.

The man had a stroke of paralysis and lay for the two days in a spot passed by many who did not notice him, and on Monday evening Thomas Padgett, of South Henry street, noticed the man in passing and called the police. The fire department ambulance in charge of the rescue squad carried the man to the hospital, where he was treated by Dr. M. D. Delaney.

Test for Postal File Clerk.

COWS OF C. T. RICE WIN FAIRFAX HONOR

Report of Tester for Month Shows 136 of 868 Animals Dry.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The report of Tester C. F. Muddiman, of the Fairfax County Dairy Herd Improvement Association, No. 2, for the last month shows that 868 cows were tested of which 136 were dry and 8 sold to the butcher. The average production of the association was 571 pounds of milk and 23.04 pounds of butterfat.

The highest herd honor was won by a herd of 31 mixed cows belonging to C. T. Rice, of Oakton, president of the Virginia Guernsey Breeders Association. This herd made an average production of 915.1 pounds of milk and 36.67 pounds of butterfat. The herd of Mrs. S. Uhfelder, of McLean, which won first the previous month, received second honors with an average production of 778.6 pounds of milk and 35.58 pounds of butterfat.

The highest individual cow record for the month was won by a cow owned by the Sunset Hills Farm, which produced 1,500 pounds of milk and 65.6 pounds of butterfat. Honors were also won by a Sunset Hills Farm cow with an average production of 1,137 pounds of milk and 60.2 pounds of butterfat. Second honors were won by a cow owned by Wheeler & Crippen, of Colvin Run, which produced 1,897 pounds of milk and 64.9 pounds of butterfat. The third cow was owned by B. F. Salisbury, of Merrifield, producing 1,116 pounds of milk and 63.6 pounds of butterfat. Kidwell Brothers owned the fourth cow, producing 1,286 pounds of milk and 60.4 pounds of butterfat.

Other honor roll cows producing an average of 50 or more pounds of butterfat were owned as follows: Sunset Hills Farm, 5; Wheeler and Crippen, 4; C. T. Rice, 5; B. F. Salisbury, 2, and T. B. Mason, J. C. Storm, Kidwell brothers and Kenilworth Farm, 1 each.

The Colvin Run Citizens Association will meet this evening in the Community Hall on the Alexandria-Leesburg pike at Colvin Run. Final arrangements will be made for the community carnival to be held during the later part of next week. President Joseph A. Wheeler has announced that arrangements had been made for a baseball game, old-time fiddling contest and baby show.

The annual lawn festival of the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church at Vienna will be held this evening on the church lawn, on the corner of Church and Park streets. Mrs. W. W. Louk has been named general chairman assisted by Mrs. Stephen C. Stuntz. In case of inclement weather the party will be held in the church manse.

Church Membership Plea Basis for Divorce Action

An application for church membership indirectly led to the divorce courts yesterday, when Mrs. Leone Curbow filed suit for an absolute decree against her husband, Roy W. Curbow, in Marlboro, Md.

Mrs. Curbow discovered her husband's alleged infidelity when he attempted to gain church membership for a woman posing as his wife, she charged in her bill of complaint.

According to the bill, which was filed through Attorney Leroy Pumphrey, Mrs. Curbow's husband took a job in Baltimore in 1928. For about a year, the woman says, he visited her each week-end. These visits finally became less frequent, and he told her that he was "too tired" to make the trip so often.

About this time the pastor of Mrs. Curbow's church is said to have received a letter from the pastor of a Baltimore church, asking that the membership of "Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Curbow" be transferred to the Baltimore institution. Mrs. Curbow heard of the letter and went to Baltimore to investigate, according to the bill.

She visited her husband's apartment and found him there with another woman, the bill states. Mrs. Curbow claims that the other woman and her husband were living together as man and wife. At the time of Mrs. Curbow's visit to the apartment, the pastor of the Baltimore church and his wife were having dinner with Mr. Curbow and the other woman, according to the petition.

The Curbows were married in Savannah, Ga., in 1917, but have no children. In addition to petitioning for a divorce, Mrs. Curbow asks that her maiden name of Barber be restored to her.

Distant Fire Companies To Be Here Labor Day

Fire companies from Buffalo, N. Y.; Poughkeepsie, N. Y.; Washington, N. C., McKees Rocks, Pa., Kutstown, Pa., Salem, N. J., and Bayonne, N. J., are among those from out of town who have accepted an invitation to participate in the annual Labor Day parade to be held here, it was announced yesterday.

Sergt. A. J. Bargagni, director and marshal of the parade, said that companies from nine States had accepted the invitation extended by Washington. About 20 bands and 25 drum corps are expected to take part, and the Marine Band from Quantico is expected to escort the governors of several States who will also be here for the occasion.

Indian Creek Company Asserts It Is Solvent

Denying that they are insolvent and declaring that they are paying all their debts and have ample funds to cover all their obligations, the Indian Creek Co. yesterday filed an answer to a petition for receivership which was instituted by Morris & Eckles Co., of Baltimore.

The Indian Creek Co. declares that it is paying its debt to the Baltimore concern at the rate of $25 per week, and says that it has retired $4,600 worth of debts since the first of the year. The company, which operates a laundry in Branchville, has a bonded indebtedness of $28,000, and other debts of $15,000, the answer says. The plant is valued at $60,000, the paper filed yesterday says.

Gaming Charge Holds Man.

One man was charged with permitting gaming and five others were booked as Government witnesses yesterday when Sergt. R. A. Johnson led a raid at 746 Ninth street northwest. Dean Kennedy, 28, 920 F street northwest, was released in $500 bond on the gaming charge.

FORT MYER SERVICE UNIT TO BE CHANGED

The replacement of the Service Detachment at Fort Myer, Va., with the Machine Gun Troop of the Tenth United States Cavalry, and several other shifts which will swell the ranks of the colored cavalry group, famed for its World War record, and one of the first commands of Gen. John J. Pershing, was announced yesterday by the Third Corps Area headquarters in Baltimore.

The changes will result in the shifts of approximately 350 men from service detachments at the Military Academy at West Point, the Command and General Staff School at Forth Leavenworth and Fort Huachuca, Ariz., to become units of the Tenth Cavalry, although the regiment itself will be split into several groups at various posts.

Under the transfer orders, all officers on duty with the Tenth Cavalry will stand relieved from that assignment upon the beginning of the movement within the near future, and the commanding general of the Third Corps Area will initiate the change under the War Department orders, sending Headquarters Troop and the First Squadron to Fort Leavenworth, Kans.; the Second Squadron to the Military Academy, and the Machine Gun Troop to Fort Myer.

No armament, animals or organization equipment will be taken to the new stations. Officers now assigned to the Service Departments at the various posts will take over command of the Tenth Cavalry units upon arrival at the posts.

Miss Thomas To Marry in Sunny Italy

In the Old World setting of the Island of Capri, at the famous Villa San Michaele, the summer residence of the United States Ambassador to Rome and Mrs. John W. Garrett, Miss Rosamund Whitredge Thomas will wed Count Edward Oppersdorff, the marriage taking place the last of this month.

News of the engagement, announced recently in Paris, has just been received in this country. Miss Thomas is a cousin of Ambassador Garrett, and on learning of her plans the genial chief of the American Diplomatic Mission in Rome offered his palatial villa on the Island of Capri for the wedding. The Ambassador and Mrs. Garrett have been established there since last month, having left Rome shortly after the departure of the Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson, who were much feted by the Garretts during their visit to the Italian capital. Ambassador and Mrs. Garrett will come to this country the first part of next month on a vacation, which they will spend at their charming estate, Evergreen House, in the Green Spring Valley, Baltimore. Ambassador Garrett is in quest of a complete rest, and will avoid all social functions during his sojourn in "the States."

Mr. Victor Podoski Off for Trip North.

The First Secretary of the Polish Embassy, Mr. Victor Podoski, accompanied by his brother, Mr. Joseph Podoski, who has been visiting him in Washington, left yesterday by motor to make a series of visits in the North. He will return to the Capital the last of this month.

They will first go to West Point, N. Y., thence to Pittsfield, Mass., to be guests of Mr. N. C. Walker. They will visit Miss Mildred Tytus and Miss Victoria Tytus at their summer home in Tyringham, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Breckinridge, at their home in Maine, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kent Legare, in Narragansett Pier. They will go to Camden, Me.; New Grafton, and Williamstown, Miss., before returning to Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Demarest Lloyd, who have been spending the summer at their home on the North Shore, have gone to Bar Harbor to spend several weeks.

The newly appointed Chilean Ambassador, Senor Cruchaga, will arrive in New York August 26 preparatory to coming to Washington to assume the duties of his post.

Senor Manuel Durand, chief economic adviser to the Argentine Embassy, accompanied by Senora Durand and their son, will sail for Europe August 26. Senor Durand has been promoted to the office of consul at Marseille. En route they will stop in Paris to visit Senor Le Breton, former Argentine Ambassador to Washington, who owns a large estate on the outskirts of the French capital.

Mrs. O'Brian Today Sails for Bermuda.

Mrs. John Lord O'Brian, wife of the Assistant to the Attorney General, who has been spending the summer at their home in Buffalo, will sail today from New York for Bermuda, where she will spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason Ramey have returned to their Paris apartment, after a trip through Switzerland and a visit to the Ville d'Este, on Lake Como. Mr. and Mrs. Remey will return to Washington in the late fall to occupy the former's house on Massachusetts avenue, to which an addition is being made during the absence of its owner. Before her marriage last month in Paris, Mrs. Remey was Mrs. Karl D. Klemm, of Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur Hinckley have leased the house at 2220 Wyoming avenue owned by Mrs. Harry A. Kite. They will take possession early in September. Mr. and Mrs. Hinckley have been residing at 2029 F street. The latter, before her marriage, was Miss Helen Robinson, daughter of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Theodore Douglas Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel C. Roper have returned to their home on Woodland drive, after a vacation spent at Bar Harbor and Poland Springs, Me.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford R. Allen, jr., who formerly lived in Washington, have returned here from Lebanon, Tenn., where they have been for a year or two, and are making their home on Broad Branch road.

Maj. John C. H. Lee and Mrs. Lee, with their small son, are at the Shoreham, where they have taken an apartment for the season. Maj. Lee is stationed at the Army War College.

Representatives Leonidas C. Dyer entertained at a dinner dance on the Shoreham Terrace last evening.

Hellespont Is Conquered in Five Hours; She Failed Last Year.

Hand in hand go the modern maid and the goal of attainment and the most recent example is the feat of Miss Anita Grew, daughter of United States Ambassador to Turkey and Mrs. Joseph C. Grew, who Tuesday swam the Hellespont with all the ease of Leander of old. In five hours the 22-year-old daughter of the American envoy finished the difficult course of 19 miles of the Bosphorus Straits from the Black Sea to the Sea of Marmora, a stunt she tried last year but failed to negotiate because of adverse winds and a choppy sea.

During the interim of last year's attempt and the accomplishment on Tuesday Miss Grew had been in constant training. In a small boat the ambassador and two friends followed the young woman, playing music on a phonograph and occasionally feeding her hot chocolate.

On the opposite shore, near the famous Banders Tower where the Bosphorous enters the Sea of Marmora, Mrs. Grew and other friends awaited the girl swimmer. She used the breast stroke throughout the distance.

Admiral and Mrs. Bristol Are at Narragansett.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Mark L. Bristol, who have spent some time in the North, are the guests of Mrs. Irving Chase Hall at her summer home, Miramar, at Narragansett, R. I.

Mr. Charles T. Hohenthal, assistant trade commissioner of the American Embassy in Madrid, is at the Powhatan.

Mrs. W. Harry Brown, who has been at Bar Harbor for the summer, has arrived at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., to attend the racing.

Gen. Robert Lee Bullard, retired, and Mrs. Bullard have left New York for the Lake Placid Club, where they will spend several weeks.

Arriving today in New York after vacations abroad are the German Ambassador, Herr von Prittwitz, and Mrs. C J. W. Torr, wife of the Second Secretary of the British Embassy.

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Weaver are spending a short time in Atlantic City, where they are staying at the Chalfonte-Haddon Hall.

Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Robert C. Davis, who have been in Digby, Nova Scotia, are in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Salmon, jr., the latter before her marriage Miss Virginia Peters, are now at Saratoga Springs, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Salmon, sr.

Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, who returned recently from an extended stay in Paris, will go soon to Bass Rocks, Mass., where he will be the guest of Mrs. Jacob Leander Loose, of Washington and Kansas City. Maj. and Mrs. Parker W. West will also go to Bass Rocks this week to visit Mrs. Loose.

Mrs. J. G. Parker, of Huntington, W. Va., has arrived in Washington for an indefinite visit, and is staying at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Miss Strother Becomes Bride Of Mr. Posey

Announcement of Marriage in Chevy Chase Made by Father.

Mr. Mason White Strother announces the marriage of his daughter, Miss Virginia Strother, to Mr. Marion Winfield Posey on August 8 in Chevy Chase, Md., at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Charles Jones. The Rev. Lee Hout, great-uncle of the bride, officiated.

The bride wore a beautiful flesh chiffon gown with a large picture hat and accessories to match. Her only jewelry was a necklace of her grandmother's, the late Mrs. Dora Hout, of Warrenton, Va. She carried a shower bouquet of mixed flowers in pastel shades. Miss Helen Doyle, of Washington, was the only attendant. She wore nile green chiffon and accessories to match.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mrs. Strother, of Warrenton. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. Conrad Posey and Mrs. Posey, of La Plata, Md.

The Assistant Naval Attache of the Italian Embassy and Nobile Orietta Figarolo di Conti di Gropello left yesterday on a motor trip through eastern Canada. They will be absent about three weeks.

Col. Frank E. Webb and Mrs. Webb have returned to their apartment at the Woodley Park Towers. They have been on a trip which included Atlantic City, the Eastern Shore of Maryland, and the Eastern Shore of Virginia.

Mrs. Frederick T. F. Johnson and Miss Fulton left yesterday to spend ten days in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Barbara Salmon to Wed on September 3.

Having set the date of the marriage of their daughter for September 3, Mr. and Mrs. David Alden Salmon, of 3223 Klingle road, announce the engagement of Miss Barbara Augusta Salmon to Mr. Clement Walter Gerson. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Salmon is a graduate of Connecticut College for Women. Her father is chief of the Division of Communications and Records in the Department of State.

Mr. Gerson is the son of Mrs. Annette R. Gerson and the late Mr. Walter Heron Gerson, of London. He is a graduate of the Tunbridge School and of the University of London.

Miss Brundage Is Married to Dr. Mueller

Wedding Solemnized in Elizabeth Somers Chapel.

The wedding of Miss Mary Jeannette Brundage, daughter of Mrs. D. Earle Brundage, and Dr. Herbert V. Mueller took place yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in Elizabeth Somers Memorial Chapel, Dr. Lucius C. Clark, chancellor of American University, officiating.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her cousin, Dr. John Earl Walker, wore a gown of ivory satin fashioned on princess lines with a long train. Her veil, which was caught to the hair in cap fashion, was of old lace and she carried pink roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. John Earl Walker, matron of honor, wore a frock of pink point d'esprit and carried a bouquet of pink roses and delphinium. The other attendants, Miss Phoebe Sue Brundage, sister of the bride, and Miss Riley Collette Moore, had frocks of Kate Greenway style in hydrangea shades of blue and pink and carried old-fashioned bouquets.

Prof. Ernst Correll, of American University, was the best man. The ushers were Mr. Gustav Adolf Zindler, of Berlin and New York; Dr. Wilhelm Tannenberg, of Berlin and Washington; Mr. George B. Martin and Robert S. Brundage, young brother of the bride.

A reception was held after the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Walker, 3321 Rowland place. Dr. and Mrs. Mueller left afterward for New York and will sail today to Germany, where they will visit relatives and friends of Dr. Mueller. The bride's traveling costume is of blue tweed with brown accessories.

They will make their home at 1733 Newton street, Washington. The bride, who is a student at American University, attended London University and also attended school in Lausanne, Switzerland.

Maj. Thomas J. Frailey, national vice president of the Alpha Chi Rho Fraternity, has returned to his home at 1728 Church street, from Harrisburg, Pa., where he completed the organization of an Alpha Chi Rho club.

PLANTING LILIES.

LILIES should be planted as soon as you can secure the bulbs in the fall. You know the growth is always stronger than it is where the bulbs are planted in the spring. Remember that the lilies suffer from exposure to air.

The bulbs should be planted from 3 to 8 inches deep depending on the variety you are planting. There are some lilies that produce roots from the top as well as the base of the bulbs. The speciosum requires to be set 8 inches deep on this account. Then the madonna lily and a few others which produce no roots from the stems must be set only 3 inches deep. We are told to transplant madonna lilies in August, and all other varieties later.

You should always, when planting lilies, place the bulbs on a bed of sand. This prevents a collection of moisture about the bulbs and prevents, in a measure at least, any injury from worms while the bulbs are becoming established.

As a rule lilies like a rich soil. Never allow the manure, even in well-rotted form, to come into direct contact with the bulbs. Some of our best authorities prefer using bonemeal with the soil and using manure only as a mulch, letting the rains carry the nutritive properties down to the feeding roots rather than letting the manure touch the bulbs.

If you purchased your bulbs too late for fall planting did you know that you could pot them and nearly bury the pots in the ground until spring? Well, this can be done. When spring arrives all you have to do is to remove the lilies and plant them in your garden.

Always choose a place for lilies where they may remain undisturbed for many years, as they do not take kindly to change.

As a rule lilies do best in a perennial border. When planted in a bed by themselves they must be kept mulched. The manner of growth of the lily is peculiar. It sets its bulbs deep in the ground, and sending up a flower stem throws out lateral roots from this near the surface of the soil to brace its stalk more firmly and help it withstand the force of wind. Now if they are planted where there is a lack of some shade these lateral roots are likely to become injured.

What Today Means to You

"LEO."

IF August 19 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m., from p. m. to 6:45 p. m., and 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 9 a. m., and 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m.

Prospects from a material standpoint are not encouraging, from the astrological omens for August 19. The depression, sense of nervous exhaustion and futility, experienced during the day, will disappear after 9 p. m., and life will once more seem worth living.

An over-sensitive nature will make life difficult for the child born on this August 19. It will lack "push," and will need considerable moral support to encourage it on to achievement. It will be affectionate, and will wilt under harsh treatment. A pleasing manner will endear it to one and all.

Born on August 19, you have considerable fire in your nature. You are not in the least aggresive or pugnacious, but your aliveness, vigor and enthusiasm are quickly sensed. You have intellect allied to temperament. Your emotions are not so harnessed as to kill romanticism and sentiments. Life itself, not a mimicry of life, satisfies you.

You are fond of show and ceremony and proud of your own attainments and accomplishments. With people, you are taken in by external appearances too much, to be a reliable judge of real character. Not of a suspicious nature, you are loath to look for vicious traits in others. You are extremely loyal to your friends and stick up for them through thick and thin. You are more than a fair weather friend, and are a real solace and help in time of need.

You do not exhibit any marked talents, but you can turn an apt hand to a number of things, and win success. You enter into things with a winning attitude of mind, and failures do not knock you out, or keep you down. A certain amount of physical labor or exercise is essential to one of your temperament—your energy needs to be used up. In money matters you are cautious and calculating, without being stingy. You do not intend to be caught unprepared when your rainy days arrive.

Successful people born August 19:

Fred Stone, actor.
Winifred Sackville Stoner, jr., author.
Bernard M. Baruch, capitalist.
Elsie Ferguson, actress.

Dare INTERPRETS the MODE

New York, Aug. 18.

OHO—so we think we're so clever, do we, with our adaptation of the little second-Empire hats? We will run around and pat ourselves on the back and congratulate ourselves on our brilliance in recognizing the style possibilities of these hats, will we?

Wel-l-l-l, let me quote from a recent magazine, the sad news that puts us very definitely, though unrepentantly, back in our places! Here's what the article says: "And so the fashionable woman in the fall of 1931 congratulates herself upon her astuteness in the new hat situation, does she? And does the lady realize that she is sponsoring for the third time with all her pretty might and main a fashion that was revived in the Victorian era, which is, after all, saying a mouthful? The Victorian era, my children, which has been spurned by you with contempt as being the Age of All Things Terrible, is divided into the early Victorian, the mid-Victorian and the late Victorian periods. And each and every one of these had their own particular feminine flurry in cute little, romantic little Second Empire hats.

"They went further than you did, too. When they were tired of birds on their hats, they put birds and nests, and after the excitement of bird life and worn off they turned to bows, which proved so intriguing that they even turned to streamers which they tied in large and jaunty bows beneath their chins, double or otherwise.

"Alas, poor ladies of 1931! Don't you bow yet to the inevitable truth that there's nothing new under the sun?"

Pouff—what care we? We have discovered a way to display our charms in a new light, and even though woman of every generation has made the same discovery about the same era exactly in hat wear we KNOW that our own adaptation, being loveliest is best!

* * * *

What's the best thing for afternoon wear these late summer days and for early autumn? You know the answer, my deahs, if you've read your own Dah-ray's column carefully. Black Satin! And you know, too, that the way the black satin is made up is what makes it so stunning. The dress I illustrate today, for instance, from Agnes-Drecoll, in its restrained and chic gracefulness, owes its success and its wearability to the cleverly incrusted hips, and the circular peplum as well as to the shining black satin. There's a simulated bolero on the bodice, and the sleeves are very plain and tight. The narrow black satin belt has a tiny marcasite buckle.

* * * *

If you can wear a peplum, being the proud possessor of nice slim hips, now's the time to do it. And whatever your figure, do see that your autumn clothes have plain and close-fitting sleeves.

* * * *

A hat that tilts is necessary these days, but if the hat tilts as precariously as the little black satin one I have sketched today, it accepts gratefully the snug anchorage of the jaunty lace bandana which fulfills its double function of "anchor" and decoration charmingly!

* * * *

You're apt to be most awfully fooled if you don't know just what's what in the Fashion French world! And you certainly can't appreciate the importance of "nervures" and "godets" and things like that if you don't know what they mean. And if someone asked you if you liked absinthe, would you be shocked and murmur that you'd never contracted the habit, or would you know that the absinthe being talked about was a color? Wel-l-l-l, maybe you don't know all these things now, but just as soon as you send off your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Post you'll not only know what they mean, but you'll be able to pronounce them as if you were a born Parisienne!

Of special interest in Dare's weekly fashion letter which appears in The Sunday Post.

FRANCES M'DONALD

A Matter of Heredity.

DEAR FRANCES McDONALD—Please do not discard this request, for it is important to my happiness. I am only married a few months, and already wondering. My husband seems not to care for the ways I have been taught to observe. If things embarrass me that is nothing to him. Last Sunday we were refused a table in a restaurant due to his refusal to wear a coat. This happened before, one evening when four of us were out. Can you imagine my humiliation? The other couple never came near us again.

Now he is more determined than ever to go without a coat. If we go calling I beg him, but it is no use. Every one all dolled up and he without a coat. What can people think? How can I make him consider me a little and my feelings as we are politely told that "gentlemen wear coats here." DISGUSTED BRIDE.

Well, now, let's see. You would not expect to change the color of this lad's hair just because you really always wanted a man with hair of a different shade—would you? Yet the ideas a man has as to the fitness of things are as much a part of him, as much himself as the color of his hair, and a lot more important! A man has blue eyes and red hair because he inherited those things. His ideas about the social amenities, good taste and good manners are whatever he inherited Later environment matters little. I know a man who had four years at college, but is still just a hopeless boor. He knows that men rise to greet a woman, he knows that a man helps a woman into a car. But he does not do these things. To him they are affectations to which he will not be a party. Simply because he never saw his father help his mother into a car and therefore believes these are new-fangled ideas—since they are new to him. His father reasoned that any woman who could do a family wash could take care of herself His son feels the same. Father and son are both good citizens. But any girl accustomed to the ways of men who have been bred to observation of the graces of living would be rash indeed to cast her lot with that son. He loves a woman whose father was a courtly gentleman, and whose mother was the recipient of those courtesies that courtly gentlemen bestow upon their wives. He cannot comprehend the repugnance his ill manners arouse in the girl. Nor can she comprehend his abysmal brutishness. They will never marry, but thousands as far apart in thought and heredity do marry and then proceed to fly at each other's throats.

You married the man who asked you, rather than the man you should have had. You were brought up in one circle, this man in another. His ways are not your ways. But to him to change his ways would be a reflection upon his parents! There is little that you can do And the less said the better. If he is not convinced by the fact that neither of you would be admitted to any first-class restaurant, and if he is not influenced by such a fact, or moved to spare your feelings, there is little hope that anything could penetrate the armor of his insensibility.

Women have surrendered their citizenship for marriage, you must surrender your right to mingle with those to whom the social graces are something more than empty form. I sympathize with your embarrassment, but cannot tell you how you can change the color of a man's eyes or his inherited attitude toward woman and the deference that is her due.

Professor in California Given Langmuir Prize

(Associated Press.)

Award of the A. C. Langmuir $1,000 prize for chemical research to Prof. Linus Pauling, of the California Institute of Technology was announced yesterday by the American Chemical Society.

It will be given Prof. Pauling at the eighty-second meeting of the society in Buffalo, on September 2. Prof. Pauling, who is only 30 years of age, was given the award for his work on the quanium theory of the dielectric constant of gases, atomic and molecular structure and other chemical problems.

State Opens New Cave.

Harrisburg, Pa (U.P.).—A new natural cave was opened in Pennsylvania this summer, to bring the State total to 12. The latest addition to the State's caves is the Hi-way-may Cave, on the Willian Penn highway, four miles west of Huntingdon.

Beet Growers Seeking Sugar Clearing House

(Associated Press.)

Officials of the National Beet Growers Association were in Washington yesterday to confer with Farm Board members on a proposed clearing house for the sale and distribution of beet and cane sugar. The board may be asked to assist in financing the marketing of those commodities.

Those who called at the board's offices were Ralph Clark, of Greeley, Colo., president; Charles M. Kearney, member of the executive committee, and L. H. Larwill, counsel. The association was formed last summer, but has not yet begun active operations.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

THE STUFF THAT GAMES ARE MADE OF.

EVERY Bridge player knows that making of games quite often rests on some action of the adversaries. An unwise choice of a lead or the inadvisable return of a suit frequently spells the difference between a made contract and a lost one.

Opening leads with weak hands are generally matters of particular difficulty. It is a hard choice that the senior adversary faces when he has to make a selection of a lead when all are bad. In these conditions, leading from cards in sequence—that is, such combinations as 10, 9, 8, when partner has done nothing to suggest a better lead, is generally considered the course best calculated to preserve the trick-taking possibilities of the Defending Hands. Under these conditions, at best, the burden of the lead is an evil, and who can blame a player if instead of choosing the lesser evil, he unwittingly selects the greater?

In a team Duplicate match in New York City recently, in which some of the strongest combinations participated in preparation for the Summer Congress of the American Bridge League, the hand below presented to many teams questions of particular difficulty, both as regards the bidding and the choice of an Opening lead.

Both sides were vulnerable; South was the Dealer.

	♠ K 9 5 4 3 ♥ 7 ♦ 10 9 4 ♣ 10 9 8 5
♠ 7 6 2 ♥ A K J 9 8 6 ♦ 2 ♣ A J 7	N W E S	♠ A J 8 ♥ 10 2 ♦ K J 6 5 3 ♣ Q 4 2
	♠ Q 10 ♥ Q 5 4 3 ♦ A Q 8 7 ♣ K 6 3

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass(1)	1♥	Pass	2♦(2)
Pass(3)	3♥(4)	Pass	4♥(5)
Dbl.(6)	Pass	Pass	Rdbl.(7)
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—If North and South were not vulnerable, South would have an opening bid of one diamond. On account, however, of the lack of playing tricks it is a better pass vulnerable.

2—With a bidding partner and passing opponents, East has a hand of very considerable strength and an alternative bid might have been two notrump, but the showing of the biddable suit generally will bring better results. Game at notrump can be made on the hand, although the play is not particularly easy through a lack of entries in the East hand.

3—South was well satisfied now with his original pass and was anxious that East and West reach a game declaration at hearts or diamonds The latter, of course, is highly improbable.

5—If West is strong enough to bid three hearts showing a very strong trump suit, East reasoned his hand justified a Raise to game.

6—South's Double is bad. Its success is predicated on a lead which he has no assurance will be made, namely, a lead through the diamond suit in which he holds a major tenace.

7—East's Redouble has as a foundation the probability that a poorly guarded trump trick in the South hand could be led through and captured, as one of his two trumps was an honor. It was a team match in which victory rested on securing the highest possible score on the hand and if game could be made, its redoubled value would assure a victory for the team on that hand.

North, with nothing but inferences to guide him, did not have an easy choice of an Opening lead. Actually, the Opening of the diamond would have made game impossible, as it would have prevented the plan of play upon which West later decided. The club appeared to offer the safest lead and so North selected the club 10. The card was ducked in the Dummy and South also refused to cover, West winning with the Knave. While the Opening lead helped, it was still a long way from game for the player holding the West cards. A small spade was led and the Knave finessed. South won with the Queen and immediately returned the spade in order to get out of the responsibility of the lead at this time. West had not expected to win more than one trick in the spade suit, but was laying the groundwork for the future play of the hand, if South held the cards he should have to justify even a sporting Double. East's 10 of hearts was led through and permitted to hold the trick. The hearts were continued until South's Queen was captured. This successfully completed the first part of West's campaign.

In order to force discards West led out both of his remaining trumps. This was based upon the hope that South, if he held a spade, would be forced to play it in order to protect the club King, which seemed to be placed in his hand, and also the assumed major tenace in diamonds. If West's assumption that South held the diamond Ace Queen and the club King and one small card was correct, then the contract could be made. It was a chance worth playing for. At West's tenth turn to play he held the 7 of spades, the 2 of diamonds and Ace of clubs. In the East hand were the King, Knave of diamonds and Queen 4 of clubs. West led his deuce of diamonds, North followed, the Knave was put up, and South won with the Queen, then cashed the diamond Ace. South now led a small club, but realized that the game was up. West let the club run to his Queen, and returned the remaining club to the Ace.

West's plan of campaign could have gone wrong, but if it did not work there was present no better alternative. When a choice is to be made between two courses of action, the one that offers the better chance of success should be chosen, and then with the plan of campaign formed, unless new facts are developed during the plays to make its revision necessary, it is wise to stick to it.

Bidding and Playing Valuation.

Bidding valuation is the count of expected winners and losers at a specified bid. The expected winners are called playing-tricks, and consist of tricks won with honors and low cards in long or short suits. Both the bidding and play deal with tricks. The essential difference between a bid and a play is that the former deals with tricks in the abstract while the latter deals with tricks as actually developed. Bidding is a mental play which is repeated on a more concrete basis after the Dummy goes down. It follows that in order to make successfully any bid it must be visualized in terms of playing tricks. Each bid must be played over mentally as though the Dummy were down.

Farmer-Laborite Here After Tour

Frank Webb Says Party's Convention Probably Will Be in May.

Col. Frank E. Webb, Farmer-Labor party presidential candidate in 1928, returned yesterday from a 7,000-mile coast-to-coast tour in the interest of the party. He said the 1932 Farmer-Labor convention will be held before either the Democratic or Republican gatherings, probably in May.

The unemployment situation, he said, is acute throughout the country, with few cities free from hundreds begging food.

CRUELTY IS CHARGED BY DEMPSEY'S WIFE

Has Suffered Mental Anguish Since Marriage, She Says in Divorce Suit.

Los Angeles, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A divorce complaint devoting more than half its length to the division of asserted community property was filed against Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, today by Estelle Taylor, his motion picture actress wife. She charged him with mental cruelty.

Her suit followed by fourteen hours a similar complaint which Dempsey filed in Reno. He, too, charged mental cruelty. His suit came as a surprise to Miss Taylor and her attorneys, who said they believed an amicable property settlement was near.

The two divorce suits brought the marital grievances of Dempsey and Miss Taylor to a decisive point. Lawyers traveled from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Reno in efforts to effect a property settlement.

Dempsey's "display of temperament" when Miss Taylor's attorney insisted the former heavyweight post collateral to guarantee payments of $1,000 monthly to her for three years and four months, his wife said, caused the breakdown of negotiations.

"I only asked for $40,000, not one cent more," Miss Taylor said. "It was to be paid in monthly installments and Jack agreed to that, but he blew up when Joseph Scott, my attorney, suggested the collateral."

Immediately after filing her suit, attorneys sought a restraining order to prevent Dempsey from disposing of any alleged community property. Superior Judge Charles E. Haa set August 27 as the date for hearing on the restraining order. Summons were issued for Dempsey to appear on that date.

Miss Taylor's suit was couched in legal terms and alleged that "continuously since the date of marriage, February 7, 1925, at San Diego, Calif., Dempsey has, by particular acts of conduct, caused this plaintiff to suffer great and grevious mental pain and mental anguish."

Miss Taylor claimed the Barbara Corporation, a hotel concern in which Dempsey is interested, is indebted to Dempsey on an open book account for $135,000 and that in addition Dempsey owns 100,000 shares of capital stock in this corporation. She also named the Bank of Manhattan Trust Co., holders of an alleged trust fund worth $300,000.

Ohio Legion Bans Liquor Debate.

Cleveland, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—By acclamation, the Ohio American Legion today tabled a resolution urging repeal or modification of the eighteenth amendment. By this action, all discussion of the liquor question was ended for the present convention.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With DON B. REED

It is with considerable regret that this column must report the departure, come Friday night, of Michael J. Cullen, director general of the Loew forces in the Capital for the past three years. But the laws of nature and motion picture organizations must be obeyed, so Mike, like a good soldier, will board a rattler out of Union Station late Friday or early Saturday for Pittsburgh, where he takes over duties similar to those which have fallen upon him here.

The news of Mr. Cullen's transfer comes as a distinct surprise to his many friends and acquaintances in Washington, for his long tenure as general manager had caused him to be looked upon as a fixture in local theater circles. However, he will take with him the best wishes of hundreds to his new field of endeavor, where he no doubt will serve Pittsburgh and environs in the same zealous manner which has marked his work in Washington.

Jim Lundy, purveyor of Loew tidings, whether good or bad, avers further that with Mr. Cullen's departure another familiar face will be again seen along F street, for Mike will be succeeded by Colby Harriman. Since Mike succeeded Colby at one time, it would appear the boys are doing some sort of Alphonse-Gaston act. Incidentally, a number of close friends of Mr Cullen are planning to honor him at a dinner Friday evening, at which this correspondent hopes to be present. The boys no doubt want to see Mike off on that trip "clean to Pittsburgh" because he can hardly return that way.

Probably I ought not bring this up at a time when the Loew forces are in somewhat of a furore, as Ben Bernie might say, but it has come to my attention that the Palace and Columbia are somewhat lax in the matter of having some one on the sidewalk to inform customers when the seat supply has been exhausted. My informants declare they do not mind standing if they have advance notice, but they do not care to enter under the impression that seats are available only to find long lines standing. Possibly the vacation schedule of ushers has caused a shortage of manpower, thus eliminating the street barker, but my public (all three of them) demand that something be done about it. What say, Mr. Harriman?

Judging from the comment I have heard among the fair sex who earn their daily bread helping The Washington Post to reach your door each morning for breakfast, the feminine element in the Capital movie-going public is all agog, or even agaga, over the coming of Maurice Chevalier It has been quite a spell since the singing Frenchman has graced the screen on F street and his return in "The Smiling Lieutenant" at the Columbia Saturday promises to be one of triumph. I may be there myself, for I like the way Maurice does things "right now."

Helen Kearney, who as a Foxette and later as instructor of the Fox free dancing school has won hundreds of admirers here, dropped in yesterday to say that everything is set for her portion of the all-Washington revue which opens at the Fox Friday. Miss Kearney is drilling the chorus for the production and she is confident that the line girls will give a good account of themselves. Incidentally she declares the applicants for the Fox school this season are filling the hall to overflowing but that every one is being given a full share of attention.

It was my privilege recently, while in Buffalo, N. Y., to see "Bought," the Constance Bennett feature which opens Saturday at the Earle. Having always been a Bennett fan, I liked the film immensely; and in view of past records here, any Bennett film is a crowd puller. In this one, however, I believe most audiences will agree that Connie does not have the picture to herself as much as in some of her previous releases. Ben Lyon is excellent as her lover; Raymond Milland does a fine piece of work as the likable villain; but first honors, outside the star, go to Miss Bennett's father. To tell you who and what he is might spoil the story, so I'll quit by recommending it as good entertainment.

And if you should see the Washington Monument staggering around all "lit up" Friday night, it will only be the Festival of Lanterns, being staged by the Community Center Department at the Sylvan Theater. Nearly 100 young folks will participate in the festival, each carrying a lighted lantern in the parade to the stage and all dressed in unusual costumes. It ought to be a sight worth seeing if the Weather Bureau doesn't "douse the glim."

This fellow Richard Dix, who is coming to RKO-Keith's beginning Friday in "The Public Defender," seems to change leading ladies more often than a chorus girl changes costumes. In "Cimarron" it was Irene Dunne; in "Young Donovan's Kid" it was Marion Shilling, and now we find that Shirley Grey plays opposite the star. Some excellent "stills" on my desk indicate Miss Grey is an appealing sort of beauty, and they do say in the films that one of the best steps toward stardom is to play opposite Mr. Dix. Up and at 'em, Shirley!

I must extend my apologies to the girls of Washington between 7 and 18 years of age. When I saw "military band" in that notice from the Fox about the organization of such a musical outfit, I presumed, and much too hastily, that it was for boys. But girls can be military too, these days, and girls who want to join the band are welcome at the first meeting Saturday morning And to make up for my carelessness in omitting them from the list of possibilities, I hereby issue permission for the girls' section to practice in the alley, right under the city room windows.

Cheering news to those who like their dip these warm afternoons and evenings, is the announcement that even after Glen Echo amusements close for the season on September 13, the Crystal pool will remain open during the entire month, weather permitting.

I'd have thought it was Saturday as I came to work yesterday, seeing that bath the Willard is getting. And so public, too.

JOY FOR VACATIONER AT WOODLAND BEACH

When next spring rolls around and the usual family argument over whether to go to the seashore or the mountains for vacations arises, why not be prepared by calmly stating that the family cottage at Woodland Beach will take care of all the vacation needs?

For Woodland Beach offers everything necessary to insure a comfortable and enjoyable outing, whether it be for a night, a week-end or a period of weeks or months.

Why bother to plan a long trip to some resort many miles away, far from your home and your business, when just 32 miles into Maryland, on the South River, a resort is awaiting you where cool breezes blow off the river; where the children may play in safety; where excellent cottages house congenial neighbors and where boating, bathing and fishing are available for your leisure hours.

The cost of acquiring a lot and cottage at Woodland Beach probably will not run much higher than one season's vacation for the family and it is there permanently for use next year, the year after, and for many summers to come.

All lots are priced at $93, but even this small amount need not be in cash. A down payment of $9, together with the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post, will enable you to select your lot. Then, while you are paying off the balance at the rate of $3.50 per month, you may be enjoying the sport and recreation offered by the beach.

Los Angeles Bank In Federal Hands

U. S. National Is Closed for Liquidation to Bar Impairing of Assets.

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 18 (A.P.). The United States National Bank, with eight branches in Los Angeles, was closed by its board of directors today and placed in charge of a national bank examiner.

The bank, which has no connection with the Federal Government other than any national bank, listed resources of $13,121,229, capitalization of $1,000,000 and surplus of $202,797 in a statement as of June 30 last. Perry W. Weidner, president, issued a statement saying the directors believed the bank to be solvent, and closed it in order that liquidation might proceed before such impairment of its assets as might cause serious loss to depositors.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The State Savings Bank of Maumee, near here, was closed today by its officers after numerous depositors had visited the institution. Directors declined to say whether an attempt will be made to reopen it or whether it will be turned over to the State banking department to conserve the assets. It had deposits of approximately $400,000.

Alimony Judgment Given Against Lou Tellegen

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A default judgment of $12,331.41 against Lou Tellegen, actor, was entered in the county clerk's office today by Isabelle Craven Dilworth Tellegen, one of his former wives, after he failed to answer her suit.

She charged $12,000 was due under an agreement he made to pay her $100 weekly toward the support of their son, Rex Tellegen.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

WHY CHILDREN PLAY HOOKY.

CHILDREN are truants because they are happier and better satisfied when they are away from school. A second reason is that they have not learned discipline, or, if they have, they are courageous and daring enough to disregard it.

Dr. H. S. Hulbert gives the following nine additional reasons for truancy:

1. Antisocial personality. Children of this type are against the school as being a part of the social organization. Truancy among those of this group is one of the least troubles the child brings on the family and society.

2. Feeble-mindedness. The feeble-minded child gets no pleasure out of school work and he absents himself because he is happier somewhere else. The children in the first group scheme and plan to keep away from school. Those of this group, in comparison, simply seem to wander away or to start for school without getting there.

3. The immature personality, as distinguished from feeble-mindedness. Among such personalities is the infantile type, the child whose emotional reactions at 10 years of age are those of a young child. Persons with adolescent personality types run away from college or will not take an education.

4. The paranoid personality. Such children regard themselves as superior. They run away from school because they feel the teacher is unfair to them, their playmates do not like them, the going is against them, they don't get an even break, or some other reason.

5. Daydreaming. Some children play truant because the emotional luxury of daydreaming has destroyed all appetite for the commonplaces of the schoolroom.

6. Allied to the above, in its working out if not in its personality causation, is the urge to truancy because of self-disappointment, poverty and general drabness.

7. Some superior children play truant. Mentally they are so far ahead of their schoolmates that the latter do not interest them, nor does the school work. The lessons are not difficult enough to intrigue them.

8. Some children are truants because of exceptionally bad conditions in their home. This home trouble may be because of quarreling or neglectful parents or parents that do not beget respect or love.

9. Bad companionship is responsible for much truancy.

Some children are truants because they are cowardly, weak, suggestible and easily led. On the other hand, truancy may mean that a child has the courage to disobey parents, teachers and the law. The truant is mentally, emotionally, or socially sick. There is need for mental and social hygiene.

ASTHMA AND ECZEMA.

H. F. K. writes: It cost me $8,000 to find out that pollen cause asthma and eczema. My child lived on a rich protein diet until she became sensitized. As a baby, she developed a bad eczema. Within a year she developed asthma. Her breathing was a struggle and her chest was becoming deformed. By sending her to another climate and by changing her diet we have saved her.

She is sensitive to dextrine in her diet and to timothy hay pollen in the air.

DOCTORS HAVE NAME FOR IT.

N. C. writes:, What causes a finger to keep rising around the edge of the nail? The nail has become crooked.

REPLY.

The physicians' name for this is onychia. It is due to infection of the skin in the nail bed and near it. Infection is with some pus coccus or with the germ of ringworm, or both. There are many contributing causes. Biting the nails is the most important. Dirt around the nails is another. Working in grease, in greasy water, in soapy water, among photograph chemicals, and other chemicals, and mechanical injury are among others.

"INTESTINAL FLU."

M. M. writes: Will you kindly explain the meaning of the term "intestinal flu," that is, if it has any meaning in the medical profession.?

REPLY.

There may be an infection of the intestines with the cause of influenza, whatever that cause is, but nine times out of ten the term is used loosely and has no meaning. Many cases of typhoid fever have been called "intestinal flu."

BRONCHITIS AND CLIMATE.

Mrs. L. C. writes: My husband has sinus trouble and chronic bronchitis. In which State would the climate be of most benefit to him?

REPLY.

Arizona, New Mexico, eastern California, western Texas. The mildness of the Gulf Coast and Florida would be beneficial, but the humidity would not be so good. The dryness of Utah, Oregon, Washington, Colorado and the Dakotas would be good, but the cold would be something of an offset.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

It's Precious!

The little mother hubbard yoked bodice makes it so individually smart. And aren't the kilted plaits at the front cute? They provided the necessary fulness for freedom for wee tots who work so hard all day at play.

"Kiddie" prints are especially lovely for this darling dress.

Style No. 207 is designed for sizes 2, 4 and 6 years. The 4-year size requires 1¾ yards of 35-inch material.

Price of pattern 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York City.

STOCKS AGAIN RALLY TO SLIGHT RECOVERY

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The stock market appeared for a time today to have cast off any doubts that might have been occasioned by yesterday's setback, but a fresh bull campaign launched during the morning was suddenly thwarted by large offerings of motor and rail shares in the afternoon.

Oil shares, nevertheless, were able to show consistent strength, and closed with fair gains. In the main, advances of 2 to 6 points registered in numerous issues during the morning bull drive were lost, but final prices were irregularly higher. The price average of 90 representative issues showed a net gain of two-fifths of 1 point, advances in utilities and industrials offsetting a sag in the rails. Trading was fairly active for a time, particularly during the early afternoon selling movement, and the day's turnover aggregated 1,704,870 shares, with one exception the largest since mid-July.

Rubber Market Breaks.

Despite increasing signs of firmness in crude oil, commodities generally were inclined to ease. Crude rubber broke below 5 cents a pound for the first time in the history of the New York market, August delivery selling at 4.9 cents. The coffee market was reactionary, along with Brazilian exchange.

Liquidation of railway obligations persisted in the bond market, again recording numerous new low levels for the year or longer. The foreign group was mixed. German encountered considerable selling early in the day, particularly the Young Plan issue, but it recovered before the finish.

The bull crowd in stocks felt that yesterday's reaction, abrupt as it was, had not exceeded the proportions of a normal technical setback, and hurried to resume their campaign in anticipation of the autumn seasonal upturn in trade.

Motors Selling Appears.

Selling of General Motors, however, appeared in formidable volume during the early afternoon, blocks of 1,000 to 9,700 shares appearing on the tape. The issue sold off little more than a point, but the volume of selling was unsettled. Brokerage circles attributed much of it to Western centers.

Some observers thought it reflected the prospect of a seasonal reduction in earnings for the last half of the year, possibly to a level well below dividend requirements. Others felt that it was liquidation of a special nature.

Rails were depressed by estimates anticipating the weekly car loadings figures, which showed a reduction of 22,513 cars from the preceding week, although the average for that period for recent years had indicated a moderate gain. The first of the weekly steel trade reviews stated that ingot had slackened a little from the preceding week, as expected orders for railroad rails had not materialized. Weekly crude oil production figures showed the expected large decline, and even wider decline is expected in the figures for the current week.

Oils Close Higher.

In the oils, issues closing about a point or two higher included Standards of New Jersey, New York and California, Sinclair, Prairie, Continental, Mid Continent, Petroleum Corp., Texas Corp., and Houston. Similar gains were shown by American Can, Case, Safeway, Penney, Public Service of N. J., Johns-Manville and Lambert. U. S. Steel and American Telephone pushed up about 2 points momentarily, but showed gains of only fractions at the finish.

General Motors was off just at the close, and Chrysler ¾. Auburn sold up 6, and dropped 8 from the top, and closed off a minor fraction.

Foreign exchanges were marked by a rally in sterling, which touched $4.86 for cables for the first time in a fortnight, up ⅛ of a cent. The European rates generally were steady for form, save for the Swiss franc, which was under pressure. In the Latin-Americans, the Brazilian milreis dropped from 6.60 to 6.45 cents for cables.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Staggered by an authoritative unofficial estimate that the Nation's corn crop now promised to total more than 2,800,000,000 bushels, corn and oats tumbled today. December corn contracts, representing the new crop, fell to 38⅝ cents a bushel, the bottommost price since 1900. The estimate of 2,800,000,000 bushels as the 1931 United States corn yield compared with the Government's August 1 forecast of 2,775,000,000 bushels.

Corn closed nervous, ⅝@⅞ cents lower than yesterday's finish. Wheat unchanged to ⅜ off. Oats ⅜@⅞ down, and provisions at 5 to 15 cents decline.

Stop-loss selling accompanied the downward swing of the corn market. September delivery, which stands for corn already in storage, was even weaker than December, the new crop month, and again outdid the season's low point. Simultaneously, all deliveries of oats, sympathizing with corn weakness, went to the lowest prices yet for the present crop, slowness of shipping demand for corn added urgency to selling pressure, with showery weather and seasonable temperatures forming ideal crop conditions and giving further incentive to bears.

Summaries by a leading private expert put the present condition of the corn crop at 74.5, compared with a ten-year average of 75. He said 59 per cent of the corn area reported the crop improving, 22 per cent declining, and 19 per cent even. The greatest improvement is east of the Mississippi, with the declining tendency most pronounced in central and western Nebraska and in Colorado, and with conditions very spotted in Iowa.

Despite rallies based on an unofficial forecast of 16 per cent reduction of domestic winter wheat acreage this fall to the lowest total since 1916, wheat sagged with corn in the late trading. Wheat, however, was steadied by reports that black rust was more threatening in Canada and that crop damage in Italy was confirmed.

Provisions responded to setbacks in hog values.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—September, 48⅝@48½, 49⅛@49¼; December, 52½@52⅝, 53¼; May, 57½@58⅛. Corn—September, 44@44⅛, 45½; December, 38⅜@38½, 39¼@39⅜; May, 43⅛@43⅞.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Cotton declined further today. Partial rallies followed at opening decline, but the market weakened again. December sold off to 6.97, or within 3 points of the recent low record, but rallied a few points in the last few minutes on covering and closed at 7.03. The general market closed steady at net declines of 15 to 18 points.

The opening was barely steady, 12 to 14 points lower in response to the easier Liverpool cables. Houses with both Liverpool and continental connections were sellers here, but the early offerings were readily absorbed, and after showing net losses of 13 to 15 points the market stiffened on covering and trade buying. The latter was supposed to include some buying here for Japanese account, and offerings tapered off somewhat after the close of the Liverpool market.

Prices worked up several points from the lowest, with October advancing from 6.74 to 6.90, while March sold up from 7.34 to 7.42, but the market eased again durnig the afternoon under New Orleans, local and Wall street selling, which seemed to be influenced by an easier turn in the stock market. October broke to 6.76, or within 6 points of the low record price established at the beginning of last week, while March sold off to 7.28, or within 2 points of the previous low record. Closing quotations were a few points up from the lowest on covering.

Reports concerning the progress of the tropical storms seemed too indefinite with reference to probable intensity and further course to cause any nervousness over the crop situation. Some rains were reported in Oklahoma, which were considered more beneficial than otherwise, and while some think there has been rather too much rain in the eastern belt, traders seemed to be looking for a fairly favorable weekly report from the Weather Bureau for this season of the year.

Liverpool reported hedging, together with London, continental and Bombay liquidation in that market. Exports today, 8,951, making 92,347 so far this season. Port receipts, 5,658. U. S. port stocks, 2,729,305.

A gain of $1,641,867 in residential use of electricity was more than sufficient to offset decreased use for large power purposes, so that the Company was able to report a gain of 1% in net operating revenue.

A heavier provision for the retirement of fixed capital (renewals, replacements—depreciation) was responsible for the difference between an increase in operating revenues before such provision was made and the decrease shown afterward.

BONDS SAG AS RAILS SEEK LOWER LEVEL

Movements in Industrials Are Narrow, With Phones Slightly Higher.

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Bonds were again dragged down by the railroad group in today's market. Offerings were not particularly large, the day's turnover of $7,858,000 par value exceeding yesterday's by only $285,000, but there was no letup to the steady chipping away of rail lien values, several of which again recorded new low levels for the year or longer.

The price average of 30 representative issues lost nearly half a point, the widest decline in almost a fortnight. The average of 10 rails again broke to a new bottom level, while the 10 industrials and 10 utilities showed only slight losses.

There was some indication to attribute increased pressure against the rails to liquidation in connection with bank suspensions in Toledo, but it was pointed out today that it is too early to expect selling from that source. In some well-informed bond quarters there is a tendency to attribute much of the selling of the carrier issues to trustees of trust funds who are uncertain how the dropping of such issues from the legal list would affect them. Savings banks are not obligated to dispose of issues as soon as they are dropped from legal lists, but only find such issues ineligible for further purchases.

Railroad issues dropping about 2 to 4 points to new lows for the year or longer included such issues as Baltimore and Ohio refunding 5s and convertible 4½s, St. Paul 5s of 1975, New York Central consolidated 4s, Great Northern 5s of 1973, Hudson & Manhattan refunding 5s, Philadelphia, Baltimore & Washington 4½s, Southern Pacific 4½s of 1981, and Southern Railway General 4s. Weak features were Wabash 5s of 1980, Series D, off 7 points, and Soo Line 4s, off 8. Some of the high grade issues were steady, such as Atchison general 4s.

In the foreign department, the German issues were under pressure for a time, particularly the Young plan loan, but recovered during the afternoon. The Young plan, or German Government 5½s, closed a fraction higher, after a temporary dip of more than a point. The 7s, or Dawes plan issue, closed off ½.

A few lightly traded issues recovered sharply, the Prussia 6½s gaining more than 9 points, and the Saxon mortgage 7s, 10 points. Argentine issues were heavy, and Brazilian irregularly lower. Chileans were generally firm. Cubans were little changed, although the Cuba Railroad 7½s lost 8 points.

Most movements in the higher grade domestic utilities and industrials were narrow. The American Telephone issues were generally fractionally higher. Paramount Publix 5½s were firm, gaining a point.

The U. S. Government issues were generally firm, particularly the Treasury 3¾s of 1946-56.

Imports of Germany $140,625,000 in July

Berlin, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Germany's imports in the month of July totaled 562,500,000 marks ($140,625,000), less 25,000,000 marks ($6,250,000) accounted for but not actually imported in July, leaving actual imports of 537,500,000 marks ($134,350,000).

Exports were 792,200,000 marks ($198,050,000) hence the actual trade balance was 254,700,000 marks ($63,675,000). The foregoing does not include reparations deliveries in kind of 35,000,000 marks ($8,750,000). Counting these the surplus exports would be $289,700,000 ($72,425,000).

WEEK'S LOADINGS DROP 22,513 CARS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Revenue freight loading for the latest reported week, that ended August 8, totaled 734,780 cars according to announcement yesterday by the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association with headquarters in the Transportation building. This represents a decline of 22,513 cars below the preceding week and one of 169,377 below the corresponding period in 1930. It was likewise a decrease of 357,373 cars under the comparable period in 1929.

Chesapeake Beach, Md., has established an airport, and airplanes are operated daily between Washington and the beach during the present season. The airport has been constructed on the site of the old race track, just north of the Chesapeake Beach Railway station, and with ready access to Seaside Park, the North Beach bus terminal, the steamship wharf and the amusement centers of the seaside resort.

A plane is operated from Washington to the beach airport each morning and remains at Chesapeake Beach during the day, offering sightseeing trips along the beach and a fine view of the Chesapeake Bay country. Washingtonians who wish to do so may return home by the plane in the evening.

Airport Latest Improvement.

The airport is the latest of a long series of improvements made at Chesapeake Beach during the past two years. These have included renovation of and additions to the motive power and equipment of the Chesapeake Beach Railway; the building of Seaside Park, replacing the old "boardwalk;" the inauguration of steamship services from Baltimore and Cambridge, Md., to Chesapeake Beach and numerous betterments at the town site, in addition to completion of a new motor road and a great deal of new home construction at the beach itself. As a consequence, the beaches have hardly felt the effect of the depression, and have become vastly more popular among Washington and Baltimore people than ever before.

The outstanding instalment debt of the American public to reporting finance companies on automobiles purchased, dropped from a maximum of $964,000,000 in September, 1929, to a minimum of $536,000,000 in March, 1931, according to a recent official statement by C. C. Hanch, general manager of the National Association of Finance Companies.

The instalment debt is now increasing towards a normal volume and at the end of May was $571,000,000. The figures of the instalment debt are derived from data on contracts purchased by 428 representative finance companies. In January of this year, the average amount financed was $561 as compared with $616 in January, 1929. This average reached a minimum in March and April, 1931, when it was $529, and in May, it increased to $539, according to Mr. Hanch.

Resources Are Increased.

Total resources of Investors' Syndicate, with local offices, increased $682,905.39 in July, according to a report issued by E. M. Richardson, secretary and treasurer of the company. Assets as of July 31 were $43,498,420.93, showing an increase over resources as of December 31, 1930, of $4,688,305.12.

Improvement in the liquid position of the company was a feature of the report. Cash on hand and in banks increased $128,533.61 in July and the total as of July 31 was $924,868.82. This showed an increase for the first seven months of the year of $467,729.25. Bonds and securities totaled $3,441,469.25, an increase for the month of $198,848.59 and a gain of $1,003,965.75 in seven months. First mortgage loans on city residential property amounted to $32,933,992.56. Capital, surplus and reserves on July 31 totaled $5,703,922.54, showing increase of $57,839.35 for the month.

The July operating statement of Capital Traction Co. reveals net income for that month of $9,438.61, a gain of $4,503.01 over the month last year. For the seven months the item shows a total of $283,437.05, an increase of $9,410.17 over the corresponding period a year ago.

Curb Review

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Oil shares showed the way to higher levels in today's Curb Market, but other groups followed hesitantly.

The market displayed considerable strength during the earlier hours, but lost some of its advance during the afternoon, in sympathy with the setback on the big board. The day's turnover of 250,000 shares was 30,000 more than yesterday's.

Reports that some refiners were getting short of crude oil, as result of the shutdown on production in east Texas, led to the hope of earlier and more substantial price increases than have been expected.

Both Gulf and Humble recorded extreme gains of about 4 points, although Gulf lost most of its advance before the finish. Vacuum pushed up more than 2 points, and Indiana sold up a point, but reached to finish with a net gain of only ⅜. Cities Service, International Petroleum, Imperial of Canada and Derby Oil were among issues up moderately.

Utilities lost most of a morning upturn. American Gas & Electric gained 2 points, then fell back. Electric Bond & Share got up nearly a point, only to close ⅛ lower. Central Public Service gained a point, and Brazilian Traction was firm.

Aluminum Co. of America was a strong feature of the industrials, pushing up 8 points. Youngstown Sheet & Tube preferred, an infrequently traded issue, appeared 3¾ points higher. Davenport Hosiery rose 2 to a new high for the year. Mead Johnson and New York Steam, however, lost about 2 each.

Bumper Fruit Crop Predicted.

Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—A bumper fruit crop was predicted by the State Chamber of Commerce today in its monthly business statement.

The State's orchards were expected to yield 4,350,000 bushels of peaches this year, the report said, as compared with the previous five-year average of 1,904,000 bushels a year, and an apple crop of 79 per cent compared with 40 per cent for 1930 and a ten-year average of 55 per cent.

Nats Subdued By Coffman In Pinches

3-Run Stand Against Hadley in Third Clinches Game.

Brown, Fischer Also See Action; Rally in 8th Quelled.

By MAURICE O. SHEVLIN
(Baseball Writer, St. Louis Globe-Democrat).

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 18.—Dick Coffman, rejuvenated Brownie right-hander, outpitched three of Walter Johnson's best twirlers at Sportsmen's Park today and the Killefer men emerged victors, 4 to 2, in the fourth and last game of the series, their only triumph of the set, and Coffman's third straight winning performance. As the Yankees lost, the Nats hold their own in the battle for second place.

Irving Hadley, Carl Fischer and Lloyd Brown, the last two southpaws, were the victims of a ten-hit St. Louis bombardment in which were included but two extra basers, one by Red Kress, which drove in two runs, and one by Schulte, which went by the boards.

Browns Hit Timely In 2 Innings.

The St. Louis singles, however, were timely and seven of the total blows were bunched in two innings, the third and fifth, for all their runs, whereas the nine bingles that Coffman allowed came in five innings, and in only two, the fifth and sixth, were they put to run-making advantage, one scoring in the fifth on three hits and the other in the sixth on two blows.

It was the fourth inning before the St. Louis slabman was found for a hit, Rice and Cronin getting singles.

Red Kress, who came up with a double and a single in four official trips to the plate, was the big gun in the Brownie attack, driving in three of their four runs, but to Fred Schulte went hitting honors for the day with three out of four, two singles and a double, and all coming in sequence, while he drove in one run and counted twice on his own pedals.

Oscar Melillo continued his batting streak, rapping out a pair of singles in four attempts, while Myer, with two for five and Cronin with two for two, paced the Nationals, Myer and Bluege driving in the Washington markers.

Cronin Only One Who Miscues.

Despite a wet infield, only one error was committed during the afternoon, Cronin drawing that on his failure to tag Schulte in a run-up at second.

Washington had eight men stranded. It scored its run in the fifth on Myer's single after aces by Kuhel and pinch-batter Bolton. The second and last run came in on a single by Manush, a pass to Cronin, and another single by Bluege in the sixth . Myer doubled in the seventh with two down and got no farther, while, in the eighth, they filled the bases with two down and couldn't score, Spencer ending the rally with

NET UPSETS OCCUR AT NEWPORT

Perry Beats Allison; Wood Is Winner Over Mangin.

By BILL KING.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Two of the seeded players and half of the British invasion were cut off today in play that reduced the Newport Casino Tennis Tournament to the quarter-finals stage. Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, and Wilmer Allison, former Davis Cup player, were the domestic stars who suffered upsets and G. Patrick Hughes, of England, accompanied them into the discard.

Allison's defeat was due to the spotty play he has exhibited most of the season. He had a commanding lead on Frederick J. Perry and just when he needed another set to eliminate that British Davis cup star, he fell to pieces. The Britisher's winning margin was 4—6, 6—0, 3—6, 6—1, 6—2.

Sutter, Slipping Back, Bows To Hall.

Sutter, who has slipped considerably since last year, bowed out in the second round, dropping a 6—4, 6—4, decision to J. Gilbert Hall, of East Orange, N. J., who was eliminated by Bryan Grant, of Atlanta, Ga., 6—3, 6—4, 7—5, in a third round clash.

Champion Johnny Doeg again played far below the form expected of a national titlist, but managed to qualify for the last eight brackets by vanquishing Edward W. Burns, of New York, 7—5, 8—6, 6—4 in a stubbornly contested struggle.

The champion, despite his unimpressive play, was the onl third-round victor except Grant to stifle his opposition in straight sets. Sidney Wood, United States Davis Cup singles player, was forced into an extra set with Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., to win, 7—5, 4—6, 6—1, 6—3. The performance placed Wood in line for a quarter-finals battle with the national champion.

George Lott, overcoming a one-game lead in the fourth defeated Berkley Bell, 6—3, 6—4, 6—10, 8—6, moving Lott into a position for an encounter with Perry.

Hughes went down before Johnny Van Ryn, 6—2, 6—3, 1—6, 6—2. Francis X. Shields, second ranking American, and member of the recent Davis Cup Team, had to go five sets with Bruce Barnes, of Austin, Tex., to win 6—3, 6—4, 1—6, 4—6, 6—3. Shields will meet Ellsworth Vines, sensational Californian, in tomorrow's qquarter-final round.

Berg, Canzoneri Bout For Sept. 10 Approved

New York, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The New York State Athletic Commission today approved a lightweight championship fight between Champion Tony Canzoneri and Jackie (Kid) Berg at the Polo Grounds, September 10. The bout will be over 15 rounds.

In the first meeting of the two fighters, Berg won the decision over the title holder but later in Chicago, Canzoneri knocked out Berg in the third round.

Braves Check Bruins In Series Final, 3 to 2

Boston, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Chicago Cubs, after taking four straight from the Braves were held in check today by Fred Frankhouse, the Braves winning, 3 to 2. Pitching his first full game since a recent operation, Frankhouse limited the visitors to five hits.

The winning run came in the ninth on Maranville's double, Hartnett's error, on Richbourg's bunt and Red Worthington's single after Sheely had flied out.

What the Centennials claim will be the most important meeting they have ever held is scheduled at Bill Smith's residence, 34 Rhode Island avenue northeast, Friday night at 8 o'clock, when football candidates are asked to report. In addition to members of last year's squad "Hatchet" Healy, Gene Augustofer and "Pie" Juliano are urged to be on hand.

NATS, TRIBE IN TWIN BILL TODAY

Special to The Washington Post.

SPORTSMEN'S PARK, St. Louis, Aug. 18.—Disappointed at not sweeping the series by beating the Browns here this afternoon, Manager Walter Johnson and his Nationals hustled away immediately after the game for Cleveland, where they open a five-game set there tomorrow with a double-header.

Two young southpaws are expected to do the Nat flinging. Carl Fischer, who has not started lately, being due to get the call in one game, while Bob Burke will draw the mound assignment in the other. The Indians have not played since Sunday, so that Pilot Roger Peckinpaugh will have practically his whole mound staff from which to select starters.

Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, Washington pantomime artists, strutted their stuff before the game today, much to the delight of the ladies' day attendance of 4,000.

The safe robbery last night at the Kingsway Hotel, home of the Nationals while in St. Louis, was not felt by the ball players, Manager Johnson said, in spiking rumors that several Nats were victims. It is said that Gen. Alvin Crowder, right-hander, was the only one who had any money to lose, and, knowing Al as we do, there would have been a coroner's inquest over either a pitcher or a safe-blower had an effort been made to take his cash.

Heavy Infield Handicaps Players.

The infielders had great difficulty going after ground balls as to the right of first and second bases were big patches of wet ground from the torrential rain which hit the city Monday.

Rice's single in the fourth inning, the first off Coffman, was a clean drive between first and second.

William Harridge, president of the American League, and Tommy Connolly, umpire-in-chief, viewed the game from a box.

Pirates Rout Phils; Two Homers for Klein

Philadelphia, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Pittsburgh Pirates hammered three Philly pitchers to gain a 14-to-5 triumph today. The Pirates made 18 hits off Bolen, Elliott and Fallenstein.

Chuck Klein hit two home runs and Paul Waner clubbed five hits in six times at bat.

Special to The Washington Post.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 19.—Three of Washington's four musketeers in the national public parks tennis tournament advanced today on the Waterworks Park courts, while the fourth, Frances Walker, fell a victim to the potentialities of Mrs. Virginia Baer Dueker, defending women's champion.

Matching in interest the 6—0, 6—0, 6—0 victory of George Jennings, Chicago's public parks tennis monarch, over Bennie Estep, Dallas, Tex., was the sensational match in which Dooly Mitchell, ace of the District of Columbia entourage, and seeded No. 2, defeated David Perchonock, of Philadelphia, 18—16, 1—6, 3—6, 6—3, 6—3. The first set, which went to Mitchell only after two hours of play, set a record for the nine years' history of the municipal net event.

Markey, Mrs. Martinez Advance.

Bud Markey and Mrs. Ruth Martinez, the remainder of the Washington entries, advanced to the fourth round of their respective fields. Markey took on two opponents, defeating William Bell, of St. Louis, 6—3, 6—0, 6—4, in the second round and then nosing out Bernie Friedman, crack Philadelphia junior player, 8—6, 6—8, 6—4, 9—7, in a match which tested the Washingtonian's strength to the utmost.

Mrs. Martinez, who last year was runner-up to Mrs. Dueker for the women's title, advanced over the challenge of Mrs. Andre Russell, by the margin of 6—3, 0—6, 6—1, her acutely steady backcourt driving getting the better of her rival after a momentary letdown in the second set.

Mitchell Wins Feature Of Day.

Mitchell's mighty stand in the last two sets, after the champion of Quaker City had victory almost in hand, was easily the feature of a day marked by the steady progress of favorites. The gargantuan first set established a record for number of games in one set since the inception of the tournament in 1923.

The inevitable letdown took hold of the curly-haired Washingtonian once he had rammed a forehand drive into a corner for the final point of the overtime first set. Perchonock, a stubborn, steady player, stuck to his knitting and began to pile up a big lead in the second set before Mitchell seemed to realize that with the first set he had not clinched th match, but his shots would not come off until the Philadelphian had added the critical second and third sets to his total.

Mitchell Makes Strong Finish.

Mitchell braced notably at the start of the fourth set, but the 6—3 6—3, count hardly does justice to the closeness of the remainder of the fray.

George Jennings, Chicago's public parks monarch, performed the not often duplicated feat of advancing another round today without the loss of a single game. The victim of the raking volleying attack of the defending champion was Benni Estep, of Dallas and the 6—0, 6—0, 6—0 score, which was posted brought Jennings' total of consecutive games won to 36.

Kronberg Is Defeated In Upset.

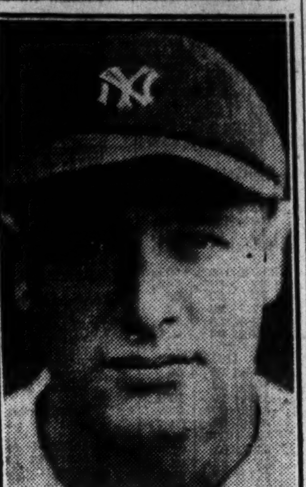
One official upset was scored, when Marion Kronberg, Chicago, seeded No. 5, succumbed to Irene David, Cleveland, 4—6, 6—2, 6—2, but other than that it was a triumphant day of marching for the favored few.

Krenz, Discus Star, Drowns in California

Lake Tahoe, Calif., Aug. 18 (U.P.).—Eric Krenz, who formerly held the world's record for the discus throw, was drowned in Lake Tahoe today.

Krenz was regarded as one of the most valuable athletes for the United States team in the forthcoming Olympic games at Los Angeles. He had gained renown by his ability in the shot put as well as the discus. He graduated from Stanford University in 1930.

1,000TH GAME



LOU GEHRIG participated in his 1,000th consecutive game yesterday at Detroit and approached the all-time record of 1,307 games held by Everett Scott while with the Red Sox and Yankees.

TIGERS BEAT YANKEES IN 11TH

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 18 (A.P.). The Tigers and the New York Yankees both missed victory by inches in the nine regular innings of their ball game today before Detroit finally came through to a 5-4 triumph in the eleventh.

Detroit bunched four hits, three for extra bases, off Charley Ruffing in the fourth and held their 3-2 margin up to the final frame. Then Ruffing came close to winning his own game when he poled one of Earl Whitehill's offerings into the bleachers for a homer with a man on base. The Tigers drove Ruffing from the mound in the same inning to score the tying un.

Gehringer Singles Home Winning Run.

Lou Gehrig, first baseman of the New York Yankees, played his 1,000th consecutive game for the Yanks. Gehrig's string of consecutive games started back in 1925, his first full year with New York. He did not play every game that season, but did not miss a clash in the next five full seasons, and has taken part in every game of the 1931 campaign.

Gehrig still is more than a full season short of the major league record, set by Everett Scott with the Yanks and the Red Sox. Scott played 1,307 games for the two teams before he finally missed one in 1925.

Tigers Buy Toronto's Star Third Baseman

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—The Toronto Baseball Club of the International League today announced the sale of Nolan Richardson, third baseman, to the Detroit Tigers. Richardson, who has been with the Leafs for two years, is rated as one of the best third sackers in the league and is hitting .324. He is the second Toronto infielder to leave the club in recent weeks, Billy Rogell also having been sold to the Tigers.

NEW $239,775 TRACK FIELD.

Berkeley, Calif., Aug. 15 (A.P.).—California's new athletic field will be constructed in 200 days at a cost of $239,775. It will be ready for the I. C. 4-A track and field meets of 1932. The plant will be dedicated with a dual meet between the Bears and Stanford.

5 California Netwomen Advance

By GALE TALBOT.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—California's crack delegation, led by the one and only Helen Wills Moody, matched strides with the British brigade today as stars of the women's tennis sphere, marched through the second round of the forty-fourth annual championship tournament at Forest Hills.

A check-up at the close of the second day's play showed the field of 16 survivors lined up as follows: Great Britain, 7; California, 5; Atlantic Seaboard, 4. Under the circumstances, it was very comforting to have Mrs. Moody on the American side.

Although she had her hands pretty well filled today in disposing of Mary Greef, a determined little campaigner from Kansas City, Queen Helen the First remained a top-heavy favorite to win her seventh national title despite the strong showing of the British contingent. Outside of Betty Nuthall, who has swept through her first two matches in impressive style the invaders do not have a member believed capable of extending Mrs. Moody.

Miss Greef Thrills Gallery in Match.

Miss Greef supplied the gallery with its greatest thrill of the day when she fought Mrs. Moody a ding-dong battle for thirty-eight minutes before succumbing, 6-2, 6-3. The Kansis City blonde, who is much of a tennis player herself, did not submit until after she had broken through Queen Helen's service twice in the second set and brought the score to three-all in games. They engaged in many sensational rallies, both stroking hard and flawlessly, and it was only Mrs. Moody's superior strategy that enabled her to win. She maneuvered Miss Greef out of position time and again to win decisive points.

Helen Jacobs, California's No. 2 threat, moved into the third round with ease, defeating Virginia Rice, of Boston, 6—0, 6—2. Miss Nuthall, whose crown they all covet, disposed of Clara Greenspan, of New York, 6—4, 6—0.

Two members of the American seeded list, Mrs. John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, and Marjorie Morrill, of Dedham, Mass., failed to survive the second round. Mrs. Van Ryn, the former Midge Gladman, fell a victim to the spirited attack of Sarah Palfrey, of Sharon, Mass., 1—6, 8—6, 6—1, in a major upset. Miss Morrill was forced to default to Alice Francis, of Orange, N J., after they had divided two sets. She strained her back in the second set.

Hilleary Sisters Survive.

As a result, two unseeded players still were in the running, Miss Francis and Virginia Hilleary, of Philadelphia.

All but two of the seven surviving British players came through the second round without the loss of a set. Mrs. D C. Shepherd-Barron, captain of the British Wightman cup team, received a scare before she got rid of Mianne Palfrey, sister of Sarah, 1—6, 6—3, 7—5, and Joan Ridley had to go three sets to down Ruby Bishop, of Los Angeles, 6—3, 4—6, 6—0.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, of Oakland, Calif., No. 1 on the American ranking, defeated Norma Taubele, of Forest Hills, 6—4, 6—3. Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup erased Margaret Carspecken, of Morgantown, W. Va., 6—0, 6—2.

With completion of second round singles late in the day, play was started in the doubles.

SINGLES—SECOND ROUND.

Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, Calif., defeated Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., 6—4, 6—3; Alice Francis, Orange, N. J., defeated Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., by default (Miss Morrill withdrew with a back injury after winning the first set, 3—6, and losing the second, 7—5).

Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, Calif., defeated Virginia Rice, Boston, 6—0, 6—2; Phyllis Mudford, England, defeated Cecilia Riegel, Philadelphia, 6—1, 6—1; Mrs. J. P. Pittman, England, defeated Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., 6—3, 6—2.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, San Francisco, defeated Mary Greef, Kansas City, 6—2, 6—3; Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. Carolyn Hirson, New York, 6—2, 6—3; Sarah Palfrey, Sharon, Mass., defeated Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, 1—6, 8—6, 6—1; Joan Ridley, England, defeated Ruby Bishop, Los Angeles, 6—3, 4—6, 6—0.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, Calif., defeated Norma Taubele, Forest Hills, 6—4, 6—3; Mrs. D. C. Shepherd-Barron, England, defeated Mianne Palfrey, Sharon, Mass., 1—6, 6—3, 7—5; Mrs. Marion

This MORNING with SHIRLEY L. POVICH

DESPITE the absence of requests, this column today sets down its opinions on a variety of subjects of the sports realm without fear or equivocation or regard for its reputation, if any, as a prognosticator and cogitator, I think that—

—Benny Leonard will meet with far greater fistic success in his comeback than Jack Dempsey but that Dempsey will make more money.

—Clark Griffith would be very pleased to see the name of Goose Goslin gracing the Nats' line-up again and that he is beginning to have his doubts as to who obtained the best of the deal with St. Louis.

—Babe Ruth will pile up a long lead over his home run rivals in the last two months of the season with the clubs out of the pennant race using rookie pitchers in preparation for the 1932 campaigns.

—Bucky Harris will not be manager of the Tigers next season because in all the years of big league history in Detroit the team has never finishd in last place as it threatened to do this season.

—Shano Collins will be regarded as the most successful manager in the majors if the Red Sox maintain their position in sixth place.

—The Bowser troupe of wrestlers featuring Henry Deglane and Gus Sonnenberg, who drew 30,000 in Boston last month will not again attempt to invade New York where tney lost $50,000 in three weeks effort to break into the Londos-Curley sacred precincts.

—Mickey Walker will never beat any top-notch heavyweights but that he will make a lot of them look bad a la Sharkey.

—The national amateur golf tournament is the greatest strain in competitive sports with its eighteen-hole match play rounds. The man who beats George Voigt will be the new champion, probably Phil Perkins, the reformed Englishman.

—Bobby Jones will be back in the big tournaments in another year, shooting for the golden rewards in the big winter events on the Coast and in the South.

—The United States Golf Association will whisper to the Professional Golf Association that George Von Elm is persona non grata with them unless he desists from his tirades against the overcommercialization of the amateur game.

—Von Elm will stay out of the Professional Golf Association tournament rather than join the P. G. A. and subscribe to its rule that all members must serve an apprenticeship under a recognized pro before they are allowed to compete in the annual tourney.

—The demand for Notre Dame system coaches will not be as great as in the past with Rockne no longer the master mind at South Bend.

—The Navy-Maryland game here October 10, at Griffith Stadium, will set a new record for football crowds in the District, surpassing the 25,000 gathering in 1922 which saw Navy beat a Penn State Team that had nothing but its 1921 reputation.

—Al Simmons and Lefty Grove are the most underpaid ball players in the big leagues, despite salaries which hit the $35,000 mark.

—Hack Wilson at $40,000 per annum, with his batting average of .263 and only a dozen home runs, is the most overpaid, and the Wilson flavor won't last with Wrigley.

Leonard Bout May Be Stake In Petrolle-McLarnin Tilt

Their two previous meetings in local rings resulted in an even split. Petrolle, no more than a heavy-lightweight, shocked the experts by handing McLarnin the beating of his life and twice had him on the verge of a knockout in their first meeting here on November 21, 1930.

Six months later, on May 27, McLarnin decisively outpointed the Fargo veteran, although at no time was Petrolle in any particular trouble.

Both fighters are near their best fighting weight and probably will enter the ring weighing about 142 pounds. A brisk advance sale of tickets indicates that close to 20,000 will watch the battle, scheduled for ten rounds.

Jockey, Paid by Gangsters, Suspended at Hawthorne

HAWTHORNE RACE TAACK, Chicago, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Jockey Dave Bryant, who said he was beaten and chased out of Chicago for failure to "pull" Givanna, 2-year-old sprinter, in a recent race, after gangsters paid him to do so, was indefinitely suspended by the Hawthorne stewards today. He was ordered to appear before the Illinois Turf Association next Tuesday to show cause why his license should not be revoked

Joseph A. Murphy, presiding steward, said he had made a full investigation and recommended suspension to give Bryant a chance to defend himself and name those involved in the alleged "scandal." "No other

MATE ROMPS HOME AT 9 TO 10 IN SARATOGA FEATURE

Bostwick Star Scores by 4 Lengths

Ellis Allows Danour to Set Pace Until Final Turn.

Sun Meadow Offers Stretch Challenge and Is Second.

SARATOGA RACE TRACK, N. Y., Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Mate, A. C. Bostwick's colt, which was badly beaten a few days ago over a muddy track in the Saranac Handicap, came back in convincing style today to score an impressive victory over five other 3-year-olds in the Kenner, a test of a mile and three-sixteenths, which attracted a large crowd to the local course.

The colt, which won the Preakness, American Derby and Arlington classic, outclassed his rivals and won by four lengths, running the distance in 1:58 1-5 over a fast track.

K. E. Hitt's Sun Meadow, second choice, followed the 9-to-10 favorite home, defeating Sir Ashley, from the Belair Stud, by five lengths for the place. Blenheim, coupled with Sir Ashley, was fourth, while Rocky News and Danous brought up the rear. The race was worth $4,925 to the winner and brought Mate's total earnings up to $237,250.

Winner Maintains His Best Form.

Whereas Mate never was able to become a factor in the Saranac, which was won by Danour, the colt proved today that he still maintains his best form. He carried 126 pounds, conceding weight to all but Sir Ashley.

Georgie Ellis broke Mate on top, but let Danour, a colt which likes to set the pace, take the lead almost immediately. Turning into the back stretch, Danour led by a length, with Mate running easily nearly two lengths before Sun Meadow. Around the bend Danour showed signs of having enough and Mate quickly moved alongside. Sun Meadow also spurted forward and by the time they entered the final straightaway, Danour was through and Mate had assumed command. Sun Meadow made his challenge but in the final furlong he was well beaten and Mate went on to score with ease.

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office)

—Hawthorne Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Chicago, Aug. 18.—A double feature program has been arranged for the patrons of Hawthorne tomorrow, with the Lakeside, for older horses at 1 1-16 miles, and the Lincoln, for juveniles at 6 furlongs, as the two outstanding events. Only six entries were received in each of the features, while the claiming events attracted large fields to contest the remaining races.

In the Lakeside, fifth on the card, KINCSEN, a consistent router from the E. Haughton string, closed considerable ground to finish third last start, after overcoming interference. With better handling, the colt figures to outfoot his five rivals. KARL EITEL has regained his speed. The Coughlin color bearer turned in a clever performance to race Chief John to a nose, and is the one to fear. MY DANDY will set the pace as far as he goes and should last to gain the show award.

Of the six 2-year-olds named to start in the Lincoln, fourth event, BURNING BLAZE, following his sensational victory over the leading juveniles in the Post and Paddock Stakes, although he is picking up 9 pounds, should romp to an easy victory. FREDERICK, nicely weighted with 110 pounds, figures to force the pace, with COLD CHECK favored over the others.

FIRST RACE—RED DIAMOND needed his last race and is on edge. The Meadowbrook Stable's entrant is favored by the conditions and is selected to graduate. CHEPERA and VISHNU have trained well and will battle it out for the place honors.

SECOND RACE—ELLEN N, from the J. N. McFadden string, is given the call over this cheap lot. THEORIST JANE turned in a fair effort last start at this route and should finish in the runner up position. PRINCESS EDITH has worked well and lightly weighted with 99 pounds will be a serious threat.

THIRD RACE—FRENCH LASS appears admirably placed. The H. C Hatch mare scored against a similar field last start and figures to repeat. BROAD MEADOWS is heavily weighted with 118 pounds but appears to be a dangerous contender. NELLIE CUSTIS will favor the distance and should show.

SIXTH RACE—DUSKY BOY, from the G. Mann stable, came from far back last start to finish in the money. With better handling, he should hold THUNWIN safe from the honors. The latter has raced with better company and under the conditions must be accorded the place. OUTCRY raced well in his previous outing, finishing a half-length behind the consistent Sunfire. On that effort, the Mrs. H. Kiser entrant will extend the top two.

SEVENTH RACE—TIGER FLOWERS appears best. In his last start, the son of Bunting was in close quarters and after overcoming interference was beaten a length. THE SOUTHERNER has turned in some fair efforts and in this class figures to furnish stern opposition. SEARINGTON is attaining his best form and nicely weighted with 107 pounds should account for the minor award.

WEATHER, CLOUDY. TRACK, FAST.

FIRST RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good for all but Chatter On. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:14½. Off at 2:20½. Winner, A. Pelleteri's ch. c. (2), by Wildair—Virago. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 3-5, 1:13 4-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CURMUDGEON, $5.82, $4.30, $3.42; SWITCH, $8.52, $6.66; CRAFTSMAN, $28.78.

CURMUDGEON, off slowly and meeting with early interference, found an opening in the stretch and, coming through, scored in a driving finish. SWITCH improved his position steadily and was going fast on the outside at the end. CRAFTSMAN, showing much improvement, took a short lead in the stretch, but could not last. LEJOY was going well at the end. BLACK STRAP and I SAY were used up making the pace and tired. SHAKER LADY weakened in the run home. BOOBY BIRD had early speed. CHATTER ON went to his knees at the start and almost unseated his rider.

SECOND RACE—Six and one-half furlongs (Hawthorne course, out of chute). Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:49. Off at 2:53. Winner, Nevada Stock Farm's ch. c. (3), by Ladkin—Minefield. Trained by R. F. Carman, jr. Value to winner, $850; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48, 1:13 2-5, 1:19 4-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ALBAZANO, $5.38, $3.58, $3.08; MISS PERFECTION, $12.24, $6.66; BILL LOONEY, $4.42.

ALBAZANO acted badly at the barrier, but broke well and, after being outrun the first part, came fast on the outside in the stretch to take a short lead and hold MISS PERFECTION to the finish. The latter dashed to the front in the first quarter and, continuing gamely after being passed, was going well at the end. BILL LOONEY saved much ground on the stretch turn to head the field, but could not last. KULAMAN was in close quarters in the stretch. CLEMENCE and MARDIE tired.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. The Kenwood Purse. For 2-year olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Winner, Nevada Stock Farms ch. c. (2), by Epinard—Ruddy Light. Trained by R. F. Carman, jr. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:47 1-5, 1:11 4-5.

TAPPANAUGH	106	3	9	9	9	9	9	Callahan	289.83

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HYGRO, $6.72, $5.46, $4.46; CHATTER QUEEN, $6.80, $4.56; MARMION, $5.88.

HYGRO was held under restraint in the early running and, coming gamely to take command in the stretch, was an easy winner. CHATTER QUEEN had the most early speed, but weakened slightly in the run home. MARMION was always well up and staged a game finish. CEE TEE was outrun early and made up ground on the outside in the stretch. MAD WIND and ANTHONY WAYNE hung in the final drive.

FOURTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:50. Off at 3:51. Winner, J. Lowenstein's b. g. (3), by Campfire—Veneida. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:48 2-5, 1:14, 1:39 2-5, 1:46 3-5.

TARPON	108	4	3	4^1	6	6	6	6	Magner	38.34

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BARNEY SEXTON, $7.40, $3.36, $2.68; MIHIGAN GIRL, $3.96, $2.84; MOUTHPIECE, $2.76.

BARNEY SEXTON, always close up, continued gamely to the end under hard urging and won when Jones outrode Richard on MICHIGAN GIRL. The latter came fast around the outside to take a good lead an eighth out and was probably best, but her rider was of little help to her in the closing stages. MOUTHPIECE dropped back slightly in the stretch run, but was best of the others. PRINCESS PEGGY was never a serious threat. TARPON carried BOSAFABO wide at the first turn and the latter tired badly after getting to the front.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,700; allowances. The Libertyville Purse. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:18. Off at 4:19. Winner, W. C. and E. W. Reicherts br. g. (6), by Brown Prince II—Prodigy. Trained by W. C. Reichert. Value to winner, $1,200; second, $300; third, $150; fourth, $50.

WHO WIN	111	4	4	4	4	4	4	4	McCoy	7.12

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BROWN WISDOM, $5.18, $2.50, out; THE NUT, $2.58, out; ESKIMO, out.

BROWN WISDOM followed ESKIMO under steady restraint in the early running and, taking command at the stretch head, was never in trouble thereafter, winning with speed in reserve. THE NUT saved ground around the final bend, but weakened slightly in the last furlong. ESKIMO set the pace, but began to tire after going six furlongs. WHO WIN moved up strongly approaching the far turn, but lost much ground on the final bend.

SIXTH RACE—One and three-sixteenths miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:49. Off at 4:54. Winner, V. Michies ch. f. (4), by Sand Mole—Virginity. Trained by E. F. Ogden. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:25, 0:50 4-5, 1:16 4-5, 1:41 2-5, 2:00 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TARNISH, $6.60, $4.22, $3.42; WORKLESS, $8.76, $5.98; ORMONTIME, $5.24.

TARNISH, under a clever ride, moved up gradually on the outside to reach an advantageous position at the stretch turn and, responding gamely to punishment in the final eighth, passed WORKLESS and won handily. The latter raced well and took a short lead in the stretch, but was no match for the winner. ORMONTIME displayed good early speed and held the others. ROYAL CHARGE weakened in the final run. ATLIL was never a serious threat. CABILDO was in close quarters during the back stretch run.

SEVENTH RACE—One and three-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:24. Off at 5:26½. Winner, Joliet Stable's br. c. (3), by St. Germans—Prudish. Trained by T. M. Doyle. Value to winner, $900; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49, 1:14, 1:39, 2:00 1-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BLUE LAW, $12.70, $5.74, $4.86; WIZARDRY, $7.96, $5.22; PRIMEVAL, $4.38.

BLUE LAW raced to a contending position during the back stretch run and, taking a good lead when straightened out for home, led to the finish to win easily. WIZARDRY saved much ground in the final run and easily bested the others. PRIMEVAL moved up on the outside to challenge at far turn, but could not get to the front and raced wide through the stretch. TOP HATTIE made up much ground after meeting with early interference. LADY BIENVILLE and BLACK IVORY tired when the real racing began. ARCADIAN FLAG met with interference around the first turn and was shuffled back again on the far turn. OTILLA had some early speed.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:56. Off at 5:56½. Winner, Miss E. Hart's ch. f. (3), by Sweep On—Passamaria. Trained by C. H. Cherry. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:47 4-5, 1:12 4-5, 1:38 2-5, 1:45 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SWEEP PAST, $10.92, $5.42, $3.28; BRIGHT DAY, $8.80, $5.56; PLAY BIRD, $5.06.

SWEEP PAST stole into a long lead during the back stretch run and, although bearing out in the stretch, was good enough to last. BRIGHT DAY, probably best, closed fast and might have won had her rider made his move sooner. PLAY BIRD was closest to the leader in the early stages and held the others. VERMICULITE was outrun most of the way. MADCAP MARVIN was never a contender. GARNISH was badly bumped around the first turn and was far back thereafter.

ALEXANDRIA CITY SERIES RESUMED

Cardinals Play in 2 of 3 Games Listed for Sunday.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Aug. 18.—Three games will be played in the Alexandria City series Sunday for the championship of the city and the Sylvester A. Breen Trophy. The Columbias mix with the Nation-Wide Club on Haydon's Field, while the Cardinals play the Colonials at 1:15 o'clock on Duncan's Field and follow at 3 o'clock with a battle with the Del Ray nine.

It was agreed by the managers of the Colonials and Nation-Wide Teams to play their game scheduled for August 30 on Haydon's Field on September 13. The two clubs are idle on this date.

The standings in the loop follow:

Columbia	3	1	.750	Cardinals	2	2	.500
Del Ray	2	1	.666	Nat.-Wide	0	4	.000
Colonials	2	1	.666

Coach Gillie Lee, of the Columbia Firefighters, has called an important practice of all players for Friday afternoon at 5:15 o'clock on Haydon's Field.

Manager Lukie Latham is trying to get a ball game for Saturday. He can be reached by phoning Alexandria 1774 at any hour.

The Nation-Wide Baseball Club will hold two important drills this week. All payers are requested to report to Coach Langford on Wednesday and Friday at 5:30 o'cock. The Storemen meet the Columbias Sunday. Manager Theodore Beach has reconsidered his resignation and is now actively in charge of the team.

A SNAIL KILLED TWO 3-FOOT SNAKES
Denver, Colo. -1931-

BY constant training Thea Alba has become able to write with each of her ten fingers individually and simultaneously, and by attaching special long brushes to each of her fingers she can make ten different figures at the same time. She is also able to write with her feet at the same time she is using her hands.

When a garter snake invaded the fish pond owned by Cecil E. Pace, of Denver, Colo., it was attacked by a small snail which held the snake's head under water until the reptile was drowned. A few days later another snake started preying on the fish and was killed by the same snail.

Two 12-hour watches were made by the Record Watch Co. in England 80 years ago, for German royalty. This odd type of watch has two hands, but they do not travel in a circle. Every hour the minute hand flips back when it reaches the numeral 12 and starts all over again, while the hour hand snaps back every 12 hours. John Conard says his watch has kept excellent time for 80 years, and that the only other watch like it is owned by H. A. Ross, of Jersey City, N. J.

Kimsey entered the game between the Chicago White Sox and St. Louis as a pinch hitter and tied the score with a homer. He then entered as a relief pitcher, but the Sox scored in the twelfth and Kimsey was charged with a defeat, which he would have escaped had he failed to make a hit.

TURNER WINS ROCKVILLE FEATURE

Special to The Washington Post.

ROCKVILLE, Md., Aug. 18.—Joe Turner, the mat matchmaking mogul of Washington, threw Tony Spiller here tonight in the feature engagement of a card of four bouts at the Rockville Fair. Six hundred people saw the bouts, one of the features of which was Referee Benny Bortnick's action in disqualifying Dutch Green and "Tarzan" Romonoff for fighting.

Turner had to call on all the tricks, and sometimes trickeries, which so long held him on top of the middleweight wrestling division in this section of the country in subduing the aggressive Spiller. The bout went 42 minutes.

McNamara, Backhus In Draw.

Jim McNamara, athletic director of the Jewish Community Center in his spare moments, wrestled to a 15-minute draw with Al Backhus in the opening tussle. The Green-Romonoff fiasco followed and was stopped after 8 minutes of rough wrestling when both contestants began swinging fists.

The show was wound up by a 45-minute bout in which the venerable Pete Dallas defeated Joe Watson just as rain began to fall.

In conjunction with pony show yesterday afternoon a card of three races for the diminutive equines was held over the half-mile track.

ROAMERS AND OLMSTEDS IN SERIES OPENER SUNDAY

Senior Crown Is at Stake In Series

Roamers Win Toss to Be Home Team in First of 3 Tilts.

Midgets, Juniors Also Battle in Title Sets Sunday.

PLANS for a three-game series to determine the senior champion of The Post's Capital City League were promulgated at a meeting held in the Sports Department of The Post last night by the manager of the Miller-Roamer and Olmsted Grill Teams. The first game will be played Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Ellipse Field.

A flip of the coin, to decide which of the two shall enjoy the home team privileges of the opening contest, was won by Manager Thompson, of the Roamers. The Grillmen will be home team in the second game and should a third tilt be necessary the coin method of selecting the winner will be resorted to.

Rules of Season to Obtain In Series.

Olmsted will have fourteen players available for duty, while the Roamers' roster contains eighteen. The same rules which governed play during the regular schedule will be followed during the championship series, with strict enforcement of the regulation requiring coaches to wear a full uniform. Three umpires will officiate at all of the games.

The start of the senior series will bring the total of championship games to four, all for Capital City League crowns. At 11 a. m. the Wonder Bread and Spengler Midgets will tangle in their opening game on the West Ellipse, while Stewart's Pharmacy and the Schwartz Jewelers will play the third and deciding tilt of their series for the junior championship at 1 p. m. on the same diamond. The other tilt involves the Saks Clothiers and Takoma Tigers.

Negro Kings of Clout In Game Here Sunday

The Baltimore Black Sox and Philadelphia Hilldales will meet for the third time locally this summer at Clark Griffith Stadium Sunday at 2:30 o'clock. In the Eastern Colored Professional League these teams have each won 60 games and in their team and team meetings the Hilldales are 1 game up on the Sox, with 6 and 5 victories, respectively.

AMERICAN PEEWEES LOSE.

American Peewees lost their first game of the season yesterday, dropping an 8-6 decision to the War College Peewees on the latter's field. Americans will meet this morning at 10 o'clock at the home of their manager.

Webb Hurls D. C. Printers To 5-2 Victory at Toronto

Washington Team Is Winner Over Indianapolis.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAMILTON, Ont., Aug. 18.—Displaying an effective offensive, with Homan and Edwards leading the attack, the Washington Typos gained a 5-2 triumph over Indianapolis in their second-round game of the Union Printers baseball tournament here today.

The victors, behind the courageous and steady pitching of the veteran Webb, obtained their tallies in single lots, but these were enough to outscore the Hoosiers, who were baffled by Webb's shoots.

Indianapolis was unable to cross the plate until the fifth inning, but Webb settled down and was master again until the seventh, when the losers' final tally went over. Webb had nine strikeouts, several coming in the pinches.

In the other contests today New York nosed out Pittsburgh, 9-7; St. Paul eliminated Detroit, 6-5; Cincinnati pulled the surprise by defeating the defending champion Chicago, 4-3; Hamilton was eliminated by Baltimore, 8-7, and Boston by losing to St. Louis, 15-0, will be out of further competition.

Washington will oppose St. Paul at 3 o'clock tomorrow.

Capital Golfer Fourth In Printers' Tourney

Hamilton, Ontario, Aug. 18.—G. F. Stringer, of Washington, D. C., who led the golfers in the first day's play of the Union Printers golf tourney here yesterday with an 84 total, dropped to fourth place in the ranking after today's shooting.

Stringer, after playing superbly in the opening round, did not shoot as consistent golf in today's play with the result that he smacked 48 going out and 39 home for an 87. This with his 84 of Monday, gave Stringer a grand total of 171, five strokes behind the present deadlocked leaders, C. D. Radabaugh, of Detroit, and M. Deans, of Toronto, Ontario, who have a total of 166.

DIAMOND DUST FROM THE SANDLOTS

IN the middle of yesterday afternoon, when the mercury was spouting out of the kiosk in front of The Post like a fountain, came the news that the Marion Athletic Club football team was going to hold a meeting to formulate plans for the "impending" season. The get-together will be staged next Tuesday night, providing no heat prostrations hit the players.

C. Lawrence Taylor and Frank Harper are the new Marion coaches.

Getting back to more seasonal things, it seems that the Virginia Juniors still are looking for games with strong District teams. Call Alexandria 1974.

The Bethesda Athletic Club and the Bethesda Firemen begin their three-game series Sunday at 3 o'clock at Cabin John Field for the championship in that region. The Firemen won the adjacent league play and were ready to claim the region's title, but the Bethesda Athletic Club, who did their playing all year outside of a league, protested the claim.

One of today's features brings together the Eldbrooke M. E. nine, winners of the Georgetown Church League, and the Skinker Bros. Eagles. The game will be played on the South Ellipse at 5 o'clock, and all Eagles are requested to alight on the grounds at least by 4:30 o'clock.

A winning streak which has extended to nineteen games will be assaulted Sunday when the Washington A C. goes up to Bryantown, Md., to play the nineteen-straight wonders of that town. Clarence Wheeler, who last year and for several years back has had the Indian sign on Bryantown, will serve the horsehide for the local boys.

The Auth's Frankfurters will meet the St. Mary's Celtics Sunday at the old Celtic field. Auth's played last Sunday at Leonardtown, Md., and won an 8-3 victory over the boys of that town. The team which played under the name of Auth's against Dueterman's All-Stars Sunday at Arlington (and lost, 4-0) took the name upon themselves, according to a communique from the Auth manager last night. They Auth to be ashamed of themselves.

The Hamilton Junior Nine, contestants in the Playgrounds League, took on the older boys of the playground yesterday, just to keep in form, and trimmed them, 4-3, in a nine-inning game. The losers outhit the juniors 6 to 5, but frequently left their men stranded on the bags. There were no errors.

The winners will meet Georgetown Playgrounds tomorrow at Park View at 10:30 o'clock for the city title.

The batting of Bragg, Osborne and Fookes, in the eighth and final inning yesterday gave Swann Service its 6-5 victory over the Rovers.

The Phoenix A. C., whose maiden name was City View Heights, want a game for Sunday. Call Lincoln 7730-W. They are undefeated this year.

Mount Rainier A. C., chief rivals of the Dixie Pigs several years back, has reorganized and will tackle them barbecue boys once more, Sunday, August 31, being set as the date.

The D. C. Nation-wide Nine wants games with senior opponents for Saturday and Sunday. Call Manager May, Lincoln 3275.

The Guyon All-Stars will play Hillcrest tomorrow at 1 p. m. at Fairlawn. The Guyons want a game with the K. of C. for August 27.

George Lott, jr., Philadelphia, defeated Berkley Bell, Austin, 6—3, 6—4, 8—10, 8—6.

STEPHENSON OUT.

Outfielder Riggs Stephenson, of the Cubs, may be out for the rest of the season as a result of a broken ankle suffered in a close play at first base in the Philadelphia game, July 27. At first it was thought that the Chicago star merely had sprained his ankle, but an X-ray revealed the injury was more serious.

FORT LISTS LANDERS AGAIN

Norfolk Feather Will Fight Tramberia Next Monday.

ANOTHER featherweight scrap will be unwound next Monday night as the feature attraction in Fort Washington's popular ring. It was announced last night that Billy Landers, Norfolk star, who won a referee's decision over Frankie De Angelo last Monday, will return to engage Jimmy Tramberia, miniature mauler from Baltimore, over the 8-round route.

Coincident with this announcement, it was learned that the Fort Washington Athletic Association is negotiating for a second meeting between Reds Barry and Sammy Weiss, for August 31, and for the appearance on September 14 of De Angelo, matched with the winner of next Monday's scramble.

Tramberia Upset Dope In Buell Bout.

It looks as if the coffers of the Soldiers Athletic Association will be in the big money class before the season closes, judging from the success thus far met by the weekly program. The money, incidentally, goes to defray the cost of equipping all of Fort Washington's athletic teams and to pay their expenses on trips, all of which the Government exchequer does not enter into.

Tramberia is the tough youngster who visited the Fort three times last summer, once to defeat the veteran, Eddie Buell, in one of the season's distinct surprises, and twice to fight De Angelo to draw verdicts. He was recently crowned Maryland's featherweight champion, having beaten Joe Belmont at Pocomoke City on Eastern "Sho."

The little Baltimorean can hit as hard as Landers, whose stiff punching has caught the fancy of the fans, and, if indications are borne out, the contest will prove as exciting as any seen hereabouts this year.

Because his normal weight is about 126 and that of Landers about 120, it has been agreed that Tramberia will scale 124 at ringside or forfeit $50.

The semifinal Monday night will present the Alexandria favorite, Baker Boy Billy Schwartz. He will tussle eight rounds with Sailor Gates, a Norfolk stablemate of Landers, under the management of Tony Barbaria.

Henry Irving Will Battle Jack Freidman.

Henry Irving, slugging middleweight, who put away Jack Shepherd in 40 seconds of fighting the other evening, is to battle Jack Friedman, of Baltimore, in one of the four-round preliminaries. In another warm-up affair, Frank Vance, Georgetown law student, will swap wallops with Jack Pollock, who outpointed Irving two weeks ago.

The return match between Reds Barry and Sammy Weiss should determine definitely the question of superiority between the two. In their clash on August 3, Philadelphia Sammy easily held sway for the first four rounds, but during the last four stanzas the local light heavy had much the better of it.

Boxing experts who witnessed the fray declare that Weiss could have won had he chosen to keep up his fast early pace. This doesn't reflect a whole lot of credit on the Redhead nor does it please his host of followers.

One thing is certain. Barry will make a mighty effort to improve over his last showing, as a win over Weiss, one of the better-known boxers, will considerably enhance his earning power.

Federal Tank Meet Offers Special Cups

The Luther C. Steward and Gertrude M. McNally trophies, two handsome silver cups named in honor of the president and secretary-treasurer of the National Federation of Federal Employes, will go to the winners of the special 60-yard race slated for the Federal swim tourney at Chevy Chase Pool next Wednesday, August 26.

The high point scorer of the entire meet will also receive a bronze plaque donated by the Chevy Chase Pool, while entries in the A. A. U. events will receive gold, silver and bronze medals. Bathing suits donated by leading sports stores and free swims to Chevy Chase are among other items up for competition.

Stars Meet in A.A.U. Title Diving Event Tomorrow.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

THE friendly civil strife which exists between the Washington Swimming Club's two most famous tank artists—Onalene Lawrence and Lois Bates—is on the verge of another breaking out. Reports have it that Miss Bates, piqued by the successes of Miss Lawrence a fortnight ago in the annual D. C. A. A. U. outdoor meet, is rounding into her most notable shape at a girls' camp, while Miss Lawrence is putting the last few finishing touches on her own aquatic skill within the city.

The battle will be fought tomorrow night and the official name it will go under is the first annual D. C. A. A. U. outdoor high board diving championship. Glen Echo's Crystal Pool will be the scene of the splash and the management has instigated a full-sized meet as a fitting background and accompaniment to the only grudge fight local swimming has ever witnessed.

240-Yard Relay Race Added To Program.

Under the benign gaze of the local chapter of the Amateur Athletic Union, the "other events" will include the usual sprints at the usual distances and something of an innovation for local meets, a 240-yard relay race, whose popularity and population are both assured by the entrance of such teams as the Ambassador Hotel Swimming Club, the Hamilton Canoe Club, several out-of-town squads and at least one unaffiliated contestant.

The men diving stars find themselves almost eclipsed by the prefight talk in the women's division. That such an eventuality demands much prefight talk in order to cover it up can be seen from the fact that the men's division will house the best possible field obtained in the city: Joe Lyman, indoor high-board champion; Vincent Gomez, John Broaddus, Charles Dixson, James Hissey, Norman Smith and Albert Lyman.

The Misses Lawrence and Bates began trading titles two years ago and since then there has been a virtually impartial distribution of all the major local swimming awards between the two. Each girl has her host of supporters, but the concensus of opinion leans slightly in the direction of Miss Bates as the better outstanding all-around performer.

Miss Lawrence Holds Edge So Far.

Concensus or not, this season has seen Miss Lawrence gain an edge in crass figures. The A. A. U. indoor high board fell to her last March at the Shoreham, and she recently added the low board medal to the Lawrence bric-a-brac case. Miss Bates did not compete in this meet, and her champions shout that this fact, coupled with her decisive victory over Miss Lawrence in the Ambassador pool's low board championship last December, leave the victories of Miss Lawrence high and dry.

The Washington Swimming Club has little to worry about, for while the two girls are outgracing each other off the high board, the points will be rolling into the club's total box in mass production, practically assuring that club of another team trophy and putting it in line for a sentence under the Sherman anti-trust act.

RIDER SUSPENDED IN ATTEMPTED COUP

rider had been approached or threatened," Murphy said.

Bryant made his charges in Louisville today. He claims the money was forced upon him, but that he rode the horse to win.

It was common gossip at the race track that Ralph Capone, brother of Alphonse Capone, wagered a big sum on the race believing that At Sunrise would win and was greatly incensed when the coup went wrong. The story goes that a big sum was spent to pave the way for the horse that the racketeers were betting on and whether Bryant did not ride to instructions or whether it was not necessary to take care of him on the 7-to-1 shot was not known.

Bryant galloped home first with Givanna, which led all the way. The jockey was not at the race track yesterday and when Givanna was entered there was surprise because it was thought that Bryant would ride the filly in an attempt to make it three straight. Frankie Chiavetta rode Givanna yesterday. The filly went to the post a favorite and was practically left at the barrier.

Bryant, a jockey of no particular skill, came from California with the opening of the Hawthorne meeting. In the first two weeks of the racing Bryant had eight mounts and won two races, both of them on Givanna.

Louisville, Aug. 18 (A.P.).—Claiming gangsters chased him from Cicero, Ill., because he refused to "pull" his mount in a horse race after being paid $700 to do so, Jockey Dave Bryant, 20, was at the home of his brother here today.

Bryant said the gangsters paid him $700 to "pull" Givanna in a race for 2-year-olds last Tuesday at Hawthorne. On the eve of the race, he said, a youth came to his hotel room and told him some men wanted to see him downstairs. Bryant said the men shoved the money into his pocket, told him not to let Givanna, the favorite, win and left without saying anything else.

After winning with Givanna the next day, Bryant said, the men came back to the hotel, demanded the money, beat him and told him to leave town within twenty minutes. He complied with their demand and came to Louisville, where he has been since.

HADLEY HAMMERED IN BROWNS' VICTORY

a fly to Schulte after Cronin had doubled and Bluege and Kuhel had walked.

The Browns' run-making, confined to the third and fifth innings, came on good clean hits, seven of them in the two frames. Bengough opened the third with a single and after Levey had flied to Rice, Coffman sacrificed. Schulte then singled to score Bengough and, when Melillo also singled, Schulte stopped at second, but both moved up on a pass to Goslin, and Kress doubled down the left field foul-line to score Schulte and Melillo. The last St. Louis run, in the firth, was the result of singles by Schulte, Goslin and Kress.

BARRY FARMS GIRLS WIN MEET

Score 50 Points, With Howard Far Back for Second.

BARRY FARMS PLAYGROUND won the field and track championship for colored girls yesterday for the third consecutive year. The meet was held on the Cardoza track and about 600 girls took part. The winners scored 50 points, more than doubling the total of the second place Howard girls, who amassed 21. Consequently the big interest developed in the fight for second place which was carried on by Howard, Briggs and Cardoza. The latter two tied for third with 17 points each.

Early in the meet Cardoza was placing consistently and it looked as though the Barry Farms tracksters would have a real battle on its hands but finally training and experience asserted itself and the Southeast lassies stepped far to the front.

CIRCUS CITY RAZED BY UNSKILLED MEN AND LOADING BEGUN

DIFFICULTY IS SOLVED IN ENTRAINING ANIMALS

Elephant Handler Imported From Ohio; Employes Finally Assist.

After two weeks of protracted wage disputes, court litigation and futile efforts to return a circus to Oklahoma winter quarters, the stranded 101 Ranch Wild West Show started loading last night at the Benning siding.

One by one the tents that since August 3 have dotted the Union Terminal Market lot, fell yesterday before energetic, if unskilled, assaults of a crew of 40 men brought here from Baltimore. Unpaid employes, their ranks now dwindled to 374, stood by and watched.

Before nightfall all equipment had been loaded in circus vans. Elephants and other live stock were safe aboard stock cars at Benning freight station. Four vans had been moved from the circus lot and 21 remained to be moved when operations are resumed at 6 o'clock this morning. Overnight the Baltimore workers returned to the Monumental City.

There were narrow escapes yesterday when crashing tent poles came within inches of crushing workmen, but the entire job, supervised by W. M. "Egypt" Thompson, was accomplished without major casualty.

Even the steers, buffalo and bucking bronchos, whose movement through the streets presented a problem, were transferred to the stock cars with dispatch when regular stable hands, seeing the futility of further resistance, went over to the opposition at the last minute.

Elephant Trainer Adamant.

Jack St. Clair, regular elephant trainer, was immovable in his refusal to treat with the owners. Sidney Rink, veteran colored "bull man," who was 29 years with the Robinson circus, had to be brought here from Urbana, Ohio, to handle the five elephants with the show.

Rink picked out "Babe," the leader, who he had met on a previous circus assignment. He led "Babe" off the grounds and up a hill to a little grove of trees on the Patterson tract. The rest followed like lambs, even "Little Joe," who has a reputation for being bad. Here they were chained together and allowed to feast on hay until about 4 o'clock, when the new trainer successfully piloted them out Florida avenue and Benning road to the siding.

Fred Olmstead, personal representative of Zach Miller, owner of the show, was on the lot all day with Thompson, superintending dismantling of the tents. He had contracted with J. Norman Geipe, Baltimore transfer firm, for the job.

Task Takes All Day.

It took all day for the amateur crew to accomplish what the showmen could have done in an hour and a half, but the dismantling moved along with a certain precision, and loading of the eight flat cars, six stock cars and six coaches with the circus had begun by nightfall.

The American Legion committee, which has fed the showmen 8,400 free meals since they have been stranded here, went out to the Benning siding to distribute among the employes all that was left of funds raised for their relief by benefits and contributions. It amounted to $625, or $1.60 an employe.

Before leaving the show grounds, Fred Seymour, lot superintendent, made a statement to the press in behalf of employes, thanking the legion, press and the people of Washington" for the kindly treatment accorded them during their stay here.

Transfer of steers, buffalo and horses through traffic laden streets to Benning was a colorful incident in the departure that was not unfraught with dangers. Here and there a longhorn would break from the herd and wander at will among the maze of automobiles until a cowboy, lasso in hand, returned it to the fold. Once a buffalo caused a slight panic among pedestrians when it ran upon the sidewalk to pass a parked automobile. One group of four bronchos, although held in leash by a stable hand, became unruly and were a half hour late in arrival at the siding.

Elephants Little Trouble.

Petition of owners of the show for an enlargement of the court injunction restraining employes from interference, will not be heard until 1:30 o'clock today. By that time the show probably will be out of Washington anyway District Supreme Court Justice F. Dickinson Letts continued the case until today on petition of Harry S. Barger, attorney for the ranch trustee.

Mr. Barger told the court the circus was moving; that so far no overt acts had been committed. He said he believed the show would be gotten out of town by nightfall, and therefore an enlargement of the injunction was not necessary.

Virtually all of the showmen were planning to ride the train west, although not all are Oklahoma bound. They are counting on the $1.60 to buy them food en route, in case the show management does not feed them.

Several Pathetic Scenes.

The last day at the circus grounds was not without elements of pathos. There was a pathetic scene in the paddock, where a prized horse, stricken with the colic, lay suffering among his fellows. Humane Society officials ordered him dispatched, to spare further misery. He was taken from the tent and shot.

There was something of pathos, too, in the situation of the employes, who hoped up to the last to receive their back pay through some stroke of Providence.

C. D. Allen, past commander of American Legion Post 23, of Capitol Heights, said he had personally taken the responsibility for returning a number of the Indian community to their homes in New York. He said they would put on an exhibition in front of the courthouse this afternoon, when a collection will be taken up.

While the body of George M. Fusco, 26, lay at the District Morgue awaiting the arrival of relatives from Brooklyn, N. Y., his widow, Mrs. Ethel Fusco, 33, steadily showed progress toward recovery from wounds inflicted by Fusco Monday night in the Cavalier Hotel, where she was stopping after a separation of several weeks.

Fusco swallowed poison from a bottle after the assault on his wife and died shortly after. Deputy Coroner Joseph Rogers issued a certificate of suicide in his death early Tuesday morning after hearing the circumstances of the case.

The pair had lived at 1101 Euclid street northwest prior to their estrangement. Mrs. Fusco had moved subsequently to the Fourteenth street hostelry, where she had been living with her sister, Mrs. John Mothershead, when the tragedy occurred. Fusco appeared unexpectedly Monday night and shot at Mrs. Fusco, wounding her in the neck and wrist.

After firing at Mrs. Fusco, the husband is believed to have immediately taken the poison and then ran into the corridor, where a guest of the hotel attempted to dissuade him from drinking more of it. Later Fusco was found on another floor dead.

Man Who Took Poison Declared Recovering

Carl Wolcott, 35, a patient at the Naval Hospital, was treated for the effects of poison which he took yesterday in the apartment of a friend, according to police. It was asserted his condition was serious, and after receiving treatment at Emergency Hospital he was transferred to the service infirmary.

Third Precinct police said that Wolcott took the dose while visiting William Pidgeon in the latter's apartment, at 2120 G street northwest. Pidgeon, who is head orderly at Emergency Hospital, notified the fire engine company across the street, and Wolcott was rushed to the hospital.

Policeman Ousted On Liquor Charge

Reckless-Driving Count Is Also Laid to Dismissed Man.

Charged with transporting liquor and reckless driving which resulted in an accident, Private E. A. Mumper, of the Fourth Precinct, was dismissed from the Police Department yesterday upon recommendation of the Police Trial Board.

Mumper was arrested in Maryland on July 10 and charged with possession of two 5-gallon cans of liquor, one only partially filled, and was given a hearing before the United States Commissioner at Baltimore. The policeman said that he was transporting the whisky from Ellicott City to his home for Christmas.

A witness charged that the liquor was being transferred from one car to another and that the policeman's auto was wrecked when the vehicles attempted to speed away quickly.

Wind Levels Trees, Rain Stalls Autos

Trees were blown down, scores of autos stalled and damaged, a house struck by lightning and miscellaneous other damage was caused by a wind, rain and electrical storm which struck Washington and environs shortly before 10 o'clock last night.

The storm was unofficial and without benefit of statistics by the Weather Bureau which failed to mention it in the daily up-to-10 p. m. report.

One stately tree toppled across the drive at Hains Point, making the spot a red-lanterned detour for the night. Another tree was blown down in front of the morgue while still another fell across the steps of a house at 16 Fourth street southeast.

The driving rain halted scores of cars in Potomac Park alone by putting the ignition temporarily out of commission. During the height of the storm, 39 stalled machines were counted on the highway between Washington and Alexandria.

Three Alexandria fire companies were called out when a bolt struck the home of Nelson T. Snyder in Belle Haven, Va. There was no damage.

The wind carried 19-year-old Arthur Sixsmith's launch, the Paret, across the channel and grounded it at the Naval Air Station. Neither he nor his three companions were injured.

Probate Consent Is Filed by Shima

Step Aims at Establishing Validity of Last Will by Mrs. Henderson.

The process of establishing one of the wills of the late Mrs. Mary F. Henderson, who, as the widow of Senator John B. Henderson, dominated an estate valued at one time at more than $10,000,000, moved forward yesterday when Jesse S. Shima, Japanese secretary to Mrs. Henderson and who is named as one of the beneficiaries of the last will, filed a formal consent to the probate of the will. The step was merely technical.

Shima received $100,000 in cash and a trust fund of $100,000 under the provisions of the last will. He previously deeded back to the estate a palatial residence that Mrs. Henderson had given him some time ago.

At the same time Edgar C. Snyder, United States marshal, reported that two of the persons named in the last will, Mrs. Beatrice Henderson Wholean and the superintendent of the National Gallery of Art, could not be found by his deputies. Service will be had on them through advertisements. The marshal showed service upon Henry H. Arnold and Frances Arnold, of New York City; Henry A. Seay, C. K. Hosegawa, and William Carter.

The advertisement notifying claimants to appear and show cause why the last will should not be admitted to probate runs for three weeks.

Unconcealed Liquor Charged.

Arrested by Federal dry agents who said he was carrying a half-gallon of alleged whisky under his arm without any attempt at concealment, Wesley Crowdy, of Marlboro, Md., was held in bond of $500 for possession of liquor yesterday. Crowdy was arrested in Forestville, Md., and taken before U. S. Commissioner J. Frank Parran.

BUILDERS ORDERED TO PAY PAINTERS $11

Contractors on New Revenue Bureau Threatened With Cancellation.

Under threat of terminating a contract, the Treasury Department yesterday notified the Alliance Construction Company of New York that it must pay workmen painting the new Internal Revenue Bureau Building $11 a day.

The action was taken by the Treasury Department after Secretary of Labor Doak ruled that, under the law, Government contractors must pay the prevailing wage scale in each community. The company has been paying union and nonunion men here approximately $8 a day.

Labor Department records show that the prevailing wage scale in the District has been $11 a day for the past 10 years. Only contracts let since April 3, when the Bacon-Davis law, which requires the payment of the prevailing wage scale by Government contractors went into effect, are involved in Secretary Doak's ruling.

The construction company announced Saturday that it would take the case to court rather than grant the increase. Labor Department officials would not comment on this phase of the case.

Spirit of '31 Grips Albert, 3, As He Travels on Tricycle

Adventurous Albert Smith, 3 years old, caused police, his mother and the woman who had been entrusted with his safekeeping a great deal of worry yesterday when he vanished mysteriously from 3453 Fourteenth street northwest. He was found two hours later at Thirteenth and Buchanan streets, still going strong on his tricycle after more than a mile of pedaling.

Mrs. Frank R. Smith, the child's mother, had left him with Mrs. R. E. Davis at the Fourteenth street address while she went downtown to shop. Albert and his 8-year-old sister, Jean, were playing in front of the house when Jean left him for a moment. When she returned her brother was gone.

About an hour after the boy's disappearance was reported to Tenth Precinct police he was found by Russell Kackley. After a brief session at the Receiving Home, Albert was turned over to his mother.

DETECTIVES TO GET POLICE CENSURE ON DIFFERING STORIES

Carelessness in Preparing Evidence in Gaming Raids Will Be Charged.

FAILURE TO AGREE HELD REASON FOR ACQUITTALS

Forays of "Four Horsemen" Caused Consternation Among Gamblers.

Reprimands for "carelessness in the preparation of cases for presentation in court" will be given today to the four detective sergeants who threw consternation into gamblers during a series of forays during the month of June.

The reprimands are the result of a request by District Attorney Leo A. Rover that the police department investigate the disparity in testimony offered by the four detectives against defendants in two gambling trials which caused acquittals of four men caught in the raids.

Inspector Frank S. W. Burke, chief of detectives, who will administer the official rebuke, said that his inquiry showed that the difference in the detectives' testimony was "more apparent than real." The differences, he said, were the result of cross-examination by defense attorneys, and they differed only on minor points. He found no evidence of deliberate contradictions on major points.

Ogle to be Commended.

Those who will receive the reprimands are: Detective Sergts. Howard E. Ogle, Larry O'Dea, O. W. Mansfield and Arthur Fihelly. At the same time Sergt. Ogle is reprimanded he will be commended for his exceptionally good work in aiding the solution of the murder of Mannie Solomon, taxicab driver, who was killed while resisting a holdup in the Southwest section on July 29. Three men are charged with the murder.

Detective Sergt. Robert Barrett, youthful member of the homicide squad, who established the identity of the murderers of Solomon, will be commended for his work in the case. Detective Michael Mahaney, of the Second Precinct, will also be singled out for praise of his work in the case. Others to be commended in the solution of the Solomon killing are Capt. Edward J. Kelly, Detective Sergts. John A. Flaherty, Joseph Waldron, Thomas Sweeney and George Darnell.

Though the four detectives who conducted the raids on the gamblers were officially reprimanded, there was a feeling among high police officials that their work did much to repress the activities of gamblers, even though they failed to obtain convictions in the two cases tried.

Gamblers Reopen Doors.

Since their raids, however, the gambling fraternity has again reopened their doors and last week were reported "doing business as usual," even though Capt. William Holmes ordered his men to concentrate on driving them from the city.

Absence from the city of three detectives yesterday brought about the fifth continuance in the trials of five men arrested in raids several months ago.

Three of the four detectives were not available and the Government, through Frank Adams, assistant United States attorney, asked that the cases be continued. Judge Schuldt consented and the cases were docketed for later trial.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

CONSIDER THE YACHT CLUB.

A YACHT CLUB is a small body of boat owners entirely surrounded by landlubbers, who sit in green rocking chairs wondering what it is all about and urging that the steward be fired and replaced by one who will sell gin on the quiet.

* * * *

Half of 1 per cent of the members of the modern Indoor Yacht Club own boats. These members chain their boats in front of the clubhouse and spend the entire summer going back and forth between their yachts and the club by rowboat or power dinghy. They seem never to tire of doing this. at the end of each season a pewter cup is given the yachtsman who has made the greatest number of nonstop trips between the float and his craft.

* * * *

Once in a great while some yachtsman, after rowing to his yacht, unhitches the thing, hoists sail, cranks the engine and starts away. Members of the Rocking Chair Fleet, startled by the spectacle of a yacht really under way, report the incident to the board of governors. Whereupon the other yacht owners hop into their white pants, grab their binoculars, dash to their own yachts and start in pursuit, determined to find out where the missing yachtsman is going. This is called a cruise.

* * * *

A yacht club is one of the few institutions of modern civilization opened and closed by gunfire. Every yacht club has as one of its indispensable possessions a small brass cannon. This is fired twice a day and serves, among other things, to let the world know that the club is still solvent. One shot is fired at 8 o'clock every morning. This notifies the seven or eight men aboard boats that another day has rolled around.

For visiting yachtsmen it is the first call for bromo seltzer and aromatic spirits.

The second shot is fired at sunset. This notifies the entire membership that each member is a day older, and that all drinking from that hour on comes under the head of regular evening business.

* * * *

THE cannon is fired by a club employe who makes it his daily ambition to fire said cannon underneath that section of the clubhouse veranda where nervous wives of active members happen to be enjoying the scenery and doing their knitting. He first makes certain the ladies are totally unprepared. Then he sealthily loads the cannon and pulls the string. The girls pop out of their chairs into the ocean. The artilleryman then pulls them out, hangs them back on the porch to dry and puts in a claim for another medal and two bits more a week.

HOW TO BE A COMMODORE.

The active head of a yacht club is called a commodore. A commodore is a cross betwen a humidor and a matador. He has to be kept damp like a humidor and bull-throwing like a matador.

* * * *

* * * *

In most clubs a commodore's boat must draw at least 7 feet of water and the commodore must draw at least 6 feet of gin.

* * * *

Yachtsmen also use flags or pennants for communication purposes. No yacht is complete without a chest of flags. Nobody knows exactly what any combination of flags means, but the skipper who hangs them up is sure to get an answer. The code runs something like this:

Blue flag with red circle hung above white flag with green star: "I am coming aboard."

Six purple flags under three white flags: "The owners is in no condition to know whether he is aboard or ashore."

* * * *

THE OTHER SIDE OF THE QUESTION.

A STRONG movement is afoot to get Congress to legalize the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer on the ground it would give work to millions. But what about the millions of bootleggers, speakeasy employes, lookouts, bouncers, check-raisers and amateur chemists who would be thrown out of employment at once?

* * * *

And how about the countless patrons who would suddenly find themselves thrown out of speakeasies onto the cold city streets and forced to learn how to drink openly and above board all over again.

* * * *

The porter at a Westchester golf club was given a severe call-down the other day for rendering what he had always believed to be a real service. It has long been his practice to pick up the shoes of members after a round of golf and shine 'em up. One afternoon a member let out a yell for "George" and then said in angry tones: "You leave my shoes alone. Don't you ever clean 'em up again, understand!"

The porter was pretty flabbergasted. "I'll tell you why I spoke to him like that," said the member to a friend later. "Every time I get home with my golf shoes all polished up I have a hard time convincing my wife that I've played any golf."

BRUSHING UP ON PYTHONS

Underwood & Underwood.

CLUB GROUP HEARS AMERICANISM TALK

"Pure Americanism" was the topic of a lecture given last night before the Harmony Chapter of the National Order of Protestant Clubs by Dr. William McDougall, Presbyterian minister and Masonic lecturer, at the Odd Fellows Hall, 822 20th street northwest.

Dr. McDougall, known to many radio listeners as the pastor of the Church of the Air, gave his definition of Americanism, setting forth the several agencies that are at present at work to undermine the foundations of government. He paid tribute to the early patriots of the country and lauded their achievements, saying that it is now time that the average American took it upon himself to do something to perpetuate the work which they began.

One of the greatest weaknesses of the American people today, Dr. McDougall said, was their ever-apparent willingness to criticize present day institutions and practices without doing anything to remedy conditions and thus by their destructive action furnishing material and encouragement for the furtherance of communistic and other similar thought.

Maj. Alexander M. Litowsky, who served in the secret service of the imperial Russian army as well as the Secret Service of the United States, gave a short talk on his experiences in Russia and with the American Army in Texas.

The National Order of Protestant Clubs was incorporated in the District of Columbia May 1, 1931. It is a mutually owned organization and none of its officers are permitted financial gain. At the present time it has 2,400 active members here.

2 Young Women Hurt As Car Skids in Rain

Two young women suffered minor cuts and bruises and two other persons escaped injury shortly before midnight when their touring car skidded on the wet pavement near the Sherrill Drive entrance to Rock Creek Park and crashed into a tree. Donald Thomas, 21, 717 Massachusetts avenue northeast, was at the wheel, according to police.

Virginia Sinclair and Frances Voss were treated at Walter Reed Hospital. Neither young Thomas nor Miss Voss' sister, Frances, were hurt. Miss Sinclair lives at 242½ Twelfth street southeast. The sisters gave 609 D street southeast as their addresses.

School Builders Resist Wage Cut

Rose Company Averts Suspension by Assuring Workmen.

Employes of the W. P. Rose Construction Co., of Goldsboro, N. C., threatened a suspension of work yesterday on the Woodridge School, Central and Carlton avenues northeast, when a wage cut was suggested.

Work was resumed only after assurance had been given that there would be no reduction. An inspector of the municipal architect's office heard of the threatened suspension of work and reported it. District officials were ready to intervene under a clause in the contract which specifies that the prevailing wage scale in the District be paid by Government contractors.

In the last three years the Rose Construction Co. has been awarded contracts for $3,500,000 of District work, according to figures received yesterday by the Buy-in-Washington Council.

DAVE EVANS WAIVES THEFT EXAMINATION

Dave Evans, former secretary-treasurer of the International Union of Operating Engineers, waived examination in Chicago yesterday on charges of embezzling $2,356.65 of the union's funds, according to Associated Press dispatches.

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker held him under $10,000 bond for removal to this city. Last Tuesday Evans was indicted here on charges of mishandling funds of the union approximating $30,000. The indictment was in 11 counts.

Evans was arrested last week by Department of Justice agents at the request of Washington police. Yesterday he declared the charges unfounded, the result of internal strife in the organization.

The affairs of the union have been in the public eye since two officers of the organization were shot in a K street restaurant.

Thomas Connors, 51, alleged to have fired the shots, was arrested August 8 in Chicago. Earlier an official was horsewhipped by the wife of one of the members.

Lantern Festival Singers Rehearse

More Than 75 Persons Aid in Preparations for Friday Program.

More than 75 Washingtonians are rehearsing for the musical part of the Festival of Lanterns which is to be given Friday night at the Sylvan Theater in the Monument Grounds, Mrs. Edith Hunter, who has general charge of the musical program, announced yesterday.

Mrs. Gertrude Lyons will lead singers from several local groups, as well as the audience in community singing to open the program. The band of the Thirteenth Engineers from Fort Humphreys, Va., directed by Louis Seitz, will present a short program.

Three soloists are to be presented in the Americanization School Association's part of the program which is under the supervision of S. H. Hannessian, vice president, with Vladimir Vasa, director of the association's orchestra and chorus. The soloists will be Mme. Clara Schinskaya, soprano, who is to sing "Cradle Song," by Gretchaninoff, and a Ukrainian folk song; Kurt Ritter, basso, who is to sing a German folk song, "In the Cellar;" and Giuseppe Bruno, barytone, who is scheduled to sing an aria from "Rigoletto."

Man and Wife Arrested On Possession Charges

Dominic Anastasi, 33, and his wife, Mary Anastasi, 35, were locked up at the Fourth Precinct on charges of illegal possession last night after the headquarters vice squad seized 240 bottles of alleged beer and a half gallon of alleged liquor, in a raid on their home, 1324 Four-and-a-half street southwest.

Sergt. Nelson Holmes led the raid.

Commissioners Order Holmes' Retirement

The retirement of Lieut. James C. Holmes, of the Tenth Precinct, was ordered yesterday by the District Commissioners to take effect on August 31 under the age-limit rule recently adopted.

Lieut. Holmes, who attains the age of 64 on this date, has served in the Police Department continuously for 38 years. He will receive a pension of $127.08 a month.

Perjury Charged to Man, 35, In Wedding Girl, 19, Who Dies

A hearing before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage will be held this morning on a warrant charging that Henry Kirby, 35 years old, of Kenilworth, Md., perjured himself when he used assumed names to obtain a marriage license to wed a 19-year-old girl, also of Kenilworth, who died last Thursday at the Florence Crittenton Home.

A brother of the dead girl declared it was Kirby, said to be already married and the father of several children, who obtained a marriage license issued last July to the names of Miss Mary Adams, 19 years old, of Newport News, Va., and Frank Ballard, 35 years old, of Washington.

At the Crittenton Home it was said the girl was brought there on July 27 and introduced as "Mary Adams" by a man who said he was "Frank Ballard." The marriage was performed on July 29 by the Rev. J. H. Miers, of the Fourth Presbyterian Church. The young woman died at the institution Thursday following a brief illness.

Working in cooperation with the Woman's Bureau, officials at the home located Kirby working for a local meat concern. He was identified yesterday by Miss Gladys Phipps, acting superintendent of the home, as the man who married the girl under the name of Ballard.

Kirby's bond was fixed at $2,000. He was unable to furnish this and was taken to the District Jail to await the hearing today.

ARCHITECT CHARGES DISTRICT DISCARDED PLANS ONCE BOUGHT

GOTWALS SAYS DESIGNS WERE NOT GIVEN TO HIM

Taxpayers Paying Twice for Work, Is Claim; Art Body Approved Originals.

In a letter addressed to the Commissioners of the District, George Oakley Totten, jr., of 808 Seventeenth street northwest, architect, has complained of the commissioning of a firm of architects to draw plans for a new bridge over Rock Creek at Calvert street, since a complete set of drawings he prepared in 1917 were bought, paid for and approved by the Fine Arts Commission.

Making it clear that he has no financial claim upon the Government, as he was paid in full for his services, Mr. Totten stated that in addition to hoping to see his plan become a reality, he feels that as a taxpayer the appointment of a new concern to do work which already has been approved is a needless waste of public funds.

The oversight seems to have occurred through changes in administrations, as the commissioners who held office when Mr. Totten's plans were approved are no longer in charge. The plans were approved under Col. Charles W. Kutz, Engineer Commissioner at the time. Detailed drawings were prepared after the Fine Arts Commission had stamped its approval on the project.

At that time, however, the war interrupted any building activity and the entire matter was apparently shelved. Not long ago the subject was opened again, when it was planned to erect a new bridge to replace the old Calvert street crossing. Evidently the original plans were long forgotten, for new talent was called in and the project started from the beginning.

When advised of the position taken by Mr. Totten, Maj. John C. Gotwals, present Engineer Commissioner, stated that he knew nothing about plans being prepared previously, as they had not been turned over to him when he took office.

Airplane Forced Down By Trouble With Engine

Residents in the vicinity of Hunting Creek, on the Mount Vernon Boulevard near Alexandria, Va., were startled yesterday afternoon when an airplane made a forced landing on the fill for the new Memorial highway. Engine trouble, which apparently caused the landing, was quickly remedied, and the plane again took to the air.

Bystanders declared the plane was a Navy machine from the Naval Air Station at Anacostia. Officials at the station, however, denied last night that a Navy plane had been forced down during the day. The records, they said, showed that all flights had been successful.
